Probe Of Commodity Slump Ordered

Brannan Calls For Facts In Grain Trading

Administration Moves To Bolster Farming Prices

By MORGAN REYNOLDS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—The administration moved today to bolster up farm prices, ordering an investigation of the commodity market slump which it attributed in part to "speculative influences."

Shortly after the grain markets closed, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan issued a call for "full information" on trading in wheat, corn and soybean futures contracts on the Chicago Board of Trade since Monday.

Prior to his order grains had staged a comeback from an early break in today's trading which plummeted all contracts to a new low since the current decline started.

Tells Agriculture Committee

Brannan's announcement came as he was telling the Senate Agriculture Committee that he sees nothing in the "basic economic situation" to warrant the commodity price break.

He assured the committee his department is going ahead with "our regular plans" to assist farmers in producing "the large amounts of food needed here and abroad, and to assure them fair returns."

The government's move to stabilize the commodity market was one of a number of developments on the economic front. Another was a strong Democratic move in Congress to postpone action on the administration's tax boost plans pending further clarification of the general price problem.

In the face of official reassurances that prosperity prospects are good, Chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Finance Committee told reporters:

"Anybody who can tell what the future holds economically has more faith in what they can see in the crystal ball than I have."

George, the Senate's No. 1 tax man, said for that reason he thinks Congress should wait until next January before acting on President Truman's request for $4,000,000,000 more in taxes. Under the Truman plan most of the increases would be levied on corporations and people in the middle and upper income groups.

May Get Opposite

"If we went ahead now, we might get a tax bill that would produce just exactly the opposite effect from what we may need in the coming months," George said.

Senator Byrd (D-Va.), a long time foe of big federal spending, said he thinks only two of the 13 committee members would vote for the tax boost at this time.

A similar go-slow attitude was shown in the House Ways and Means Committee where all tax bills must originate.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) told a reporter that Congress should devote its attention to cutting fed-

U. S. May Get Radar "Fence"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Plans to build a radar "picket fence" around the United States—to sound the alarm in case of a surprise attack—will be given a hearing on Capitol Hill tomorrow.

The project was outlined in an administration-backed bill sponsored by Rep. Durham (D-NC).

Hearings on the proposed legislation will start before the House Armed Services Committee.

Military officials estimated that the screen would cost about $161,000,000, including radar equipment. Approximately $86,000,000 would be set aside for acquisition of land and construction.

Durham told newsmen the legislation would authorize a system of invasion warnings on land, at strategic points around the continental United States, co-ordinated with existing off-shore radar equipment.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Committee said the bill has the endorsement of the armed services and has been cleared by the Budget Bureau.

Coincidentally, a dash of mystery was injected into the U. S. defense picture by the nation's housing expediter, Tighe Woods.

Testifying before the House Banking Committee, Woods mentioned almost casually that quickening of defense activities are in the offing.

Woods said President Truman wants the power to bring new areas under rent control and that the President's request is "predicated on anticipation of new defense efforts."

"Our object is to prevent exhorbitant rises in rents because of new defense activity," he said.

Frank Sinatra Reveals Plan To Join CBS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 9 (AP)—Frank Sinatra plans to pack up his swoon-provoking tonsils and follow Jack Benny and Amos N' Andy from the National Broadcasting Company to the Columbia Broadcasting System, his press agent announced today.

The slender singer has conferred with William Paley, CBS President, and will fly to New York Friday to resume negotiations, said his spokesman, Perry Charles.

Sinatra and his sponsor, the American Tobacco Company, have come to an "amicable parting of the ways," Charles said, and the switch will take place next fall. He added that Sinatra's new sponsor will be announced soon.

Russia Backs Yugo Demands, Forgets Rift

Renews Austrian Territory Claim

LONDON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Russia brushed aside her Cominform "family fight" with Premier Marshal Tito today and backed up Yugoslav demands for a slice of Austrian territory.

The Soviet Union renewed its long-standing support of Yugoslav claims at the opening of new big four talks by Foreign Ministers' deputies who have tried since 1946 to solve east-west disputes on an Austrian independence treaty.

Main Stumbling Block

The Yugoslav demand for 800 square miles of Southern Austria and $150,000,000 in reparations was the main stumbling block when talks broke down last spring.

Austrian leaders asked for the new treaty meeting in the hopes that Russia would backtrack on her support of Yugoslav claims because of the split between Marshal Tito and other eastern European nations in the Russian-led Cominform—the International Communist Information Bureau.

But American sources reported Russian Ambassador Georgi Zarubin again indorsed Yugoslav territorial claims at the opening session, putting the talks back to last spring's breakdown point.

One official observer said, however, it is "too early" to determine whether Russia will relax her stand in daily meetings of the deputies.

The Big Four talks were seen by western diplomats as the first decisive test of Russia's new "peace offensive." American, British and French deputies were awaiting any signs that the Soviet Union would back up her talk of wanting east-west agreement by giving in on the Yugoslav claim.

No More Concessions

Spokesmen for both Britain and the United States have indicated they plan no further concessions on top of the many already made. An American source commented "we can't give way on the frontier question."

U. S. Deputy Sam Reber was supported by British and French Delegates in rejecting the Yugoslav claim, an American source said.

Zarubin asked that Yugoslav officials be invited to the conference to renew their territorial demands. This was refused by all three western deputies. The American source said that no hard decision was made, and discussion will proceed on other disputed points of the proposed treaty.

T-H Act's Fast Repeal Stopped By Hearings

Deadline Set Up To February 23

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—President Truman's bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act ran into a slowdown today when the Senate Labor Committee extended its hearings until Feb. 23.

This is 13 days beyond the deadline set for tomorrow night. It is a nine-day extension, in terms of actual hearing days.

The committee made ils decision at an uproaring three-hour session in which the word "insult" flew around. The final vote was unanimous but that didn't mean everybody was happy.

It was a defeat for the Democrats on the committee, though they have an 8-5 majority. It was they who forced through the Feb. 10 deadline. They didn't want to extend it.

They had to swallow the pill because the Republicans questioned the witnesses so thoroughly that about 30 more witnesses remained on the list with the deadline almost here.

The Democrats on the committee want speed and more speed for the Truman administration's bill. So do labor unions. The bill would repeal the Taft-Hartley Act and revive the original Wagner Act with certain additions.

The extension apparently means a delay in getting the bill to the Senate for debate.

What its long-range effect will be is hard to estimate.

Victims Abandoned

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Feb. 9 (AP)—Hope for survival of any of the 28 persons aboard a Scandinavian airliner which crashed into Swedish coastal waters was abandoned today.

Philip C. Jessup Picked To Be Ambassador-At-Large

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson have chosen Philip C. Jessup to represent the United States at future major international conferences, it was learned tonight.

Jessup, who would be given the rank of ambassador-at-large, has been this country's representative on the United Nations Security Council. He has also held the position of professor of international law at Columbia University. He is 52.

Mr. Truman is expected to send his nomination to the Senate within the next few days.

Jessup resigned recently from his Security Council post to return to Columbia University.

Acheson, who wants to reduce the amount of time which the Secretary of State has to spend in negotiations abroad, was reported to have persuaded him to remain in government service to undertake the new task.

Two other shifts in the American delegation to the United Nations were also reported to be in prospect.

Diplomatic informants said John C. Ross, who is deputy to the chief American delegate to the U.N., Ambassador Warren Austin, is understood to have been chosen to succeed Jessup at least temporarily on the Security Council.

Informants also said Charles Noyes, an adviser on Security Council affairs, has been chosen to serve on the interim committee of the general assembly, the so-called "little assembly."

The position reportedly created for Jessup is a new one, which would not encroach on the functions of Acheson or Austin. Rather, it is designed to take from Acheson's shoulders some of the work which in the past has required secretaries of state to spend much time abroad.

Old Tariff Act Is Approved In Demo Victory

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP) — The administration won a smashing victory today as the House voted 319 to 69 to repeal the 1948 Republican Tariff Act and to reinstate the original Reciprocal Trade Law until June 12, 1951.

President Truman in requesting the action said the GOP act hobbled trade pact negotiations. He said its repeal is needed to promote commerce and aid world peace.

On final passage 238 Democrats were joined by 80 Republicans and the one American Labor Party member. Opposing were 63 Republicans and six Democrats.

The legislation now goes to the Senate.

Democrats beat back 241 to 151 a Republican attempt to save at least a part of the 1948 measure.

Brings Showdown Vote

The showdown vote came after Rep. Doughton (D-NC), 85-year-old chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, called upon the House to "unshackle" the trade program and prove to the world that "the United States has definitely and permanently turned away from economic and political isolationism."

The old Reciprocal Trade Law, which will be restored if the Senate follows the House action, gives the President the power to cut American tariffs 50 per cent below January 1, 1945 levels in trade pacts with nations that agree to reduce their trade barriers.

The Republicans, when they were in power last year, revised this law: (A) to set up independent studies by the Tariff Commission and (B) require the President to explain to Congress if he cut any import duty against the commission's advice that such a cut would damage an American industry.

Extended Trade Law

The G O P-controlled Congress then extended the trade law only one year, to June 30, 1949, against Mr. Truman's request for a three-year continuation, without amendments.

Democrats today defeated a Republican amendment to:

Retain that part of the GOP Tariff Act requiring the Federal Tariff Commission to set "peril points" below which tariffs could not be cut without hurting American industries. The Republicans did not insist upon keeping the part of their act requiring the President to make an explanation to Congress if a duty was cut below such a "peril point."

Jury Acquits Boy Of Murder

CHICAGO, Feb. 10 (AP)—Rafael (Rocky) Villasenor, 15, was acquitted today of a charge of murdering William Gervais, his 13-year-old playmate.

The jury of six men and six women returned the verdict of acquittal at the direction of Judge Alan L. Ashcraft of Criminal Court.

Judge Ashcraft said Villasenor's statement of the killing was not admissible as evidence because of alleged promises to the youth in exchange for a confession.

Villasenor was accused of killing Gervais last November 4 in Fuller Park on the Southwest Side. Police who arrested the youth said he signed a statement that he stranged his playmate with a belt.

Villasenor still must face a charge of delinquency in juvenile court. He was taken to the juvenile home for disposition of these charges. If convicted of this charge he can be sentenced to the state training school for boys at St. Charles until he is 21 years old.

Red Cross Flies Supplies To Blizzard-Bound Trains

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (INS)—The American Red Cross announced today that is is rushing emergency supplies by air to an estimated 2,000 passangers aboard 17 stalled trains in blizzard-stricken Wyoming.

The Red Cross said that the Army would co-operate in flying 3,000 units of "C" rations, 300 cots and 1,000 blankets immediately to the train passengers.

The Red Cross and the Army termed the blizzard situation in southern Wyoming "critical."

Don Stout, Red Cross representative in Omaha, Neb., reported by telephone this afternoon that the Army and the Red Cross were preparing to fly in the supplies immediately.

The section of the state principally affected was in the Rawlins-Green River-Douglas area, Stout reported.

The weather bureau in Washington said the winds in the area would increase to about 59 miles an hour tomorrow, increasing the danger from ground blizzards.

The Red Cross has three national disaster specialists now working in Southern Wyoming and plans to send in three more tonight or tomorrow to aid volunteers on the scene.

Stout said the Army is sending three light reconnaissance planes, based at Rapid City, S. D., over southern Wyoming to spot places needing emergency aid. The Army was alerting reserve planes at Lowry Field, Denver, for dropping supplies.

Denmark, Sweden Envoys Outline Defense Views To Secretary Of State

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Ambassadors of Denmark and Sweden outlined to Secretary of State Acheson late today their government's views on Scandinavian defense in connection with the projected North Atlantic Alliance.

The envoys called at the State Department only a few hours after Acheson served notice the United States will go ahead with the North Atlantic defense agreement despite strong Russian criticism.

He rejected Soviet charges that the pact represents an "aggressive policy."

Diplomatic officials said the Danish Ambassador, Henrik De Kauffman, made preliminary inquiries about terms on which Denmark could join the Western Alliance. They indicated De Kauffman and his embassy aides planned a more intensive study at meetings later this week.

Outlines Situation

The Swedish Ambassador, Eric Boheman, was reported to have outlined the situation which recently led Sweden to invite Norway and Denmark to join in a Scandinavian Neutrality pact. Officials said Boheman acted under instructions from his government and no further meetings are contemplated with American authorities now.

The U. S. has made plain its opposition to separate defense groupings such as the Scandinavian neutrality proposal. In the American view such agreements would be unrealistic and useless in resisting aggression.

Immediately after the Swedish-sponsored neutrality talks wound up inconclusively last week, Norwegian officials came to Washington to discuss terms whereby Norway could join the North Atlantic Alliance.

It was this Norwegian move that stirred sharp Russian criticism against the Alliance.

Rejects Moscow Charges

Acheson emphatically rejected at a news conference Moscow's charge that the alliance "serves the aggressive policy of certain powers."

The Secretary said the purpose of the pact now being negotiated is the exact opposite—to help the United Nations maintain world peace. He said Article 51 of the U. N. Charter provides specifically for such regional defense arrangements.

Russia bitterly condemned the projected pact in a note to Norway last weekend. This obviously was intended as a warning to Norway against joining the security agreement being worked out by the U. S., Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Jacob Malik, Soviet representative to the U. N., followed this up yesterday with a vehement attack on the pact before the Security Council in New York.

Answering questions, Acheson said he hopes to make public shortly a complete summary of the main points of the plan. But, he emphasized, it is important to build the alliance soundly and to make certain each member country understands every word.

The Norwegian Ambassador, Wilhelm De Morgenstierne, conferred with top State Department officials on terms by which Norway could join. The Norwegian Foreign Minister, Halvard M. Lange, lunched at the Capitol to talk over defense problems confronting his government.

"Axis Sally" Was "Strongly Influenced"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (INS)—A former Nazi radio official testified today that Mildred E. Gillars, alleged "Axis Sally" on trial for treason, was strongly under the influence of Prof. Hans Otto Koischwitz during the war.

Koischwitz, who died in 1944, was the former Hunter College professor who the defense claims brought Miss Gillars under his hypnotic spell and guided her anti-American broadcasts for the Germans.

The witness, Hans Von Richter, also identified Miss Gillars as the "Sally" who broadcast from Berlin 1944:

"I'd rather die for Germany than live 100 years on milk and honey in the Jewish America of today."

Equal Delegate Bill Is Killed In Md. Committee

Ober Report To Be Aired Today

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 9 (AP) — Another attempt at "equitable representation" in the Maryland House of Delegates met the fate of its predecessors today—an early death.

The Senate Judiciary Committee heard only two witnesses talk about a bill to reapportion seats in the House before voting decisively to drop it for the session.

Observers saw little likelihood of a reversal when the committee's unfavorable report comes out.

In a voice vote, only Senator Turnbull (D-Baltimore County) called in favor of the proposal to allow each county two seats and allot the remainder according to population, up to a House capacity of 125 members.

Shortly afterward, Committee Chairman Della (D-Balto Sixth) introduced a bill to freeze House membership at its present level.

Chairmen of the Senate and House Judiciary groups made special police arrangement for tomorrow's hearing on highly charged bills to stifle communist activity in Maryland.

Speculation on how many people will throng to the State House for an airing of the Ober Commission Bills ranged from 700 to 2,000. Regular afternoon sessions were set back an hour, to 3 p. m., to allow more time for testimony.

The House passed six bills, the Senate none. One measure, designed to coincide the term of the Motor Vehicles' Commissioner with that of the Governor, was supposed to get a decision in the House, but was withdrawn temporarily for an amendment to make it effective this May.

Senator Storm (D-Frederick) proposed legalizing the income tax "short form" for unearned incomes up to $500. The limit now is $100.

The Senate Finance Committee began its probe of Governor Lane's budget, but got caught up in a discussion of where to start. Senator Carter (D-Balto Fifth) said the group could do little until the supplemental budget is submitted.

At a post-session hearing, Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., State Superintendent of Schools, opposed election of Montgomery County School Board members.

He told the House Judiciary Committee that election, rather than gubernatorial appointment, of school boards would incite "more politics than ever."

Delegate Reeves (R-Montgomery) replied that Pullen did not want to surrender "control of the entire county school system by the State Department of Education."

New Rule To Halt Filibusters Up

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP) — A new debate rule, designed to snap off filibusters by a two-thirds vote, was recommended to the Senate today by its committee on rules.

It can't come before the Senate for at least a week, however, and probably won't be considered until late in the month. And the proposed new rule is virtually certain to run into a filibuster — delaying talk — which may prevent its adoption.

Acheson Coldly Condemns Act As "Sickening"

Declares U. S. Now Considering Action In U. N.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Acheson today coldly condemned Hungary's conviction of Cardinal Mindszenty as "wanton" communist religious persecution which has "sickened and horrified" the free world.

The United States, he disclosed, is already considering possible action through the United Nations.

Britain and France are being consulted on the next move.

Throughout the non-communist world, a storm of protest was rising:

In Vatican City, it was announced that Pope Pius XII has protested solemnly against "the grave offense inflicted upon the whole church." The Pontiff summoned the sacred College of Cardinals to a "secret and extraordinary consistory" next Monday. He is expected to address the cardinals on the Mindszenty case.

Calls For Protests

In New York, Francis Cardinal Spellman called on Americans to emphasize their protests by wiping out "every communist cell within our own government, our institutions."

Cardinal Spellman said the sentence of life imprisonment meted out to Cardinal Mindszenty on treason charges is "far more merciless, his martyrdom the greater" than if the verdict had been death.

On Capitol Hill, the House Foreign Affairs Committee formally demanded intervention by the United Nations "or by such other means as may be most appropriate."

On Capitol Hill, the House unanimously passed a resolution denouncing the Mindszenty trial and urging the United States to raise the issue in the United Nations or by other "appropriate" means. There was no debate on the resolution, which now goes to the Senate.

Acheson's blunt and angry condemnation of Hungary, setting forth the official American position, came at a news conference.

Diplomatic officials said it was one of the most extensive indictments of a Russian satellite country ever to come from an American cabinet member.

Acheson noted that Hungary is not a member of the United Nations. But he said the Soviet-controlled country is definitely bound "by the obligations set forth in Article 2 of the treaty of peace with Hungary."

Cites Basis For UN Hearing

And on the basis of this treaty, which guarantees freedom and human rights, Acheson said the United States may bring violation charges in the United Nations.

In a terse 300-word statement, Acheson made these salient accusations:

1—Hungarian authorities are "Soviet controlled" and are seeking to "discredit and coerce religious leadership in Hungary in order to remove this source of moral resistance to communism."

That was one of the strongest charges yet made by responsible American officials that the hand of Moscow is manipulating Hungary's actions behind the scenes.

2—In the trial of Cardinal Mindszenty, Hungarian authorities apparently employed all the "usual methods practiced by a police state" and therefore carried out "not the administration of justice

"Flying Wing" Shows Speed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP) — A gigantic eight-engined flying wing joined an air force demonstration of bomber might today with a scorching 511.2 miles an hour, nonstop trip across the country.

Presenting a boomerang silhouette against the evening sky, the 213,000-pound jet bomber, known as the Northrop YB-49, crossed Andrews Field four hours 25 minutes after taking off from Muroc (Calif.) Airbase. The distance was announced as 2,258 miles.

"The wing," as it is best known, taxied into line with the air force's largest, fastest and smallest jet bombers, first of the warplanes being assembled at Andrews Field for a Congressional review next Tuesday.

The other bombers are the Consolidated B-36 (world's largest bomber); the Boeing XB-47 Stratojet (world's fastest bomber), and the North American B-45, a four-engine jet which is the smallest the air force has in production.

The B-36 flew in today from Carswell airbase near Fort Worth, Tex., at an average speed of 338.2 miles an hour despite the fact its gross weight tops 300,000 pounds. The XB-47 shot in from Moses Lake (Wash.) airbase yesterday at an average speed of 607.2 miles an hour.

The B-45 loafed in from Dayton, Ohio, today in 50 minutes, averaging 470 miles an hour. The pilot said he was in no hurry, and complained about difficulty accumulating flight time on short (390 miles) hops. (Pilots must fly at least four hours each month to qualify for the extra 50 per cent pay.)

Mitchum Gets 60-Day Jail Term In Narcotics Counts

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 9 (INS) — Film Actor Robert Mitchum and Starlet Lila Leeds were sentenced to 60 days today for conspiring to possess marijuana and immediately began serving their terms in Los Angeles County Jail.

Superior Judge Clement D. Nye, in meting out the two month terms also placed the pair on two years' probation and suspended an original one-year sentence.

Judge Nye said with time off for good behavior Mitchum and Miss Leeds might leave jail in 50 days.

A second charge against them, for possessing narcotics, was waived by the jurist.

The bobby soxers' idol heard the verdict of the court in his usual stoical movie manner. He didn't bat an eyelash when the jurist told him:

"I am treating you exactly as I would any other defendant in like circumstances. The judgment of this court is more than a punishment for you. It will be a deterrent on others who might be prone to follow your path."

"Laws are made to be observed. . . . you have a great responsibility to thousands of young Americans who see you on the screen. Many young people govern their lives by your example."

Miss Leeds, who a few minutes later swapped a fashionable pinstripe suit for a shapeless blue denim jail get-up, turned pale and began sobbing when she head the judge sentence her to 60 days behind bars.

Two other defendants in the case, Realtor Robin Ford and Dancer Vicki Evans, were to have their day in court later in the month.

This is 13 days beyond the deadline set for tomorrow night. It is a nine-day extension, in terms of actual hearing days.

The committee made ils decision at an uproaring three-hour session in which the word "insult" flew around. The final vote was unanimous but that didn't mean everybody was happy.

It was a defeat for the Democrats on the committee, though they have an 8-5 majority. It was they who forced through the Feb. 10 deadline. They didn't want to extend it. They had to swallow the pill because the Republicans questioned the witnesses so thoroughly that about 30 more witnesses remained on the list with the deadline almost here.

The Democrats on the committee want speed and more speed for the Truman administration's bill. So do labor unions. The bill would repeal the Taft-Hartley Act and revive the original Wagner Act with certain additions.

The extension apparently means a delay in getting the bill to the Senate for debate.

What its long-range effect will be is hard to estimate.

Victims Abandoned

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Feb. 9 (AP)—Hope for survival of any of the 28 persons aboard a Scandinavian airliner which crashed into Swedish coastal waters was abandoned today.

Philip C. Jessup Picked To Be Ambassador-At-Large

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson have chosen Philip C. Jessup to represent the United States at future major international conferences, it was learned tonight.

Jessup, who would be given the rank of ambassador-at-large, has been this country's representative on the United Nations Security Council. He has also held the position of professor of international law at Columbia University. He is 52.

Mr. Truman is expected to send his nomination to the Senate within the next few days.

Jessup resigned recently from his Security Council post to return to Columbia University.

Acheson, who wants to reduce the amount of time which the Secretary of State has to spend in negotiations abroad, was reported to have persuaded him to remain in government service to undertake the new task.

Two other shifts in the American delegation to the United Nations were also reported to be in prospect.

Diplomatic informants said John C. Ross, who is deputy to the chief American delegate to the U.N., Ambassador Warren Austin, is understood to have been chosen to succeed Jessup at least temporarily on the Security Council.

Informants also said Charles Noyes, an adviser on Security Council affairs, has been chosen to serve on the interim committee of the general assembly, the so-called "little assembly."

The position reportedly created for Jessup is a new one, which would not encroach on the functions of Acheson or Austin. Rather, it is designed to take from Acheson's shoulders some of the work which in the past has required secretaries of state to spend much time abroad.

Old Tariff Act Is Approved In Demo Victory

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP) — The administration won a smashing victory today as the House voted 319 to 69 to repeal the 1948 Republican Tariff Act and to reinstate the original Reciprocal Trade Law until June 12, 1951.

President Truman in requesting the action said the GOP act hobbled trade pact negotiations. He said its repeal is needed to promote commerce and aid world peace.

On final passage 238 Democrats were joined by 80 Republicans and the one American Labor Party member. Opposing were 63 Republicans and six Democrats.

The legislation now goes to the Senate.

Democrats beat back 241 to 151 a Republican attempt to save at least a part of the 1948 measure.

Brings Showdown Vote

The showdown vote came after Rep. Doughton (D-NC), 85-year-old chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, called upon the House to "unshackle" the trade program and prove to the world that "the United States has definitely and permanently turned away from economic and political isolationism."

The old Reciprocal Trade Law, which will be restored if the Senate follows the House action, gives the President the power to cut American tariffs 50 per cent below January 1, 1945 levels in trade pacts with nations that agree to reduce their trade barriers.

The Republicans, when they were in power last year, revised this law: (A) to set up independent studies by the Tariff Commission and (B) require the President to explain to Congress if he cut any import duty against the commission's advice that such a cut would damage an American industry.

Extended Trade Law

The GOP-controlled Congress then extended the trade law only one year, to June 30, 1949, against Mr. Truman's request for a three-year continuation, without amendments.

Democrats today defeated a Republican amendment to:

Retain that part of the GOP Tariff Act requiring the Federal Tariff Commission to set "peril points" below which tariffs could not be cut without hurting American industries. The Republicans did not insist upon keeping the part of their act requiring the President to make an explanation to Congress if a duty was cut below such a "peril point."

Jury Acquits Boy Of Murder

CHICAGO, Feb. 10 (AP)—Rafael (Rocky) Villasenor, 15, was acquitted today of a charge of murdering William Gervais, his 13-year-old playmate.

The jury of six men and six women returned the verdict of acquittal at the direction of Judge Alan L. Ashcraft of Criminal Court.

Judge Ashcraft said Villasenor's statement of the killing was not admissible as evidence because of alleged promises to the youth in exchange for a confession.

Villasenor was accused of killing Gervais last November 4 in Fuller Park on the Southwest Side. Police who arrested the youth said he signed a statement that he stranged his playmate with a belt.

Villasenor still must face a charge of delinquency in juvenile court. He was taken to the juvenile home for disposition of these charges. If convicted of this charge he can be sentenced to the state training school for boys at St. Charles until he is 21 years old.

Red Cross Flies Supplies To Blizzard-Bound Trains

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (INS)—The American Red Cross announced today that is is rushing emergency supplies by air to an estimated 2,000 passangers aboard 17 stalled trains in blizzard-stricken Wyoming.

The Red Cross said that the Army would co-operate in flying 3,000 units of "C" rations, 300 cots and 1,000 blankets immediately to the train passengers.

The Red Cross and the Army termed the blizzard situation in southern Wyoming "critical."

Don Stout, Red Cross representative in Omaha, Neb., reported by telephone this afternoon that the Army and the Red Cross were preparing to fly in the supplies immediately.

The section of the state principally affected was in the Rawlins-Green River-Douglas area, Stout reported.

The weather bureau in Washington said the winds in the area would increase to about 59 miles an hour tomorrow, increasing the danger from ground blizzards.

The Red Cross has three national disaster specialists now working in Southern Wyoming and plans to send in three more tonight or tomorrow to aid volunteers on the scene.

Stout said the Army is sending three light reconnaissance planes, based at Rapid City, S. D., over southern Wyoming to spot places needing emergency aid. The Army was alerting reserve planes at Lowry Field, Denver, for dropping supplies.

Denmark, Sweden Envoys Outline Defense Views To Secretary Of State

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Ambassadors of Denmark and Sweden outlined to Secretary of State Acheson late today their government's views on Scandinavian defense in connection with the projected North Atlantic Alliance.

The envoys called at the State Department only a few hours after Acheson served notice the United States will go ahead with the North Atlantic defense agreement despite strong Russian criticism.

He rejected Soviet charges that the pact represents an "aggressive policy."

Diplomatic officials said the Danish Ambassador, Henrik De Kauffman, made preliminary inquiries about terms on which Denmark could join the Western Alliance. They indicated De Kauffman and his embassy aides planned a more intensive study at meetings later this week.

Outlines Situation

The Swedish Ambassador, Eric Boheman, was reported to have outlined the situation which recently led Sweden to invite Norway and Denmark to join in a Scandinavian Neutrality pact. Officials said Boheman acted under instructions from his government and no further meetings are contemplated with American authorities now.

The U. S. has made plain its opposition to separate defense groupings such as the Scandinavian neutrality proposal. In the American view such agreements would be unrealistic and useless in resisting aggression.

Immediately after the Swedish-sponsored neutrality talks wound up inconclusively last week, Norwegian officials came to Washington to discuss terms whereby Norway could join the North Atlantic Alliance.

It was this Norwegian move that stirred sharp Russian criticism against the Alliance.

Rejects Moscow Charges

Acheson emphatically rejected at a news conference Moscow's charge that the alliance "serves the aggressive policy of certain powers."

The Secretary said the purpose of the pact now being negotiated is the exact opposite—to help the United Nations maintain world peace. He said Article 51 of the U. N. Charter provides specifically for such regional defense arrangements.

Russia bitterly condemned the projected pact in a note to Norway last weekend. This obviously was intended as a warning to Norway against joining the security agreement being worked out by the U. S., Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Jacob Malik, Soviet representative to the U. N., followed this up yesterday with a vehement attack on the pact before the Security Council in New York.

Answering questions, Acheson said he hopes to make public shortly a complete summary of the main points of the plan. But, he emphasized, it is important to build the alliance soundly and to make certain each member country understands every word.

The Norwegian Ambassador, Wilhelm De Morgenstierne, conferred with top State Department officials on terms by which Norway could join. The Norwegian Foreign Minister, Halvard M. Lange, lunched at the Capitol to talk over defense problems confronting his government.

"Axis Sally" Was "Strongly Influenced"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (INS)—A former Nazi radio official testified today that Mildred E. Gillars, alleged "Axis Sally" on trial for treason, was strongly under the influence of Prof. Hans Otto Koischwitz during the war.

Koischwitz, who died in 1944, was the former Hunter College professor who the defense claims brought Miss Gillars under his hypnotic spell and guided her anti-American broadcasts for the Germans.

The witness, Hans Von Richter, also identified Miss Gillars as the "Sally" who broadcast from Berlin 1944:

"I'd rather die for Germany than live 100 years on milk and honey in the Jewish America of today."

Acheson Coldly Condemns Act As "Sickening"

Declares U. S. Now Considering Action In U. N.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Acheson today coldly condemned Hungary's conviction of Cardinal Mindszenty as "wanton" communist religious persecution which has "sickened and horrified" the free world.

The United States, he disclosed, is already considering possible action through the United Nations.

Britain and France are being consulted on the next move.

Throughout the non-communist world, a storm of protest was rising:

In Vatican City, it was announced that Pope Pius XII has protested solemnly against "the grave offense inflicted upon the whole church." The Pontiff summoned the sacred College of Cardinals to a "secret and extraordinary consistory" next Monday. He is expected to address the cardinals on the Mindszenty case.

Calls For Protests

In New York, Francis Cardinal Spellman called on Americans to emphasize their protests by wiping out "every communist cell within our own government, our institutions."

Cardinal Spellman said the sentence of life imprisonment meted out to Cardinal Mindszenty on treason charges is "far more merciless, his martyrdom the greater" than if the verdict had been death.

On Capitol Hill, the House Foreign Affairs Committee formally demanded intervention by the United Nations "or by such other means as may be most appropriate."

On Capitol Hill, the House unanimously passed a resolution denouncing the Mindszenty trial and urging the United States to raise the issue in the United Nations or by other "appropriate" means. There was no debate on the resolution, which now goes to the Senate.

Acheson's blunt and angry condemnation of Hungary, setting forth the official American position, came at a news conference.

Diplomatic officials said it was one of the most extensive indictments of a Russian satellite country ever to come from an American cabinet member.

Acheson noted that Hungary is not a member of the United Nations. But he said the Soviet-controlled country is definitely bound "by the obligations set forth in Article 2 of the treaty of peace with Hungary."

Cites Basis For UN Hearing

And on the basis of this treaty, which guarantees freedom and human rights, Acheson said the United States may bring violation charges in the United Nations.

In a terse 300-word statement, Acheson made these salient accusations:

1—Hungarian authorities are "Soviet controlled" and are seeking to "discredit and coerce religious leadership in Hungary in order to remove this source of moral resistance to communism."

That was one of the strongest charges yet made by responsible American officials that the hand of Moscow is manipulating Hungary's actions behind the scenes.

2—In the trial of Cardinal Mindszenty, Hungarian authorities apparently employed all the "usual methods practiced by a police state" and therefore carried out "not the administration of justice

Equal Delegate Bill Is Killed In Md. Committee

Ober Report To Be Aired Today

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 9 (AP) — Another attempt at "equitable representation" in the Maryland House of Delegates met the fate of its predecessors today—an early death.

The Senate Judiciary Committee heard only two witnesses talk about a bill to reapportion seats in the House before voting decisively to drop it for the session.

Observers saw little likelihood of a reversal when the committee's unfavorable report comes out.

In a voice vote, only Senator Turnbull (D-Baltimore County) called in favor of the proposal to allow each county two seats and allot the remainder according to population, up to a House capacity of 125 members.

Shortly afterward, Committee Chairman Della (D-Balto Sixth) introduced a bill to freeze House membership at its present level.

Chairmen of the Senate and House Judiciary groups made special police arrangement for tomorrow's hearing on highly charged bills to stifle communist activity in Maryland.

Speculation on how many people will throng to the State House for an airing of the Ober Commission Bills ranged from 700 to 2,000. Regular afternoon sessions were set back an hour, to 3 p. m., to allow more time for testimony.

The House passed six bills, the Senate none. One measure, designed to coincide the term of the Motor Vehicles' Commissioner with that of the Governor, was supposed to get a decision in the House, but was withdrawn temporarily for an amendment to make it effective this May.

Senator Storm (D-Frederick) proposed legalizing the income tax "short form" for unearned incomes up to $500. The limit now is $100.

The Senate Finance Committee began its probe of Governor Lane's budget, but got caught up in a discussion of where to start. Senator Carter (D-Balto Fifth) said the group could do little until the supplemental budget is submitted.

At a post-session hearing, Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., State Superintendent of Schools, opposed election of Montgomery County School Board members.

He told the House Judiciary Committee that election, rather than gubernatorial appointment, of school boards would incite "more politics than ever."

Delegate Reeves (R-Montgomery) replied that Pullen did not want to surrender "control of the entire county school system by the State Department of Education."

New Rule To Halt Filibusters Up

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP) — A new debate rule, designed to snap off filibusters by a two-thirds vote, was recommended to the Senate today by its committee on rules.

It can't come before the Senate for at least a week, however, and probably won't be considered until late in the month. And the proposed new rule is virtually certain to run into a filibuster — delaying talk — which may prevent its adoption.

Mitchum Gets 60-Day Jail Term In Narcotics Counts

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 9 (INS) — Film Actor Robert Mitchum and Starlet Lila Leeds were sentenced to 60 days today for conspiring to possess marijuana and immediately began serving their terms in Los Angeles County Jail.

Superior Judge Clement D. Nye, in meting out the two month terms also placed the pair on two years' probation and suspended an original one-year sentence.

Judge Nye said with time off for good behavior Mitchum and Miss Leeds might leave jail in 50 days.

A second charge against them, for possessing narcotics, was waived by the jurist.

The bobby soxers' idol heard the verdict of the court in his usual stoical movie manner. He didn't bat an eyelash when the jurist told him:

"I am treating you exactly as I would any other defendant in like circumstances. The judgment of this court is more than a punishment for you. It will be a deterrent on others who might be prone to follow your path."

"Laws are made to be observed. . . . you have a great responsibility to thousands of young Americans who see you on the screen. Many young people govern their lives by your example."

Miss Leeds, who a few minutes later swapped a fashionable pinstripe suit for a shapeless blue denim jail get-up, turned pale and began sobbing when she head the judge sentence her to 60 days behind bars.

Two other defendants in the case, Realtor Robin Ford and Dancer Vicki Evans, were to have their day in court later in the month.

"Flying Wing" Shows Speed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP) — A gigantic eight-engined flying wing joined an air force demonstration of bomber might today with a scorching 511.2 miles an hour, nonstop trip across the country.

Presenting a boomerang silhouette against the evening sky, the 213,000-pound jet bomber, known as the Northrop YB-49, crossed Andrews Field four hours 25 minutes after taking off from Muroc (Calif.) Airbase. The distance was announced as 2,258 miles.

"The wing," as it is best known, taxied into line with the air force's largest, fastest and smallest jet bombers, first of the warplanes being assembled at Andrews Field for a Congressional review next Tuesday.

The other bombers are the Consolidated B-36 (world's largest bomber); the Boeing XB-47 Stratojet (world's fastest bomber), and the North American B-45, a four-engine jet which is the smallest the air force has in production.

The B-36 flew in today from Carswell airbase near Fort Worth, Tex., at an average speed of 338.2 miles an hour despite the fact its gross weight tops 300,000 pounds. The XB-47 shot in from Moses Lake (Wash.) airbase yesterday at an average speed of 607.2 miles an hour.

The B-45 loafed in from Dayton, Ohio, today in 50 minutes, averaging 470 miles an hour. The pilot said he was in no hurry, and complained about difficulty accumulating flight time on short (390 miles) hops. (Pilots must fly at least four hours each month to qualify for the extra 50 per cent pay.)

MIRROR of your MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Can your skin "weep for you"?

Answer: Yes, quite literally, Dr. O. Spurgeon English, noted Philadelphia psychiatrist, told a conference of skin specialists. A patient with "weeping eczema" is generally suffering from emotional difficulties. "He cannot weep, but his skin weeps for him. Eczema patients are usually depressed, and long for love, but they can't stand love when they get it." Their emotions, like their skins, are hypersensitive and cannot stand the little frictions that inevitably arise between two people, no matter how much they love each other.

Are absent-minded folks self-centered?

Answer: Yes, in the sense of being more interested in what goes on in their own minds than in what is happening around them. But this need not mean that they are "thinking only of themselves" in any unfavorable sense. A typical absent-minded person may feel it is more important to find the solution of a problem in mathematics than to eat his dinner, and a large share of our scientific progress is owed to such people. But they may well have "got that way" from a sense of inability to deal with practical affairs and other humans.

Can you really "improve yourself"?

Answer: Speaking literally, No. Your personality and character are formed in childhood and change very little later. But you can always improve the methods by which you adapt the sort of person you are to the world you have to live in. You have qualities and talents which, if made the most of, will win you acceptance and approval, and the very ones you think of as your faults may prove to be your biggest assets if you use them wisely. "Stubbornness," for instance, may be of inestimable value if transformed into a sane persistence.

JUST BETWEEN US

By NANCY MOTTRAM

Some Fellows Refuse To Be Tied To One

Nancy Mottram

You were pretty sure that this was set to be a big romance, and the signposts all pointed the way to a marvelous beginning of 1949.

There was that first introduction, the first few "Hi's" that rapidly grew into longer and longer confabs when you saw him, and finally he got around to asking you for a date. You'd been crossing your fingers and wishing on the first star that you'd be seeing more of him, and it seemed too good to be true.

There was more to it than that. He was one of the most important "men around school", and you knew that half the girls in Central High would be floating on pink clouds if he ever looked their way. It had been talked around that he'd never dated one girl for long, much less gone steady, but you were pretty positive you could change all that.

So, when the evening finally rolled around, he called for you, met your Mother and Dad, and you were convinced this was it. You had a wonderful time. He was fun to be with, proved that he'd been brought up to know what the "manners" meant, and let you decide where to go and what to do. It was an evening worthy of a write-up in your diary, and when he took you home, you knew he'd be around again soon.

But instead, the days pass one by one, and you haven't heard a word. You're not so confident now about being the girl to tie him down with a fraternity pin or class ring. You're blue about it, because you can't understand his former interest and his present silence. You spread your woes to a couple of your friends and they reminded you that he had a reputation for never sticking to one particular lass or giving a friendship time to get into the serious stage.

The grapevine has buzzed that he's been dating since you saw him, and that seems to prove it. There are quite a few lads who share his opinions, and it's a waste of time and brain-power to brood about it. No matter how you feel, it's obvious that he isn't planning to concentrate on just one, and while he may call in the future, it's plain that any fond hopes you have of seeing him regularly aren't going to come true.

It won't take too long to get him out of your mind if you accept dates with Tom, Dick and Harry, and the next time, keep close watch over your feelings. Keep them under guard and you'll find you won't be having so many blue, rainy days!

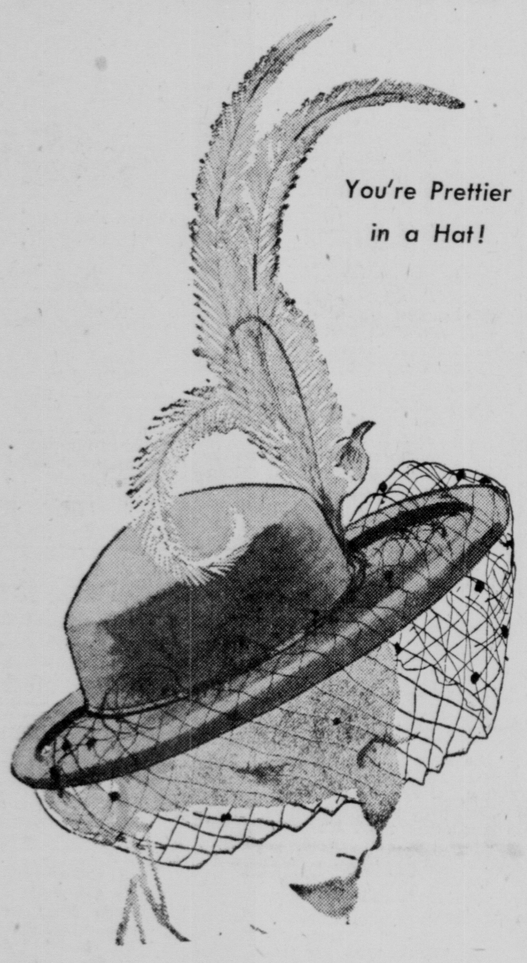

Miss Mottram wants to help with your problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Some Fellows Refuse To Be Tied To One

Nancy Mottram

You were pretty sure that this was set to be a big romance, and the signposts all pointed the way to a marvelous beginning of 1949.

There was that first introduction, the first few "Hi's" that rapidly grew into longer and longer confabs when you saw him, and finally he got around to asking you for a date. You'd been crossing your fingers and wishing on the first star that you'd be seeing more of him, and it seemed too good to be true.

There was more to it than that. He was one of the most important "men around school", and you knew that half the girls in Central High would be floating on pink clouds if he ever looked their way. It had been talked around that he'd never dated one girl for long, much less gone steady, but you were pretty positive you could change all that.

So, when the evening finally rolled around, he called for you, met your Mother and Dad, and you were convinced this was it. You had a wonderful time. He was fun to be with, proved that he'd been brought up to know what the "manners" meant, and let you decide where to go and what to do. It was an evening worthy of a write-up in your diary, and when he took you home, you knew he'd be around again soon.

But instead, the days pass one by one, and you haven't heard a word. You're not so confident now about being the girl to tie him down with a fraternity pin or class ring. You're blue about it, because you can't understand his former interest and his present silence. You spread your woes to a couple of your friends and they reminded you that he had a reputation for never sticking to one particular lass or giving a friendship time to get into the serious stage.

The grapevine has buzzed that he's been dating since you saw him, and that seems to prove it. There are quite a few lads who share his opinions, and it's a waste of time and brain-power to brood about it. No matter how you feel, it's obvious that he isn't planning to concentrate on just one, and while he may call in the future, it's plain that any fond hopes you have of seeing him regularly aren't going to come true.

It won't take too long to get him out of your mind if you accept dates with Tom, Dick and Harry, and the next time, keep close watch over your feelings. Keep them under guard and you'll find you won't be having so many blue, rainy days!

Miss Mottram wants to help with your problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Republicans Are Making Budget-Whittling Headway

Republicans in Congress are making some headway with their campaign to whittle down the President's budget. A number of Democrats have expressed uneasiness over the Truman spending program, and some of them seem determined to do something about it. Their ranks include Senatory Harry F. Byrd of Virginia. One, who occupies a key position, is Chairman Cannon of the House Appropriations committee.

According to Representative Rooney of New York, who heads the subcommittee on the State, Justice and Commerce Departments, Cannon has issued orders that the nine subcommittees of the Appropriations committee must find some method to cut their requests. This is taken as evidence that one important Administration supporter may not support the Administration's budget all the way.

If Cannon actually intends to pare the President's figures to any appreciable extent, he is starting on an uphill fight. Because it is easier to appropriate money than to economize, Congress is likely to spend more than the President asked instead of less. Cannon has some hard facts on his side, however, that cannot be ignored.

These facts have to do with the government's income. There is a possibility that the President has underestimated revenues for the fiscal year 1950, so there is a chance that Congress could follow his budget recommendations and still avoid imposing additional taxes. But tax cuts would be out. And it is certainly a fact that Congress cannot go very far outside of his figures without voting tax increases.

There is sentiment in Congress favoring a bigger outlay for air defense than the President has requested. If Congress insists on providing for a 70-group or even a 66-group Air Force, it will be faced with the necessity of getting the money somewhere. If it can be found in the budget new taxes will not be necessary.

It remains to be seen whether the Communist slogan, "Down with capitalism," will provide more rice for the Chinese.

Gen. Bradley Again Has Something To Say

Gen. Omar Bradley is a reticent Army Chief of Staff, but when he opens his mouth to speak he always has something to say. His warning that it would be "reckless" for the United States to rely on air power alone to win any future war in the first few months should be heeded by a Congress now considering the defense budget.

The theory of the "knockout blow" is a deductive one, not only to those airmen who still cherish the dogmas of Italian General Douhet, but to men in the street who want an easy road to armed security. Eight years after the failure of the German "blitz" popular writers still write articles in magazines of vast circulation "proving" that the next war can be won in its initial stage by a rain of atomic bombs on the enemy, conveyed by bombers still on the drawing table. The chiefs of the Air Force don't argue that, but many aerial apologists do. And they get a sufficient hearing to justify Gen. Bradley's statement that the Army's insistence upon a combined Army-Navy-Air Defense is being "distorted in the minds of some Americans as stubborn opposition to the strengthening of air power."

A bitter controversy is now going on in books and technical journals over the wisdom of "area bombing" in the last war. The eminent British strategist, Maj. General Fuller, presents a mass of evidence in a new book to show that the American concentration on air power and on "area bombing" delayed victory by a year and created the current holocust of political, economic and social problems in Europe.

Gen. Bradley does not enter into that argument. But he does appeal, dramatically, to man's experience and common sense when he says that if we are driven into another war "we shall once more be forced to gain the inevitable victory over our dead bodies—those of our soldiers on the ground."

There is a proposal that dairy cows be milked three times a day. But Bossy may feel she is being subjected to a squeeze play.

Way Still Open To Stalin To Make Good

The Anglo-American embargo on all truck traffic originating in Western Europe and passing through the Allied to the Soviet zones of Germany is not an isolated incident. Nothing that happened in Germany these days is an isolated incident. Nor is the latest Allied move to be regarded as merely a reprisal to the Soviet blockade on traffic from Eastern Europe to Western Germany. It is, in fact, a muscular way of inviting Russia to reopen negotiations on the whole Berlin question.

President Truman and his Secretary of State by no means closed the door to such discussions in their recent statements. What they did, quiet properly, was to rule out any private conference between Truman and Stalin behind the backs of our Western allies, and also to reject meaningless gestures like a U. S.-Russian "no-war pact." But Secretary Acheson was careful to say that if Russia has any new proposals for ending the Berlin deadlock she should submit it through diplomatic channels.

The experts employed by the Western members of the Council of Foreign Ministers have not been idle since the last East-West conference broke up in Berlin. Americans are working on various formulas for ending the currency dispute, which was Russia's immediate reason for clamping down the blockade. One scheme calls for a dual currency, which would give neither Russia nor the Allies exclusive control over the means of exchange, hence over the economic and political life of Berlin.

If Russia has concluded, as she well may have, that the Airlift has whipped the blockade of Berlin and that the political debacle of the blockade will grow with the coming of spring, she may now be in the mood to seek a settlement of the Berlin deadlock. If Russia is in that mood and says so, the discussions can be reopened promptly. But they will not be carried on through telegraphed press interviews between Paris and Moscow.

Help The Cerebral Palsied

MORE IS BEING done today than ever before for the cerebral palsied child. Much of the credit is due to the untiring efforts of the army of parents, teachers, social workers, physicians, nurses, religious leaders, and other interested citizens who make up the various societies organized throughout the country to help victims of this disease. As a result, many afflicted youngsters have been lifted from complete incapacity to a position where they can help themselves. All this is expensive and, for this reason, cerebral societies are appealing for aid.

Imagine the fear and futility which overcome fathers and mothers when they discover that the new baby has this disturbance. He may have one of many defects because cerebral palsy is a disease of multiple handicaps. After all, the brain is a complex organ and, before birth, more than one part may be injured. If the portion having to do with sensations is involved, the child has difficulty seeing, hearing, talking, or touching. When the thinking part bears the brunt, a mental defect follows.

But most persons are familiar with the type in which the muscles are affected. The motor area of the brain is damaged, interfering with the outgoing nerve impulses to various parts of the body such as the arms, legs, etc. This in itself leads to a variety of symptoms because muscles can misbehave in a variety of ways. The individual with infantile paralysis, for example, cannot use his muscles when he wishes. This rarely occurs in cerebral palsy; in fact, the opposite condition is more likely to be present. The muscles move whether the sufferer wants them to or not. The arms, legs, or face jerk involuntarily, leading to difficulty in walking and facial contortions. When trying to write, the effort may be as unwieldy as for the normal person who tries to dash off a letter on a moving train or an automobile. The youngster attempts to control the motions by holding himself tense but this usually makes matters worse.

In another group, the muscles are not out of control but are so stiff that gestures are laborious. Reaching for a glass of water is a slow process and takes time. But when they sit quietly, relaxation ensues. This form of spastic palsy often is accompanied by loss of sensation over the involved parts. The patient cannot feel the object grasped or held; it is as though the hands were encased in heavy woolen gloves. A smaller number have trouble in balancing; others are bothered by tremors.

Mixtures of the various muscular, mental, and sensory types are common. In 60 to 80 per cent there is an associated speech defect; 50 per cent have disturbed vision; and 20 to 30 per cent are mentally defective. Over half the children are left handed. All these factors must be taken into consideration in treatment. Learning to walk is only one of the accomplishments to be mastered. This alone is formidable but when added to instructions on talking, co-ordination, hand and eye movements, and trying to catch up with school work, the victim and the instructors face a gigantic task. It is little wonder that five to ten years are required. Complete cure is not possible but if the afflicted child can do no more than learn to care for himself, it is a feather in his cap. Others acquire the ability to do something toward supporting themselves.

WHAT MACHINE SHOWS

C. B. writes: Will an electrocardiogram reveal any disorder of the circulatory system besides that of the heart muscles?

Reply

Yes, the rhythm or timing machanism of the heart. This machine is extremely valuable in determining any irregularity of the pulse.

BLOOD CELL ACTIVITY

M. G. writes: Of what value to the body is the spleen and what is its function?

Reply

This organ is intimately associated with the blood and plays a role in the manufacture and storage of certain cells and the destruction of others. It is sometimes called the "graveyard" of old, worn out corpuscles. If necessary is can be removed without ill effect.

IS IT SAFE?

Mrs. M.W. writes: A friend of mine in the egg business is not allowed to sell "blood eggs" so she serves them to her family. I think it is not healthful for her to eat them. Will you tell us who is right?

Reply

You can solve this problem yourself by determining whether your friend is healthy in spite of using such eggs. For esthetic reasons, some individuals cannot eat them.

Neurotic Pain

F.G. writes: Will you please give me some information on intercostal neuralgia?

REPLY

This painful condition originates from nerves that travel between the ribs. It may represent local irritation or result from focal infection elsewhere in the body. The spine may be at fault. Many respond to the application of heat or the use of vitamin B1 (thiamin).

Depends Upon Type

J.Z. writes: Is jaundice contagious?

REPLY

Infectious jaundice can be considered contagious but not the types associated with obstruction of the bile ducts, cirrhosis of the liver, or the hemolytic variety in which the red blood cells are being destroyed by an unknown agent.

Distinguished Statesmen Reveal Human Touch In Greeting Gratitude Train; Acheson Irked At Bevin Criticism Of American Policy Regarding Palestine

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 — Three distinguished statesmen were on hand to greet the French Gratitude Train when it arrived in Washington—Vice President Barkley and his former colleagues, Senators Connally of Texas, Democrat, and Vandenberg, of Michigan, Republican.

These three have served in the Senate together for more than a quarter of a century. Sometimes they have been on opposite sides of bitter political battles, but they have never let party politics interfere with personal friendship. They know each other as well as they know the Senate—which is better than almost anyone else in Washington. How much Senator Vandenberg knows about the early boyhood of Senator Connally of Texas is his secret.

But at the very conclusion of the ceremonies welcoming the Gratitude Train, as the venerable Tom Connally took a pair of shears and snipped the red, white and blue ribbon sealing the District of Columbia boxcar, his old friend, the Senator from Michigan, whispered to the Vice President of the United States:

"I'll bet that's not the first time Tom has broken into a boxcar."

Acheson Wary of Bevin

It isn't being advertised outside the State Department, but British Foreign Minister Bevin didn't put his best foot forward with the new U. S. Secretary of State just a few days after Dean Acheson took office.

Bevin sent what amounted to a frantic SOS to Acheson for help to get him enough votes to squeak by an attempted censure of British Foreign Policy in the House of Commons. But after Acheson helped to get him the votes, Bevin, in effect, bit the hand that fed him.

Here is the inside story of what happened:

Just before the debate on Palestine, Bevin was worried sick that the Labor Party might be defeated and have to resign. Part of the criticism was because Britain's policy in Palestine was upsetting American relations. Therefore, in hit on the idea of telling Parliament that Britain and the United States had settled their differences and now agreed completely on Palestine.

Bevin actually wrote out his remarks in advance and cabled them to the State Department January 25 to make sure Secretary Acheson had no objection. Bevin also appealed to Acheson to issue an American statement backing up Bevin on Palestine. The State Department OK'd Bevin's remarks and gave him the go-ahead—and that statement was the trump card which helped him win a vote of confidence by a margin of only ninety. Otherwise the Labor Government might have been defeated.

However, Bevin extemporaneously inserted some other remarks in his speech, criticizing American policy. This made Acheson so irate he flatly refused to issue the subsequent statement on Palestine supporting Bevin.

As a matter of fact, Acheson also considered protesting to Bevin about his American criticism, but finally decided to forget the whole thing. He decided, however, that he would think twice before helping Bevin out of a jam again.

Probe Dodgers' Airfield

It isn't often the Government gets mixed up in big-league baseball, but for some time the Civil Aeronautics Authority has been probing the Brooklyn Dodgers' spring training camp at Vero Beach, Florida.

Actually, the Dodgers are not involved. It's the city of Vero Beach which the Government is interested in, because of a complicated transaction by which Vero Beach is suspected of leasing a Government airfield to the Dodgers at a handsome profit. The airfield is being used by the Dodgers for their fair-weather training, for an official charge of $5 per year plus the proceeds from an exhibition game. The airfield is owned by the Government and leased to the city of Vero Beach for nothing, with the stipulation that any income is to be used for the airfield's upkeep and improvement.

CAA officials now suspect that a lot more than $5 a year is being paid by the Dodgers for the airfield. What makes them suspicious is a statement by Mayor Merrill P. Barber that the city had "entered into a five-year renewable lease with the Brooklyn Baseball Club at an estimated income of $12,000 (annually).

Later, city officials began to search for extra pillows upon which the Dodgers' heads were to rest at night. The Government supposedly was turning over a certain number of pillows with the airfield.

And airport manager Bud Holman, appealing for more pillows, complained: "This is really putting us in a bad position, as we now have a 10-year contract with the Brooklyn Ball Club which should bring in from $20,000 a year upward."

This, says the CAA, is a lot more than $5 a year. That's why the Government wants to find out what's happening to the extra money.

Reclamation Grudge Fight Renewed

One of the bitterest battles of the 80th Congress was over Director of Reclamation Mike Strauss and his California regional aide, Richard Boke. The battel finally ended by Congress taking the almost unprecedented action of barring them from the payroll.

Backstage, this battle is raging again inside the Rules and Appropriations Committees of the 81st Congress, where a coalition of Southern Democrats and Republicans is ganging up to block Truman on reclamation. Real issue behind this battle is the 160-acre limitation on reclamation holdings in the Far West.

California's Senator Sheridan Downey, though a Democrat, led the grudge fight against Strauss and Boke. Brazenly he claimed they had administered the 160-acre limit too efficiently. Now he is pulling wires behind the scenes to block them from getting back their jobs, and, to some extent, the fight has boiled down to one between Truman and Downey.

The other day, Truman sent a private memo to the House Appropriations Committee bluntly asserting that two reclamation officials were being "legislated out of office—by an arbitrary action diametrically opposed to the principles upon which this government was founded.

The President referred, of course, to the fact that the Executive Branch of the Government has the power of appointment. Truman's memo, however, was blocked by Appropriations Committeeman John Taber of New York, a Republican, and Congressman Howard Smith of Virginia, a Democrat who operates inside the Rules Committee.

So far, Truman has lost the battle. The Feb. 1 deadline, at which time Strauss and Boke went off the payroll, has been reached and passed. The amendment Truman 'requested has been blocked. If a coalition of Democrats and Republicans can defeat him so easily on a question of reclamation, it will be interesting to see what happens regarding civil rights.

Return Of Farmers To GOP Column In 1950 In Making

By MARK SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON.

There is a view which, looking forward to the Congressional elections next year, twenty-one months from now, holds that the Republicans may regain control of Congress. This is worth attention, for a reversal to the Republicans in 1950 would be as arresting and important as was the reversal to the Democrats last November.

For the view that the Republicans may regain control of Congress, a main political justification has to do with the farm vote. The Republican defeat last November was due, in a very special way, to defection of farmers. Return of the farmers, this view holds, is already in the making, and is due to developments in Congress since the Democrats took over, with emphasis on the Administration's new labor bill.

Decisiveness Almost Sensational

The cause of the defection of farmers was so local and restricted that its decisiveness in a national election for President was almost sensational, and has importance in our political history. Its localness and temporariness make plausible the view that the farmers may return to their traditional Republican affiliation.

The Republican Eightieth Congress had suspended the building by government of grain bins for growers of corn and wheat. This President Truman exploited in his farm belt speeches. And his exploitation coincided with weeks of the campaign during which farmers, harvesting bumper grain crops, felt need of more bins. Accompanying his stirring up of farm resentment against the Republicans, Mr. Truman promised that if he were elected the government would build more bins.

Grain growers voted for more bins, and will get them; Mr. Truman included them in the program of legislation he laid before Congress in his State of the Union message. But farmers, and everybody else, will get also, if the Administration's program is passed, some things which farmers as a class are as far as possible from wanting, and quite certainly did not have in mind when they voted for more grain bins.

Several of these are in the Administration's new labor bill. That bill as a whole, avowedly and greatly increasing the power of labor unions and leaders, goes counter to a strongly held traditional point of view of farmers. Some provisions of the bill, while objectionable to much of the public generally, have for farmers, because of their habitual attitude, a special objectionableness. It is not, except in some instances, that these provisions bear more heavily on farmers than on others; it is enough that they go against principles which farmers as a class hold with a special intensity.

Counter To Farmers' views

Many provisions of the Administration bill, repealing restrictions on labor unions and leaders that are in the existing Taft-Hartley law, go counter to the view held by most farmers. Examples are the removal of restrictions against the closed shop and the union shop. Two provisions of the new bill are outstanding, in the sense that they suggest a pattern and a trend.

One is the provision in the new bill which repeals a Taft-Hartley law provision giving the President power to get court injunctions against strikes which have a paralyzing effect on the country—examples are the nation-wide railroad strike in 1946 and strikes in coal mining conducted by Mr. John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers.

To ask repeal of this power presents an extraordinary picture, a picture of government abdicating, surrendering a power it has, and doing so in the interest of a class, labor unions and leaders.

In the same spirit is another aspect of the new labor bill. It omits a provision which is in the existing Taft-Hartley law against strikes by employees of government. (Though during hearings on the bill the Administration seems to have receded on this point.) This is a picture of government unwilling, in deference to labor unions, to assert authority over its own employees.

This attitude of the Administration, and its proposed surrender of power to seek court injunctions, suggest a conception of government reasonably describable as a labor government. That would be as far as possible from what farmers want. It would be politically plausible to suppose they might come to feel they paid too much for their grain bins.

Dewey Declares War On GOP Ultra-Conservatives

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Feb. 9—Governor Dewey has declared war on the ultra-conservatives. He urges that the Republican Party become a "liberal and progressive party."

Whether Mr. Dewey is or is not a candidate in 1952, he proposes to fight within his party to bring into the ascendancy the young, liberal elements which he believes he represents.

The speech delivered at the Lincoln Day dinner by the New York Governor was no masterpiece of political philosophy, but it was blunt and direct. The repercussions that will ensue are likely to be long and numerous.

After criticizing those Republicans who want to turn the clock back on measures of social progress, Mr. Dewey issued this challenge:

"Those who disapprove of these principles and want to fight them ought to go out and try to get elected in a typical American community and see what happens to them. But they ought not to do it as Republicans. They ought not to get their personal prejudices confused with the basic aims the Republican Party has repeatedly set forth in its platforms."

Slap At Last Congress

Ever since the election Mr. Dewey has smarted under the condemnation of Republicans, many of them conservatives, who said he was too New Dealish or that he didn't make an aggressive campaign against the Truman record and proposals. The New York Governor doesn't say it in so many words but he places a considerable part of the blame on the ultra-conservatives, who, he implies, have been weighing down the Republicans and causing them to lose elections. What he said can be taken also as an indirect slap at the last Republican Congress.

Mr. Dewey is assuming the offensive now within his party. His long period of silence since the election has given him time to meditate on the strategy that a so-called titular leader of a defeated party may use. He treats in lighter vein the fact that he is such a leader. By the same token, he shows what anyone who has been a candidate and still occupies an important elected office can do and say.

Mr. Dewey adopts more or less the same attitude that he did in his 1944 campaign when he was running against the late President Roosevelt. He argued then that everybody is for the same objectives but with a different means of attaining them. He makes that point much better now than he did five years ago. He says:

"You know, it is a curious thing that the same objectives of full employment and social security are claimed as their purpose by both political parties in America, by both the Socialist and non-Socialist governments of Europe, by the Communist nations of Eastern Europe, and were claimed by the Hitler government.

"Everybody claims to be going to the same place. But some are going as slaves with chains around their minds and clanking on their heels. Others are going as free men with their heads high and their minds and souls unfettered by the state."

Drives His Point Home

The New York Governor drives his point home by an attack on President Truman's proposal in his recent message to Congress threatening to build government plants in competition with the steel companies if they don't produce more steel. This causes Mr Dewey to charge that the Truman Administration has asked Congress for the right to take steps which would lead toward the nationalization of various industries. Mr. Dewey says:

"Soviet Russia has nationalized her industries. So did Nazi Germany. Other nations are doing the same. But should we follow them down that trail?"

The New York Governor contends that nationalization is a technique of nations that have failed and he declares that investors are not going to put their savings into any business if the government is going to set up tax-free competitors against them.

Curiously enough, there are passages in the Dewey speech which will not be opposed by the conservatives, but there are other passages to which they will take exception. In any event, Mr. Dewey has stirred up a controversy that will rock the Republican Party as it did in 1910 when Theodore Roosevelt began to build up the progressive movement. It is a significant development in political history.

These Days

The Eyes

BEFORE me are two photographs published in so many newspapers in the United States this week. I can only look at the eyes. In one photograph, the eyes are soft, gentle, friendly. They are the eyes of a sweet soul. Then I look at the other photograph of the same man. Those same eyes are hard, brutalized, frightened. They are the eyes of a frightened animal. "But you sink, for your eyes are altering—altered!"

Both are photographs of Cardinal Mindszenty. Dead or alive, his eyes will haunt me long. What have they done to this man to transform him so? What torture, what pain, what deadliness is in those eyes?

It is not a matter of one's religion. Suppose you are a Protestant or a Jew, a Mohammedan or an Atheist—can you look at those eyes without asking yourself what it is that these jailers do to the souls of men? How do they crush men so—men of ideals, or belief, of faith? Know this of Cardinal Mindszenty:

Death could have no terror for him. His training, his profession as a priest, his concentration upon his religion, readied him for martyrdom.

Cardinal Spellman explains the phenomenon physiologically; they drugged him. Eugene Lyons, a competent student of the problem, believes that fear of bringing harm to loved ones caused these martyrs to vilify themselves.

But Cardinal Mindszenty has no wife, no children, and an aged mother. His most beloved ones could not be harmed unless we assume that he loved his whole flock, the people of Hungary. Yet something did happen to him in the Communist jail that happens to all who are purged, who are to be liquidated. The will is gone. The dignity of man is gone. A Cardinal of the Roman Catholic Church is a prince among men; he wears his dignity sometimes proudly as one who has attained the heights, or humbly as one who still is only a priest before god. Whichever the attitude, his human dignity, his sense of relationship to god, is there.

Yet, in the photograph of Cardinal Mindszenty, the face is bleak had hardened, almost idiotic. He is a driven creature, fearing life more than death. It is a frightening personality one sees—frightening because the dignity of man has gone from it.

What did they do to him to make him like that? How have they broken him? Drugged or tortured, they dehumanized him. They smashed his soul. They left him a thing of flesh.

I once saw a man in a bamboo cage carried from village to village to be shown to the people. It was when the Chinese turned on the Communists back in 1927. It was their way of triumphing over an enemy. He, a Russian, was reduced to nothing.

I saved that man, although I despised his doctrine and the miserable work he was doing. It was really Chiang Kai-Shek who saved him, for when the story was brought to him, he ordered the human being freed and sent to his own home.

Yet here we see something more terrible that that. It is almost as frightening as the thought: "And God was silent and said not a word." It is the horror of a void; the bestiality of nothingness. And so they show the Hungarian people and all the world that they can reduce a prince to a craven thing. He who on thousands of Sundays spoke of the spirit, who took and gave communion, is an empty shell that is terrorized by the power of man.

Where is God's mercy? Well they can ask and they shall be answered. Millions have gazed at those eyes in those two portraits. Millions have been shocked into a sharp sensibility by those eyes. They will not be forgotten. Nor will those who, by whatever method, transformed human dignity into an afraid, a weary creature—that, too, will not be forgotten.

Maybe in His divine wisdom, He whose supreme intelligence has graced man with pity, charity, love, hope, gave us this view to remind us that "He will keep the feet of His saints, and the wicked shall be silent in darkness; for by strength shall no man prevail."

Republicans Are Making Budget-Whittling Headway

Republicans in Congress are making some headway with their campaign to whittle down the President's budget. A number of Democrats have expressed uneasiness over the Truman spending program, and some of them seem determined to do something about it. Their ranks include Senatory Harry F. Byrd of Virginia. One, who occupies a key position, is Chairman Cannon of the House Appropriations committee.

According to Representative Rooney of New York, who heads the subcommittee on the State, Justice and Commerce Departments, Cannon has issued orders that the nine subcommittees of the Appropriations committee must find some method to cut their requests. This is taken as evidence that one important Administration supporter may not support the Administration's budget all the way.

If Cannon actually intends to pare the President's figures to any appreciable extent, he is starting on an uphill fight. Because it is easier to appropriate money than to economize, Congress is likely to spend more than the President asked instead of less. Cannon has some hard facts on his side, however, that cannot be ignored.

These facts have to do with the government's income. There is a possibility that the President has underestimated revenues for the fiscal year 1950, so there is a chance that Congress could follow his budget recommendations and still avoid imposing additional taxes. But tax cuts would be out. And it is certainly a fact that Congress cannot go very far outside of his figures without voting tax increases.

There is sentiment in Congress favoring a bigger outlay for air defense than the President has requested. If Congress insists on providing for a 70-group or even a 66-group Air Force, it will be faced with the necessity of getting the money somewhere. If it can be found in the budget new taxes will not be necessary.

It remains to be seen whether the Communist slogan, "Down with capitalism," will provide more rice for the Chinese.

Gen. Bradley Again Has Something To Say

Gen. Omar Bradley is a reticent Army Chief of Staff, but when he opens his mouth to speak he always has something to say. His warning that it would be "reckless" for the United States to rely on air power alone to win any future war in the first few months should be heeded by a Congress now considering the defense budget.

The theory of the "knockout blow" is a deductive one, not only to those airmen who still cherish the dogmas of Italian General Douhet, but to men in the street who want an easy road to armed security. Eight years after the failure of the German "blitz" popular writers still write articles in magazines of vast circulation "proving" that the next war can be won in its initial stage by a rain of atomic bombs on the enemy, conveyed by bombers still on the drawing table. The chiefs of the Air Force don't argue that, but many aerial apologists do. And they get a sufficient hearing to justify Gen. Bradley's statement that the Army's insistence upon a combined Army-Navy-Air Defense is being "distorted in the minds of some Americans as stubborn opposition to the strengthening of air power."

A bitter controversy is now going on in books and technical journals over the wisdom of "area bombing" in the last war. The eminent British strategist, Maj. General Fuller, presents a mass of evidence in a new book to show that the American concentration on air power and on "area bombing" delayed victory by a year and created the current holocust of political, economic and social problems in Europe.

Gen. Bradley does not enter into that argument. But he does appeal, dramatically, to man's experience and common sense when he says that if we are driven into another war "we shall once more be forced to gain the inevitable victory over our dead bodies—those of our soldiers on the ground."

There is a proposal that dairy cows be milked three times a day. But Bossy may feel she is being subjected to a squeeze play.

Way Still Open To Stalin To Make Good

The Anglo-American embargo on all truck traffic originating in Western Europe and passing through the Allied to the Soviet zones of Germany is not an isolated incident. Nothing that happened in Germany these days is an isolated incident. Nor is the latest Allied move to be regarded as merely a reprisal to the Soviet blockade on traffic from Eastern Europe to Western Germany. It is, in fact, a muscular way of inviting Russia to reopen negotiations on the whole Berlin question.

President Truman and his Secretary of State by no means closed the door to such discussions in their recent statements. What they did, quiet properly, was to rule out any private conference between Truman and Stalin behind the backs of our Western allies, and also to reject meaningless gestures like a U. S.-Russian "no-war pact." But Secretary Acheson was careful to say that if Russia has any new proposals for ending the Berlin deadlock she should submit it through diplomatic channels.

The experts employed by the Western members of the Council of Foreign Ministers have not been idle since the last East-West conference broke up in Berlin. Americans are working on various formulas for ending the currency dispute, which was Russia's immediate reason for clamping down the blockade. One scheme calls for a dual currency, which would give neither Russia nor the Allies exclusive control over the means of exchange, hence over the economic and political life of Berlin.

If Russia has concluded, as she well may have, that the Airlift has whipped the blockade of Berlin and that the political debacle of the blockade will grow with the coming of spring, she may now be in the mood to seek a settlement of the Berlin deadlock. If Russia is in that mood and says so, the discussions can be reopened promptly. But they will not be carried on through telegraphed press interviews between Paris and Moscow.

Help The Cerebral Palsied

MORE IS BEING done today than ever, before for the cerebral palsied child. Much of the credit is due to the untiring efforts of the army of parents, teachers, social workers, physicians, nurses, religious leaders, and other interested citizens who make up the various societies organized throughout the country to help victims of this disease. As a result, many afflicted youngsters have been lifted from complete incapacity to a position where they can help themselves. All this is expensive and, for this reason, cerebral societies are appealing for aid.

Imagine the fear and futility which overcome fathers and mothers when they discover that the new baby has this disturbance. He may have one of many defects because cerebral palsy is a disease of multiple handicaps. After all, the brain is a complex organ and, before birth, more than one part may be injured. If the portion having to do with sensations is involved, the child has difficulty seeing, hearing, talking, or touching. When the thinking part bears the brunt, a mental defect follows.

But most persons are familiar with the type in which the muscles are affected. The motor area of the brain is damaged, interfering with the outgoing nerve impulses to various parts of the body such as the arms, legs, etc. This in itself leads to a variety of symptoms because muscles can misbehave in a variety of ways. The individual with infantile paralysis, for example, cannot use his muscles when he wishes. This rarely occurs in cerebral palsy; in fact, the opposite condition is more likely to be present. The muscles move whether the sufferer wants them to or not. The arms, legs, or face jerk involuntarily, leading to difficulty in walking and facial contortions. When trying to write, the effort may be as unwieldy as for the normal person who tries to dash off a letter on a moving train or an automobile. The youngster attempts to control the motions by holding himself tense but this usually makes matters worse.

In another group, the muscles are not out of control but are so stiff that gestures are laborious. Reaching for a glass of water is a slow process and takes time. But when they sit quietly, relaxation ensues. This form of spastic palsy often is accompanied by loss of sensation over the involved parts. The patient cannot feel the object grasped or held; it is as though the hands were encased in heavy woolen gloves. A smaller number have trouble in balancing; others are bothered by tremors.

Mixtures of the various muscular, mental, and sensory types are common. In 60 to 80 per cent there is an associated speech defect; 50 per cent have disturbed vision; and 20 to 30 per cent are mentally defective. Over half the children are left handed. All these factors must be taken into consideration in treatment. Learning to walk is only one of the accomplishments to be mastered. This alone is formidable but when added to instructions on talking, co-ordination, hand and eye movements, and trying to catch up with school work, the victim and the instructors face a gigantic task. It is little wonder that five to ten years are required. Complete cure is not possible but if the afflicted child can do no more than learn to care for himself, it is a feather in his cap. Others acquire the ability to do something toward supporting themselves.

WHAT MACHINE SHOWS

C. B. writes: Will an electrocardiogram reveal any disorder of the circulatory system besides that of the heart muscles?

Reply

Yes, the rhythm or timing machanism of the heart. This machine is extremely valuable in determining any irregulararity of the pulse.

BLOOD CELL ACTIVITY

M. G. writes: Of what value to the body is the spleen and what is its function?

Reply

This organ is intimately associated with the blood and plays a role in the manufacture and storage of certain cells and the destruction of others. It is sometimes called the "graveyard" of old, worn out corpuscles. If necessary is can be removed without ill effect.

IS IT SAFE?

Mrs. M.W. writes: A friend of mine in the egg business is not allowed to sell "blood eggs" so she serves them to her family. I think it is not healthful for her to eat them. Will you tell us who is right?

Reply

You can solve this problem yourself by determining whether your friend is healthy in spite of using such eggs. For esthetic reasons, some individuals cannot eat them.

Neurotic Pain

P.G. writes: Will you please give me some information on intercostal neuralgia?

REPLY

This painful condition originates from nerves that travel between the ribs. It may represent local irritation or result from focal infection elsewhere in the body. The spine may be at fault. Many respond to the application of heat or the use of vitamin B1 (thiamin).

Depends Upon Type

J.Z. writes: Is jaundice contagious?

REPLY

Infectious jaundice can be considered contagious but not the types associated with obstruction of the bile ducts, cirrhosis of the liver, or the hemolytic variety in which the red blood cells are being destroyed by an unknown agent.

Distinguished Statesmen Reveal Human Touch In Greeting Gratitude Train; Acheson Irked At Bevin Criticism Of American Policy Regarding Palestine

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 — Three distinguished statesmen were on hand to greet the French Gratitude Train when it arrived in Washington—Vice President Barkley and his former colleagues, Senators Connally of Texas, Democrat, and Vandenberg, of Michigan, Republican.

These three have served in the Senate together for more than a quarter of a century. Sometimes they have been on opposite sides of bitter political battles, but they have never let party politics interfere with personal friendship. They know each other as well as they know the Senate—which is better than almost anyone else in Washington. How much Senator Vandenberg knows about the early boyhood of Senator Connally of Texas is his secret.

But at the very conclusion of the ceremonies welcoming the Gratitude Train, as the venerable Tom Connally took a pair of shears and snipped the red, white and blue ribbon sealing the District of Columbia boxcar, his old friend, the Senator from Michigan, whispered to the Vice President of the United States:

"I'll bet that's not the first time Tom has broken into a boxcar."

Acheson Wary of Bevin

It isn't being advertised outside the State Department, but British Foreign Minister Bevin didn't put his best foot forward with the new U. S. Secretary of State just a few days after Dean Acheson took office.

Bevin sent what amounted to a frantic SOS to Acheson for help to get him enough votes to squeak by an attempted censure of British Foreign Policy in the House of Commons. But after Acheson helped to get him the votes, Bevin, in effect, bit the hand that fed him.

Here is the inside story of what happened:

Just before the debate on Palestine, Bevin was worried sick that the Labor Party might be defeated and have to resign. Part of the criticism was because Britain's policy in Palestine was upsetting American relations. Therefore, in hit on the idea of telling Parliament that Britain and the United States had settled their differences and now agreed completely on Palestine.

Bevin actually wrote out his remarks in advance and cabled them to the State Department January 25 to make sure Secretary Acheson had no objection. Bevin also appealed to Acheson to issue an American statement backing up Bevin on Palestine. The State Department OK'd Bevin's remarks and gave him the go-ahead—and that statement was the trump card which helped him win a vote of confidence by a margin of only ninety. Otherwise the Labor Government might have been defeated.

However, Bevin extemporaneously inserted some other remarks in his speech, criticizing American policy. This made Acheson so irate he flatly refused to issue the subsequent statement on Palestine supporting Bevin.

As a matter of fact, Acheson also considered protesting to Bevin about his American criticism, but finally decided to forget the whole thing. He decided, however, that he would think twice before helping Bevin out of a jam again.

Probe Dodgers' Airfield

It isn't often the Government gets mixed up in big-league baseball, but for some time the Civil Aeronautics Authority has been probing the Brooklyn Dodgers' spring training camp at Vero Beach, Florida.

Actually, the Dodgers are not involved. It's the city of Vero Beach which the Government is interested in, because of a complicated transaction by which Vero Beach is suspected of leasing a Government airfield to the Dodgers at a handsome profit. The airfield is being used by the Dodgers for their fair-weather training, for an official charge of $5 per year plus the proceeds from an exhibition game. The airfield is owned by the Government and leased to the city of Vero Beach for nothing, with the stipulation that any income is to be used for the airfield's upkeep and improvement.

CAA officials now suspect that a lot more than $5 a year is being paid by the Dodgers for the airfield. What makes them suspicious is a statement by Mayor Merrill P. Barber that the city had "entered into a five-year renewable lease with the Brooklyn Baseball Club at an estimated income of $12,000 (annually).

Later, city officials began to search for extra pillows upon which the Dodgers' heads were to rest at night. The Government supposedly was turning over a certain number of pillows with the airfield.

And airport manager Bud Holman, appealing for more pillows, complained: "This is really putting us in a bad position, as we now have a 10-year contract with the Brooklyn Ball Club which should bring in from $20,000 a year upward."

This, says the CAA, is a lot more than $5 a year. That's why the Government wants to find out what's happening to the extra money.

Reclamation Grudge Fight Renewed

One of the bitterest battles of the 80th Congress was over Director of Reclamation Mike Strauss and his California regional aide, Richard Boke. The battel finally ended by Congress taking the almost unprecedented action of barring them from the payroll.

Backstage, this battle is raging again inside the Rules and Appropriations Committees of the 81st Congress, where a coalition of Southern Democrats and Republicans is ganging up to block Truman on reclamation. Real issue behind this battle is the 160-acre limitation on reclamation holdings in the Far West.

California's Senator Sheridan Downey, though a Democrat, led the grudge fight against Strauss and Boke. Brazenly he claimed they had administered the 160-acre limit too efficiently. Now he is pulling wires behind the scenes to block them from getting back their jobs, and, to some extent, the fight has boiled down to one between Truman and Downey.

The other day, Truman sent a private memo to the House Appropriations Committee bluntly asserting that two reclamation officials were being "legislated out of office—by an arbitrary action diametrically opposed to the principles upon which this government was founded.

The President referred, of course, to the fact that the Executive Branch of the Government has the power of appointment. Truman's memo, however, was blocked by Appropriations Committeeman John Taber of New York, a Republican, and Congressman Howard Smith of Virginia, a Democrat who operates inside the Rules Committee.

So far, Truman has lost the battle. The Feb. 1 deadline, at which time Strauss and Boke went off the payroll, has been reached and passed. The amendment Truman requested has been blocked. If a coalition of Democrats and Republicans can defeat him so easily on a question of reclamation, it will be interesting to see what happens regarding civil rights.

Return Of Farmers To GOP Column In 1950 In Making

By MARK SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON.

There is a view which, looking forward to the Congressional elections next year, twenty-one months from now, holds that the Republicans may regain control of Congress. This is worth attention, for a reversal to the Republicans in 1950 would be as arresting and important as was the reversal to the Democrats last November.

For the view that the Republicans may regain control of Congress, a main political fustification has to do with the farm vote. The Republican defeat last November was due, in a very special way, to defection of farmers. Return of the farmers, this view holds, is already in the making, and is due to developments in Congress since the Democrats took over, with emphasis on the Administration's new labor bill.

Decisiveness Almost Sensational

The cause of the defection of farmers was so local and restricted that its decisiveness in a national election for President was almost sensational, and has importance in our political history. Its localness and temporariness make plausible the view that the farmers may return to their traditional Republican affiliation.

The Republican Eightieth Congress had suspended the building by government of grain bins for growers of corn and wheat. This President Truman exploited in his farm belt speeches. And his exploitation coincided with weeks of the campaign during which farmers, harvesting bumper grain crops, felt need of more bins. Accompanying his stirring up of farm resentment against the Republicans, Mr. Truman promised that if he were elected the government would build more bins.

Grain growers voted for more bins, and will get them; Mr. Truman included them in the program of legislation he laid before Congress in his State of the Union message. But farmers, and everybody else, will get also, if the Administration's program is passed, some things which farmers as a class are as far as possible from wanting, and quite certainly did not have in mind when they voted for more grain bins.

Several of these are in the Administration's new labor bill. That bill as a whole, avowedly and greatly increasing the power of labor unions and leaders, goes counter to a strongly held traditional point of view of farmers. Some provisions of the bill, while objectionable to much of the public generally, have for farmers, because of their habitual attitude, a special objectionableness. It is not, except in some instances, that these provisions bear more heavily on farmers than on others; it is enough that they go against principles which farmers as a class hold with a special intensity.

Counter To Farmers' views

Many provisions of the Administration bill, repealing restrictions on labor unions and leaders that are in the existing Taft-Hartley law, go counter to the view held by most farmers. Examples are the removal of restrictions against the closed shop and the union shop. Two provisions of the new bill are outstanding, in the sense that they suggest a pattern and a trend.

One is the provision in the new bill which repeals a Taft-Hartley law provision giving the President power to get court injunctions against strikes which have a paralyzing effect on the country—examples are the nation-wide railroad strike in 1946 and strikes in coal mining conducted by Mr. John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers.

To ask repeal of this power presents an extraordinary picture, a picture of government abdicating, surrendering a power it has, and doing so in the interest of a class, labor unions and leaders.

In the same spirit is another aspect of the new labor bill. It omits a provision which is in the existing Taft-Hartley law against strikes by employees of government. (Though during hearings on the bill the Administration seems to have receded on this point.) This is a picture of government unwilling, in deference to labor unions, to assert authority over its own employees.

This attitude of the Administration, and its proposed surrender of power to seek court injunctions, suggest a conception of government reasonably describable as a labor government. That would be as far as possible from what farmers want. It would be politically plausible to suppose they might come to feel they paid too much for their grain bins.

Dewey Declares War On GOP Ultra-Conservatives

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Feb. 9—Governor Dewey has declared war on the ultra-conservatives. He urges that the Republican Party become a "liberal and progressive party."

Whether Mr. Dewey is or is not a candidate in 1952, he proposes to fight within his party to bring into the ascendancy the young, liberal elements which he believes he represents.

The speech delivered at the Lincoln Day dinner by the New York Governor was no masterpiece of political philosophy, but it was blunt and direct. The repercussions that will ensue are likely to be long and numerous.

After criticizing those Republicans who want to turn the clock back on measures of social progress, Mr. Dewey issued this challenge:

"Those who disapprove of these principles and want to fight them ought to go out and try to get elected in a typical American community and see what happens to them. But they ought not to do it as Republicans. They ought not to get their personal prejudices confused with the basic aims the Republican Party has repeatedly set forth in its platforms."

Slap At Last Congress

Ever since the election Mr. Dewey has smarted under the condemnation of Republicans, many of them conservatives, who said he was too New Dealish or that he didn't make an aggressive campaign against the Truman record and proposals. The New York Governor doesn't say it in so many words but he places a considerable part of the blame on the ultra-conservatives, who, he implies, have been weighing down the Republicans and causing them to lose elections. What he said can be taken also as an indirect slap at the last Republican Congress.

Mr. Dewey is assuming the offensive now within his party. His long period of silence since the election has given him time to meditate on the strategy that a so-called titular leader of a defeated party may use. He treats in lighter vein the fact that he is such a leader. By the same token, he shows what anyone who has been a candidate and still occupies an important elected office can do and say.

Mr. Dewey adopts more or less the same attitude that he did in his 1944 campaign when he was running against the late President Roosevelt. He argued then that everybody is for the same objectives but with a different means of attaining them. He makes that point much better now than he did five years ago. He says:

"You know, it is a curious thing that the same objectives of full employment and social security are claimed as their purpose by both political parties in America, by both the Socialist and non-Socialist governments of Europe, by the Communist nations of Eastern Europe, and were claimed by the Hitler government.

"Everybody claims to be going to the same place. But some are going as slaves with chains around their minds and clanking on their heels. Others are going as free men with their heads high and their minds and souls unfettered by the state."

Drives His Point Home

The New York Governor drives his point home by an attack on President Truman's proposal in his recent message to Congress threatening to build government plants in competition with the steel companies if they don't produce more steel. This causes Mr Dewey to charge that the Truman Administration has asked Congress for the right to take steps which would lead toward the nationalization of various industries. Mr. Dewey says:

"Soviet Russia has nationalized her industries. So did Nazi Germany. Other nations are doing the same. But should we follow them down that trail?"

The New York Governor contends that nationalization is a technique of nations that have failed and he declares that investors are not going to put their savings into any business if the government is going to set up tax-free competitors against them.

Curiously enough, there are passages in the Dewey speech which will not be opposed by the conservatives, but there are other passages to which they will take exception. In any event, Mr. Dewey has stirred up a controversy that will rock the Republican Party as it did in 1910 when Theodore Roosevelt began to build up the progressive movement. It is a significant development in political history.

The Eyes

BEFORE me are two photographs published in so many newspapers in the United States this week. I can only look at the eyes. In one photograph, the eyes are soft, gentle, friendly. They are the eyes of a sweet soul. Then I look at the other photograph of the same man. Those same eyes are hard, brutalized, frightened. They are the eyes of a frightened animal. "But you sink, for your eyes are altering—altered!"

Both are photographs of Cardinal Mindszenty. Dead or alive, his eyes will haunt me long. What have they done to this man to transform him so? What torture, what pain, what deadliness is in those eyes?

It is not a matter of one's religion. Suppose you are a Protestant or a Jew, a Mohammedan or an Atheist—can you look at those eyes without asking yourself what it is that these jailers do to the souls of men? How do they crush men so—men of ideals, or belief, of faith? Know this of Cardinal Mindszenty:

Death could have no terror for him. His training, his profession as a priest, his concentration upon his religion, readied him for martyrdom.

Cardinal Spellman explains the phenomenon physiologically; they drugged him. Eugene Lyons, a competent student of the problem, believes that fear of bringing harm to loved ones caused these martyrs to vilify themselves.

But Cardinal Mindszenty has no wife, no children, and an aged mother. His most beloved ones could not be harmed unless we assume that he loved his whole flock, the people of Hungary. Yet something did happen to him in the Communist jail that happens to all who are purged, who are to be liquidated. The will is gone. The dignity of man is gone. A Cardinal of the Roman Catholic Church is a prince among men; he wears his dignity sometimes proudly as one who has attained the heights, or humbly as one who still is only a priest before god. Whichever the attitude, his human dignity, his sense of relationship to god, is there.

Yet, in the photograph of Cardinal Mindszenty, the face is bleak had hardened, almost idiotic. He is a driven creature, fearing life more than death. It is a frightening personality one sees—frightening because the dignity of man has gone from it.

What did they do to him to make him like that? How have they broken him? Drugged or tortured, they dehumanized him. They smashed his soul. They left him a thing of flesh.

I once saw a man in a bamboo cage carried from village to village to be shown to the people. It was when the Chinese turned on the Communists back in 1927. It was their way of triumphing over an enemy. He, a Russian, was reduced to nothing.

I saved that man, although I despised his doctrine and the miserable work he was doing. It was really Chiang Kai-Shek who saved him, for when the story was brought to him, he ordered the human being freed and sent to his own home.

Yet here we see something more terrible that that. It is almost as frightening as the thought: "And God was silent and said not a word." It is the horror of a void; the bestiality of nothingness. And so they show the Hungarian people and all the world that they can reduce a prince to a craven thing. He who on thousands of Sundays spoke of the spirit, who took and gave communion, is an empty shell that is terrorized by the power of man.

Where is God's mercy? Well they can ask and they shall be answered. Millions have gazed at those eyes in those two portraits. Millions have been shocked into a sharp sensibility by those eyes. They will not be forgotten. Nor will those who, by whatever method, transformed human dignity into an afraid, a weary creature—that, too, will not be forgotten.

Maybe in His divine wisdom, He whose supreme intelligence has graced man with pity, charity, love, hope, gave us this view to remind us that "He will keep the feet of His saints, and the wicked shall be silent in darkness; for by strength shall no man prevail."

Some curious reader wants to know if an agreement with Joe Stalin will be worth the picnic plate it's written on. That's a fair question asked about a guy mysterious enough to figure in a recipe for chop suey.

If you have gandered Stalin's career you will find he breaks a promise with a promise. That's oriental diplomacy first used by the Ming dynasty when paper dragons ran six editions.

Joe knows if he comes to America he will lose face. If we go to Russia we will lose the rest of the anatomy chart.

So it looks like the negotiations will continue until we achieve peace through exhaustion.

Social Security Laws May Change

John W. Robertson, manager of the Cumberland office of the Social Security Administration, stated yesterday that many people in the area serviced by this office will benefit if Congress adopts some of the proposed amendments to the Social Security program.

Liberalization of the amount of the monthly insurance benefit payable is being considered. This would increase the minimum monthly benefit to $37.50 for a man and wife, and increase the maximum monthly insurance benefit to $150. Under the present law, the minimum for a man and wife is $15 and the maximum, depending upon the earnings of the insured individual and the number of dependents, is $85.

Another proposal being considered is the extension of coverage to about 20,000,000 jobs now excluded from the insurance program. The newly covered group would include self-employed, agricultural labor, domestic service, employment by non-profit institutions, and federal, state and local government employes not covered under a pension plan.

These changes in the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance program may also provide for increasing the amount of earnings which a beneficary may receive without loss of his insurance benefit from $14.99 (as in the present law) to $40 per month. Reduction of the retirement age from 65 to 60 for women employes, widows, wives and mothers has also been advocated.

Ballistics Lab Makes High-Speed Rocket

A piggy-back booster rocket, believed to be the largest ever built, has been developed and constructed at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Pinto, operated by the Hercules Powder Company under Navy contract, the Navy Department disclosed yesterday.

The missile has been flown successfully at speeds for exceeding that of sound — 760 miles an hour at sea level — and has solved the problem of how to get guided missiles up to the high speeds at which they operate more efficiently, according to the Navy. It was tested at the Naval Ordnance Test Center, Inyokern, Calif.

City Monetary Problems Topic Of Council Meet

With the city nearing its credit limit, the City must give first attention to its flood control project, the Mayor and Council announced yesterday following a conference on city money problems.

The discussion centered on the $200,000 to $300,000 paving program and the $150,000 recreation issue, the latter having been approved by a vote of almost 2-1 in a 1947 referendum.

In pointing out the need for action on city streets, Street Commissioner Edgar Reynolds suggested a five-year lien plan for financing the paving program. Some property owners would pay the assessment immediately while others could pay off the bill in five-year installments to be listed with the regular tax bills. This plan has never been tried in Cumberland before.

Liens Still Outstanding

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson pointed out that the city already has approximately $40,000 outstanding in paving liens. To City Attorney Thomas B. Finan's proposal that the liens be collected and applied to the paving program, he replied the liens had been used as security and could be used for paving funds on a technical basis only.

Reynolds stands to get for his program about $60,000 which is remaining in unsold bonds from a prior $200,00 street and sewer issue authorized under a so-called "broad ordinance" which would allow the use of the funds in new work.

The plan is contingent, however, on the demands made by the federal government in the city for flood control work. An $800,000 bond issue is in prospect in July, but Commissioner William V. Keegan and Reynolds expressed doubt it would be needed so soon because they said the work was a little behind schedule.

To Cost $779,625.24

The full paving project would cost an estimated $779,625.24, according to a proposed report to the Mayor and Council by City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer. Frederick Street, which will cost $154,136.80 to repair, represents the largest expenditure. Te report calls for repairs to 32 streets. The other 31, whose names have not been disclosed, will cost from $5,000 to $53,000.

Rizer points out the estimates are based on prices of comparable work in the western part of the state. The costs are based on the use of blacktop paving on a stone base, he adds. They do not include trunk line storn sewers, but do include cost of manholes, catch basins and leads from the catch basins to the sewers.

Recreation Report Submitted

The report of the Recreation Committee was again produced and submitted to members of the Council for further study.

Mayor Post asked Attorney Finan if the city could ask the legislature to propose a bill making Daylight Saving Time mandatory throughout the state. He said that although the present law makes it optional with the counties, and similar proposals have been defeated, it would be possible. No definite action was taken.

Members of the Council said they were in sympathy with the Military Order of the Purple Heart which is holding its national convention here this year, but did not see they could spend $2,000 of the taxpayers money to aid them. The request had been made by George Leib, local commander, at a recent meeting.

Textile Workers Oppose Proposed State Labor Law

Maryland Senate Bill No. 2 which would provide for the Department of Labor to promote voluntary arbitration, mediation and conciliation in labor disputes drew opposition yesterday from officials of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO.

In a letter to State Senator Robert B. Kimble and members of the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly, Playford Aldridge, president of Local 1874, attacked the provision on labor disputes. He termed it unworkable because it required notice, not of all disputes, but only those which "may result in a strike or lockout." He said it was beyond human power to predict the outcome of a disagreement.

The letter stated opposition to the ruling that notice could be sent by any committee of employes or elected representative rather than by a duly certified or recognized collective bargaining representative. This, the letter charged, could be used to undercut the collective bargaining agency and cause industrial anarchy.

Although the language of the bill did not make clear whether the setting up of an arbitration board implied compulsory arbitration, Aldridge continued, the very use of the word implies compulsion.

The last and most objectionable part of the bill, the letter stated, was the action dealing with representative elections. "The conduct of a representation election by a state agency under different rules and procedures than established by the National Labor Relations Board, and the possible findings of the state agency contrary to the NLRB as to the collective bargaining status of a labor organization, will create confusion and chaos in labor relations in the state."

The Allegany Trades Council (AFL) took similar action Tuesday.

Boy Drowns As Pond Ice Breaks

Seven-year-old Dennis Leo Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Miller, Sr., Route 522, Berkeley Springs, W. Va., was drowned and a companion, James Merica, about 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Merica, same address, was rescued late Tuesday afternoon after they fell into a pond while testing ice for skating purposes.

The drowning occurred about 5:30 p. m. on the farm of the victim's half-brother, Charles E. Miller, Jr.

Ralph Keesecker, an employe of the farm, was able to wade into the water far enough for the Merica boy to grab a pole and pulled him to safety. A rowboat was pressed into service to search for the body of the other boy which was located an hour and a half later.

Besides his parents, the boy is survived by five brothers, Larry Dean, Robert, Alfred, James and Joseph Miller at home; a sister, Miss Mary Miller, Washington, D. C.; one half-sister, Mrs. Virginia Zettle, Berkeley Springs, and two other half-brothers, Bernard Miller, Edmundson, Md., and Karl R. Miller, South Berkeley Springs.

A funeral service will be held tomorrow at 9 a. m. in St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church, Berkeley Springs, with Rev. Father Robert B. Kealey officiating. Interment will take place in Greenway Cemetery here.

Greeks Open New Health Center

The Greek War Relief Association has opened a fourth healt. center at Kastelli Kissamou, Crete, according to Michael J. Valandas, chairman of the association's local chapter.

Valandas said the center will provide modern clinical, surgical, laboratory and public health services to the residents of an area where nine villages were devastated during Axis occupation.

The clinic will serve about 30 surrounding communities.

Norma M. Ryan Is Bride Of Robert Paul Smith

Marine-Army Veterans Wed

Miss Norma Marie Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ryan, 27 Elder Street, became the bride of Robert Paul Small, 706 Lafayette Avenue, yesterday.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized in Emmanuel Methodist Church with Rev. Gordon G. Jones officiating before members of the immediate families and intimate friends. Mr. and Mrs. William R. Durbin were their attendants and Mrs. Herman Walker played the traditional wedding marches. Bouquets of white snapdragons were used in the decorations.

The bride was attired in a light blue suit, with which she wore navy blue accessories. A corsage of yellow roses completed her costume. Her matron of honor wore a navy blue suit with pink accessories and had a corsage of pink roses.

The bride is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and served two years in the Marine Corps. She now is employed as cashier by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Pennsylvania Avenue School and is a veteran of Army service, having spent four and one-half years in the Aleutians. He is employed by Swift and Company.

Mr. Small and his bride left for a wedding trip to New York immediately after the ceremony. After February 15, they will be at home to their friends in their new apartment on Elder Street.

Cresap DAR To Take Part In Reception

Cresap Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, had a guest speaker at the luncheon meeting yesterday at the Golden Gate Restaurant and accepted the invitation of the Cumberland Free Public Library to participate in the birthday reception.

Miss Ella Carter Hodgson, regent, presided and appointed Mrs. A. P. Dixon and Mrs. L. W. Wilson chapter representatives at the library reception March 1. The chapter also voted to renew the flag which the chapter supplies at Memorial Hospital.

Robert Morris, teacher of history at Fort Hill High School, was the guest speaker. His topic was the "Present Method of Teaching History." Mr. Morris explained it is taught objectively and with the aid of radio and films. This, he said, results in promoting a sense of good citizenship in the student body. It also develops a responsibility and understanding in the struggle between democracy and dictatorships.

The speaker pointed out that the world evolution toward peace rather than world revolution could come about by intelligent education along cultural and religious lines.

Mrs. E. R. Kellough will be hostess for the March 9 meeting at 2 o'clock at her home, Washington Street.

Group To Aid Missions

Members of the Short Gap WSCS planned to send money to home and foreign missions at the meeting recently at the church.

Mrs. John Yokum led devotionals. Others taking part were Mrs. Ervin Spencer, Mrs. Lola Arnold and Mrs. Helen Riley.

Agriculture Books Given To Library

Ben Cook, Decatur Street, has recently presented the Cumberland Free Public Library with a large number of splendid publications dealing with agriculture and allied topics, Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, reports.

The volumes given by Mr. Cook are considered basic reference works in this field and will be of great benefit to anyone interested in this subject, Miss Walsh said.

A few of the most outstanding titles included in Mr. Cook's gift are "The Book of Alfalfa," F. D. Coburn, "The Books of Wheat," P. T. Dondlinger; "Breeding of Farm Animals," M. W. Harper; "Corn Crops," E. S. Montgomery; "Crop Production and Soil Management," J. F. Cox; "Dairy Cattle, Feeding and Management," C. W. Larson; "Equipment for the Farm," H. C. Ramsower; "Examining and Grading Grains," T. L. Lyon and E. S. Montgomery; "Farm Machinery and Farm Motors," B. J. Davidson and L. W. Chase.

"Farm Management," W. J. Spillman; "Farm Management," G. F. Warrens; "Feeds and Feeding," W. A. Henry and F. B. Morrison; "Field Management and Crop Rotation," E. C. Parker; "Forage and Fiber Crops," T. F. Hunt; "Plant Life on the Farm," M. T. Masters; "The Potato, Its Culture, Use and History," William Stuart; "Productive Sheep Husbandry," W. C. Coffey; "Profitable Grain Growing," Seegar Wheeler; "Small Grains," M. A. Carleton; and "Swine in America," a textbook for breeder, feeder and student, by F. D. Coburn.

Norma M. Ryan Is Bride Of Robert Paul Smith

Marine-Army Veterans Wed

Miss Norma Marie Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ryan, 27 Elder Street, became the bride of Robert Paul Small, 706 Lafayette Avenue, yesterday.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized in Emmanuel Methodist Church with Rev. Gordon G. Jones officiating before members of the immediate families and intimate friends. Mr. and Mrs. William R. Durbin were their attendants and Mrs. Herman Walker played the traditional wedding marches. Bouquets of white snapdragons were used in the decorations.

The bride was attired in a light blue suit with which she wore navy blue accessories. A corsage of yellow roses completed her costume. Her matron of honor wore a navy blue suit with pink accessories and had a corsage of pink roses.

The bride is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and served two years in the Marine Corps. She now is employed as cashier by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Pennsylvania Avenue School and is a veteran of Army service, having spent four and one-half years in the Aleutians. He is employed by Swift and Company.

Mr. Small and his bride left for a wedding trip to New York immediately after the ceremony. After February 15, they will be at home to their friends in their new apartment on Elder Street.

Purple Heart, Auxiliary Plan Conventions

Tentative plans for the state convention of the Purple Heart and auxiliary here in June and the national convention in August were formulated at a meeting Tuesday night.

The local unit was congratulated by Mrs. Beatrice Donovan, Baltimore, national president, who was making her official visit. She commended it for its progress and work and reviewed her visits to 45 other groups in 20 states.

Other department officers attending were Mrs. Anna McCarthy, president; Mrs. Hazel Burke, treasurer; Mrs. Edith Reichert, secretary; Mrs. Johanna Weimer, marshal; Mrs. Vergie McFarland, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Gladys Mock, aide de camp; and Mrs. Juanita Loundy, executive committee woman, all of Mountain unit.

Mrs. Maurice Tichnell was initiated into the unit and a social hour concluded the evening. Guests from the McCoole and Keyser Units attended.

Group Marks Anniversary

The second anniversary of the Jean Roland Circle of Melvin Church was celebrated recently at the home of Miss Goldie Imes, Eastern Avenue. Activities of the group, including a bazaar, sending magazine subscriptions to the Kelso Home for Girls, and sending contributions to Jean Roland, missionary in China, were outlined by Mrs. George Arbogast, Rev. and Mrs. Joseph W. Young and Mrs. Carl Smith.

During the business session plans were formulated to bowl each Friday in February at Kelso's. Mrs. Charles Thomas conducted the devotionals. Others presenting the program were Miss Virginia Hardinger, Miss Dorothy Streett, Miss Ethel Elbin, Miss Helen Alderton and Miss Edith Streett. A buffet lunch was served and a large birthday cake centered the table. Miss Louise Perdew and Miss Louella Perdew were in charge.

YOU CAN ENJOY GOOD HEALTH
STOMACH AILMENTS, WEAK KIDNEYS, RHEUMATIC PAINS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS and such complaints as Headaches, Nervousness, Acids Toxins, Bloating, Lack of Vitality, Energy, Poor Appetite, Underweight, Dizzy Spells.

Drugless Health!

REGARDLESS of how long you have been a sufferer, and how many medicines you have tried before, you can now hope for relief if you try GEO-MINERAL, the wonderful mineral aid. Feel and enjoy the results one week after you start taking it. GEO-MINERAL comes from the earth — Nature's laboratory. Contains NO alcohol, NO preservatives, NO oil. NO harmful drugs, NO dope — is NOT habit forming. Contains ONLY Nature's minerals, the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments — highly recommended by the medical profession.

FOR THOUSANDS of years ever since Hipocrates was the father of medicine, minerals and other natural medicines were a reliable remedy for most of our common ailments. GEO-MINERAL will enrich your blood, help to make you strong, full of pep, life and energy. If you suffer from nutritional anemia, nervousness, lack of vitality and energy see what GEO-MINERAL will do for you.

Amazing Results

MEDICAL records show 65% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional mineral-iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, tired, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite, when your eyes lack that bright spark, and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and life seems not worth living, with worry wearing you down—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. GEO-MINERAL is then what you need.

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid coddition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ills. People, on the advice of their doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgie. He was helped or would not have gone there twice a year.

Wonder Minerals

YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous water. We have all heard of the wondrous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

GEO-MINERAL contains minerals you get at the world's best springs. Watch your elimination from your bowels a day or two after using it. The waste, black as the color of your shoes, will start to break away, and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities — poisonous waste — coming out of your kidneys, relieving you. And then realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.

Read What They Say!

"We not only sell Geo-Mineral"—says G. A. Littlefield, Manager of Smith's Drug Store, Gastonia, N. C.—"but as pharmacists, we know good medicine, and we believe there is none better than Geo-Mineral as a supplement for mineral deficiency. Doctors, hospitals, sanatoriums know the value of natural minerals. We are not surprised at the many users who came back to buy more and told us stories of amazing benefit. We recommend it to our friends, relatives, and beloved ones, and to every one wishing for better health."

100% Guaranteed!

WE URGE everyone to try GEO-MINERAL. Do not hesitate one moment. Go to your drug store now. Get one bottle. Use it one week. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money.

Purple Heart, Auxiliary Plan Conventions

Tentative plans for the state convention of the Purple Heart and auxiliary here in June and the national convention in August were formulated at a meeting Tuesday night.

The local unit was congratulated by Mrs. Beatrice Donovan, Baltimore, national president, who was making her official visit. She commended it for its progress and work and reviewed her visits to 45 other groups in 20 states.

Other department officers attending were Mrs. Anna McCarthy, president; Mrs. Hazel Burke, treasurer; Mrs. Edith Reichert, secretary; Mrs. Johanna Weimer, marshal; Mrs. Vergie McFarland, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Gladys Mock, aide de camp; and Mrs. Juanita Loundy, executive committee woman, all of Mountain unit.

Mrs. Maurice Tichnell was initiated into the unit and a social hour concluded the evening. Guests from the McCoole and Keyser Units attended.

Group Marks Anniversary

The second anniversary of the Jean Roland Circle of Melvin Church was celebrated recently at the home of Miss Goldie Imes, Eastern Avenue. Activities of the group, including a bazaar, sending magazine subscriptions to the Kelso Home for Girls, and sending contributions to Jean Roland, missionary in China, were outlined by Mrs. George Arbogast, Rev. and Mrs. Joseph W. Young and Mrs. Carl Smith.

During the business session plans were formulated to bowl each Friday in February at Kelso's. Mrs. Charles Thomas conducted the devotionals. Others presenting the program were Miss Virginia Hardinger, Miss Dorothy Streett, Miss Ethel Elbin, Miss Helen Alderton and Miss Edith Streett. A buffet lunch was served and a large birthday cake centered the table. Miss Louise Perdew and Miss Louella Perdew were in charge.

Club Gives Dinner-Dance

A program by members and their guests marked the Valentine dinner dance of the Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club Tuesday night at Ali Ghan Country Club. It consisted of songs by Robert Webster, accompanied by Mrs. Webster; character impersonations by Mrs. Robert Brown and a discussion and demonstration of the ballet by Mrs. Lawrence Valentine.

Mrs. Russell Smalley presided and William Barger offered the invocation. Mrs. Herbert Schroeder announced the program.

Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Charles New, Russell Smalley, Herbert Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. William Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Rinner, Mr. and Mrs. William Allan, Lawrence Valentine, Robert Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Topper, Mr. and Mrs. John Byrd, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bush, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Paul, Mr. and Mrs. William Sherman, Mrs. William Barger, Mr. and Mrs. William Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. William Starrett, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. Therman Leasure, Mrs. Harry Jamison, Mr. and Mrs. William Mateer, Mrs. Red Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Nolan and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jacobi.

Auxiliary Plans Parties

Members of the VFW Auxiliary completed plans for its heart fund card party and a Valentine party for members at the meeting Tuesday night at the home. The former is to be held February 17, with Mrs. Marie Challinor and Mrs. Lillian Zimmerman, chairmen; and Mrs. Rosalie Everstine in charge of tickets. The latter is to be held February 16 with past heads of the post and auxiliary as guests. Mrs. Zimmerman will be in charge of entertainment and Mrs. Elizabeth Nave, refreshments.

Mrs. Grace Bosenberg reported a donation of $50 had been received from the Navy Mothers Club, to be added to the fund for the television set for Newton Baker Hospital.

Ridgeley Auxiliary Plans Benefit Dance

A Valentine dance to raise funds for needy children of the locality will be given by the Ladies Auxiliary of American Legion Post 136, Ridgeley, Monday night at the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club.

Pete Hopkins Band will play from 9 until midnight and a cake walk will feature the evening.

Mrs. Ruth Tabler is chairman. Her committee includes Mrs. Margaret Bennett, Mrs. Agnes McCullough, Mrs. Emma Ridgeley, Mrs. Mabel Edenhart, Mrs. Pauline Knieriem, Mrs. Boots McCullough, Mrs. Nellie Collins, Mrs. Katie Mullin, Mrs. Ruth Ridgeley, Mrs. Virginia Zimmerman, Mrs. Mary Edenhart, Mrs. Josephine Dailey, Mrs. Virginia Baker and Mrs. Lillian Duer.

Drugless Heaith!

REGARDLESS of how long you have been a sufferer, and how many medicines you have tried before, you can now hope for relief if you try GEO-MINERAL, the wonderful mineral aid. Feel and enjoy the results one week after you start taking it. GEO-MINERAL comes from the earth — Nature's laboratory. Contains NO alcohol, NO preservatives, NO oil. NO harmful drugs, NO dope — is NOT habit forming. Contains ONLY Nature's minerals, the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments — highly recommended by the medical profession.

FOR THOUSANDS of years ever since Hipocrates was the father of medicine, minerals and other natural medicines were a reliable remedy for most of our common ailments. GEO-MINERAL will enrich your blood, help to make you strong, full of pep, life and energy. If you suffer from nutritional anemia, nervousness, lack of vitality and energy see what GEO-MINERAL will do for you.

Amazing Results

MEDICAL records show 65% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional mineral-iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, tired, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite, when your eyes lack that bright spark, and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and life seems not worth living, with worry wearing you down—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. GEO-MINERAL is then what you need.

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid coddition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ills. People, on the advice of their doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgie. He was helped or would not have gone there twice a year.

Wonder Minerals

YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous water. We have all heard of the wondrous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

GEO-MINERAL contains minerals you get at the world's best springs. Watch your elimination from your bowels a day or two after using it. The waste, black as the color of your shoes, will start to break away, and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities — poisonous waste — coming out of your kidneys, relieving you. And then realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.

Read What They Say!

"We not only sell Geo-Mineral"—says G. A. Littlefield, Manager of Smith's Drug Store, Gastonia, N. C.—"but as pharmacists, we know good medicine, and we believe there is none better than Geo-Mineral as a supplement for mineral deficiency. Doctors, hospitals, sanatoriums know the value of natural minerals. We are not surprised at the many users who came back to buy more and told us stories of amazing benefit. We recommend it to our friends, relatives, and beloved ones, and to every one wishing for better health."

100% Guaranteed!

WE URGE everyone to try GEO-MINERAL. Do not hesitate one moment. Go to your drug store now. Get one bottle. Use it one week. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money.

REGARDLESS of how long you have been suffering, and how many medicines you have tried before, GEO-MINERAL may be the remedy you need!

Chinese Reds Agree To Meet Peace Mission

SHANGHAI, Feb. 9 (AP)—Chinese Communists in Peiping agreed today to talk with an unoffical Shanghai peace mission there Friday.

Even so, acting President Li Tsung-Jen was in consultation with his generals, one of whom talked tough.

This was Gen. Teng Wen-Yi, defense ministry spokesman. He told newsmen unconditional surrender is out of the question and that "we must prepare for war to obtain peace." Official quarters said he spoke with Li's approval.

(The Communist radio in North China called Li a "bougus acting president" trying to hold "the Yangtze River for American imperialists and Chiang Kai-Shek."

(In its strongest attack on Li to date, the radio accused the acting President of talking for peace so that Chiang Kai-Shek could have more time "to prepare behind the scenes for war."

(The broadcast referred to the government officials in Canton as "a bunch of war criminals." It said Premier Sun Fo and Foreign Minister Wu Te Chen had renewed their call for war at Canton after calling on Chiang Kai-Shek at Fenghaw "for instructions."

(As heard by the Associated Press at San Francisco, the broadcast declared this "indicates the true face of gang leader Chiang Kai-Shek's 'retirement.'" It predicted Chiang soon would return to office.

(Dispatches from Fenghaw to Nanking quoted Chiang's close friends, however, as saying he had retired definitely).

VICTIM OF GUNMAN—A postman lies wounded on a Dallas, Tex., sidewalk outside the postoffice and two men seek protection in back of a mail box when a berserk gunman barricaded in sixth floor room of YMCA swept the street intersection with gunfire yesterday. A negro boy was also hit.

Berserk Youth Sprays City Intersection With Bullets

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 9—(INS—A young gunman sprayed bullets on a busy downtown Dallas intersection for 20 minutes today, wounding two persons, one seriously, and sending half a hundred spectators scrambling for cover.

The marksman, who fired from his sixth-floor YMCA room into the street, was identified by police tonight as Charles A. Gordon, 28. Police collared him after firing two shots through his room door.

Two charges of assault with intent to murder were filed against Gordon.

A mail carrier, Theodore Thornton, 44, was hit in the head by one of the bullets fired by Gordon.

Thornton is now in an iron lung at Parkland Hospital. Attendants said his condition was critical.

A delivery boy, Willie Henry Rainbolt, 16, was shot in the leg while riding a bicycle near the intersection.

Police said that Gordon was given a medical discharge from the Navy in 1943 after receiving a severe electrical shock while on duty. They said that he was born in Houston, Tex., but moved with his familiy to Madera, Cal., when one year old. His family still lives there, they added.

Shortly after the mail carrier was shot, Robert H. Linskie was grazed on the leg by a bullet and another went through the brief case of an unidentified man. The coat of a woman, also unidentified, was pierced by a slug.

Czechs Campaign Against Religion

[By The Associated Press]

A new campaign against the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church in Czechoslovakia developed yesterday (Wed) in the wake of the Cardinal Mindszenty case.

In Poland, Roman Catholic teachings in the schools drew fire from two political quarters. At the same time the Communist-led Polish government denied a Catholic Bishop's charge that government officials were campaigning against religion in southern Poland.

A dispatch from Prague quoted the Czechoslovak News Bureau as saying action committees of the national front in Bratislava, capital of Slovakia, had been getting hundreds of protests that the Roman Catholic Church leadership does not take action against priests accused and even convicted of anti-state activities.

In Warsaw the Polish Democratic Party, a small but vocal group, called for a reduction of the teaching of Catholic religion in schools. The great majority of Poles are Roman Catholics.

Roman Zobrowski, Communist leader, declared the nation's youth must be enlightened on how to oppose "reactionary activities of politically-minded clergy carried on in the schools."

Bishop Stanislaw Adamski voiced the charge that government officials were campaigning against religion in southern Poland. He accused the officials of abolishing religious teachings and ordering crucifixes removed from school walls.

Grover Cleveland's first name was Stephen, but he dropped it in 1850.

Sets War Date

Negro 'Guilty' In Glen Burnie Double Slaying

BALTIMORE, Feb. 9 (AP)—Thomas Alexander Edwards, 23-year-old negro, was found guilty today of first degree murder for the slayings of a Glen Burnie couple.

Three judges returned the verdict after deliberating for more than one hour. They withheld sentence pending motion for a new trial.

The judges convicted Edwards of the murders of John H. Mahlan, 25-year-old postal worker, and Mary C. Kline, 18. They disappeared September 17 after going out on a date and their bodies were found three days later.

The trial, transferred here from Anne Arundel County, lasted six days.

The first degree murder conviction means either a sentence of death by hanging or life imprisonment.

The final arguments were heard today, starting off with the state's contention that the evidence points unerringly to Edwards.

Stress was laid on an 11-page statement which Edwards signed. The gist of it was that he almost was run down by a car which passed him on a road near his home southeast of Glen Burnie, followed it in anger to a clearing, and got into an argument with the driver.

He said he shot the man and knocked out the girl after she screamed and started running through the woods. He put her back into the car, drove 26 miles to another clearing west of Annapolis, dumped the couple out, shot the girl in the back of the head when she moaned, and returned the car to a spot near the first clearing.

Raging Ground Blizzards Throw Up Mountainous Drifts In West U. S.

Autos, Trains Are Blocked

[By The Associated Press]

Raging ground blizzards threw up new mountainous drifts on the snow-smothered western plains Wednesday, piling up fresh blockades to rail and auto travel.

They posed a new crisis for snowbound livestock and ranchers and left some 6,000 travelers stranded on choked roads and rail lines.

Southern Wyomnig, where wind velocity rose to 50 miles an hour at Sinclair, was put on the Army and Red Cross "critical" list. Of 43 passenger trains halted by drifts up to 18 feet deep, 26 were at Union Pacific stations in Wyoming.

The new drifts halted hundreds of automobiles. Many ranch families have been isolated since early January.

In South Dakota, visibility was zero at Philip, 90 miles east of Rapid City, as a 48-mile-an-hour wind drove scudding snow into recently opened roads, blocking them again.

While storms battered the west, a February "heat wave" sent the mercury soaring to record heights in the nation's east and south, and a new cold wave hit snow-plagued Nebraska.

February 9 heat records were broken in New York, which had 59 degrees; Baltimore, Md., where it was 69, and Mobile, Ala., which basked at 77.2. At Brownsville, Tex., the temperature reached 80.

Warmer weather also moved into California where all roads have been reopened after heavy mountain snows.

A cold wave drove into northern Nebraska on winds up to 50 miles an hour and the weather bureau forecast 10 below zero Thursday morning in the northwest part of the state.

Would Pay Damage

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Rep Sasscer (D-Md) introduced today a bill to pay $20,000 to Maryland for damages to oyster beds resulting from dredging by the Navy in the Patuxent and Severn Rivers.

ECA Distribution Is Broken Down

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Great Britain, France, Western Germany and Italy get the major shares of the $4,280,000,000 European recovery funds for 1950, ECA Chief Paul Hoffman disclosed today.

Hoffman gave the Senate Foreign Relations Committee a breakdown by countries of the funds asked for aid from July 1 to June 30, 1950.

He disclosed these funds have been earmarked: Britain $940,000,000; France $875,000,000; Italy $555,000,000; and Western Germany $404,000,000.

eral spending and that in perhaps 60 days the financial picture might be clarified sufficiently to take a look at Mr. Truman's tax plans.

Rep. Reed (R-NY), top Republican on the House Appropriations Committee, viewed George's flat opposition as meaning "there will be no tax bill this year."

He said Congress members will have their hands full slashing the new budget and "they'll be in trouble if they try to raise taxes any more."

Agriculture Department officials, meanwhile, were reported pushing plans to extend the government price support program to multi-billion dollar levels. Already the department has obligated more than $1,500,000 in federal funds to prop up a dozen major farm products.

A year ago only about three crops were under the support program, either by way of crop loans or government purchases of surpluses. Since then farm prices as a whole have dropped about 15 per cent below the postwar peak set last year.

but wanton persecution." That was as close as Acheson came to subscribing to accusations of torture, use of drugs and other tactics with which the Hungarians have been charged in the Mindszenty case.

3—The Hungarian government "must bear full responsibility for its action" in the case. This laid the basis for future, more vigorous action by the United States against Hungary, possibly the appeal to the UN.

4—The Mindszenty case and the cases of other communist-convicted church leaders fit into a deliberate pattern of the suppression of freedom and the extension of "totalitarian controls" over the country during the past two years.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Duke Gets His Tractor

Duke Thomas bought a farm with the money he'd saved in the Service, but he couldn't get a tractor. He needed it badly, but was tenth on the local dealer's list.

"Tell you what," old man Peters says. "If those nine fellows ahead of you agree, you'll get the next one I get in." "No, thanks," says Duke, "I'll just take my turn."

But old Peters mails out nine postcards. And the other day he tells Duke his tractor will be in next week. "I simply wrote the facts to the fellows ahead of you. They decided it."

From where I sit, it's that spirit of understanding that helps make our democracy so great. Understanding for the other fellow's problems and respect for the other fellow's rights—whether it's his right to earn a living, his right to cast his vote against your candidate, or even his right to enjoy a moderate, friendly glass of beer or ale—if and when he chooses. Let's always keep it that way!

Chinese Reds Agree To Meet Peace Mission

SHANGHAI, Feb. 9 (AP)—Chinese Communists in Peiping agreed today to talk with an unoffical Shanghai peace mission there Friday.

Even so, acting President Li Tsung-Jen was in consultation with his generals, one of whom talked tough.

This was Gen. Teng Wen-Yi, defense ministry spokesman. He told newsmen unconditional surrender is out of the question and that "we must prepare for war to obtain peace." Official quarters said he spoke with Li's approval.

(The Communist radio in North China called Li a "bougus acting president" trying to hold "the Yangtze River for American imperialists and Chiang Kai-Shek."

(In its strongest attack on Li to date, the radio accused the acting President of talking for peace so that Chiang Kai-Shek could have more time "to prepare behind the scenes for war."

(The broadcast referred to the government officials in Canton as "a bunch of war criminals." It said Premier Sun Fo and Foreign Minister Wu Te Chen had renewed their call for war at Canton after calling on Chiang Kai-Shek at Fenghaw "for instructions."

(As heard by the Associated Press at San Francisco, the broadcast declared this "indicates the true face of gang leader Chiang Kai-Shek's 'retirement.'" It predicted Chiang soon would return to office.

(Dispatches from Fenghaw to Nanking quoted Chiang's close friends, however, as saying he had retired definitely).

VICTIM OF GUNMAN—A postman lies wounded on a Dallas, Tex., sidewalk outside the postoffice and two men seek protection in back of a mail box when a berserk gunman barricaded in sixth floor room of YMCA swept the street intersection with gunfire yesterday. A negro boy was also hit.

Berserk Youth Sprays City Intersection With Bullets

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 9—(INS—A young gunman sprayed bullets on a busy downtown Dallas intersection for 20 minutes today, wounding two persons, one seriously, and sending half a hundred spectators scrambling for cover.

The marksman, who fired from his sixth-floor YMCA room into the street, was identified by police tonight as Charles A. Gordon, 28. Police collared him after firing two shots through his room door.

Two charges of assault with intent to murder were filed against Gordon.

A mail carrier, Theodore Thornton, 44, was hit in the head by one of the bullets fired by Gordon.

Thornton is now in an iron lung at Parkland Hospital. Attendants said his condition was critical.

A delivery boy, Willie Henry Rainbolt, 16, was shot in the leg while riding a bicycle near the intersection.

Police said that Gordon was given a medical discharge from the Navy in 1943 after receiving a severe electrical shock while on duty. They said that he was born in Houston, Tex., but moved with his familiy to Madera, Cal., when one year old. His family still lives there, they added.

Shortly after the mail carrier was shot, Robert H. Linskie was grazed on the leg by a bullet and another went through the brief case of an unidentified man. The coat of a woman, also unidentified, was pierced by a slug.

Czechs Campaign Against Religion

[By The Associated Press]

A new campaign against the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church in Czechoslovakia developed yesterday (Wed) in the wake of the Cardinal Mindszenty case.

In Poland, Roman Catholic teachings in the schools drew fire from two political quarters. At the same time the Communist-led Polish government denied a Catholic Bishop's charge that government officials were campaigning against religion in southern Poland.

A dispatch from Prague quoted the Czechoslovak News Bureau as saying action committees of the national front in Bratislava, capital of Slovakia, had been getting hundreds of protests that the Roman Catholic Church leadership does not take action against priests accused and even convicted of anti-state activities.

In Warsaw the Polish Democratic Party, a small but vocal group, called for a reduction of the teaching of Catholic religion in schools. The great majority of Poles are Roman Catholics.

Roman Zobrowski, Communist leader, declared the nation's youth must be enlightened on how to oppose "reactionary activities of politically-minded clergy carried on in the schools."

Bishop Stanislaw Adamski voiced the charge that government officials were campaigning against religion in southern Poland. He accused the officials of abolishing religious teachings and ordering crucifixes removed from school walls.

Grover Cleveland's first name was Stephen, but he dropped it in 1850.

Negro 'Guilty' In Glen Burnie Double Slaying

BALTIMORE, Feb. 9 (AP)—Thomas Alexander Edwards, 23-year-old negro, was found guilty today of first degree murder for the slayings of a Glen Burnie couple.

Three judges returned the verdict after deliberating for more than one hour. They withheld sentence pending motion for a new trial.

The judges convicted Edwards of the murders of John H. Mahlan, 25-year-old postal worker, and Mary C. Kline, 18. They disappeared September 17 after going out on a date and their bodies were found three days later.

The trial, transferred here from Anne Arundel County, lasted six days.

The first degree murder conviction means either a sentence of death by hanging or life imprisonment.

The final arguments were heard today, starting off with the state's contention that the evidence points unerringly to Edwards.

Stress was laid on an 11-page statement which Edwards signed. The gist of it was that he almost was run down by a car which passed him on a road near his home southeast of Glen Burnie, followed it in anger to a clearing, and got into an argument with the driver.

He said he shot the man and knocked out the girl after she screamed and started running through the woods. He put her back into the car, drove 26 miles to another clearing west of Annapolis, dumped the couple out, shot the girl in the back of the head when she moaned, and returned the car to a spot near the first clearing.

Raging Ground Blizzards Throw Up Mountainous Drifts In West U. S.

Autos, Trains Are Blocked

[By The Associated Press]

Raging ground blizzards threw up new mountainous drifts on the snow-smothered western plains Wednesday, piling up fresh blockades to rail and auto travel.

They posed a new crisis for snowbound livestock and ranchers and left some 6,000 travelers stranded on choked roads and rail lines.

Southern Wyomnig, where wind velocity rose to 50 miles an hour at Sinclair, was put on the Army and Red Cross "critical" list. Of 43 passenger trains halted by drifts up to 18 feet deep, 26 were at Union Pacific stations in Wyoming.

The new drifts halted hundreds of automobiles. Many ranch families have been isolated since early January.

In South Dakota, visibility was zero at Philip, 90 miles east of Rapid City, as a 48-mile-an-hour wind drove scudding snow into recently opened roads, blocking them again.

While storms battered the west, a February "heat wave" sent the mercury soaring to record heights in the nation's east and south, and a new cold wave hit snow-plagued Nebraska.

February 9 heat records were broken in New York, which had 59 degrees; Baltimore, Md., where it was 69, and Mobile, Ala., which basked at 77.2. At Brownsville, Tex., the temperature reached 80.

Warmer weather also moved into California where all roads have been reopened after heavy mountain snows.

A cold wave drove into northern Nebraska on winds up to 50 miles an hour and the weather bureau forecast 10 below zero Thursday morning in the northwest part of the state.

ECA Distribution Is Broken Down

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Great Britain, France, Western Germany and Italy get the major shares of the $4,280,000,000 European recovery funds for 1950, ECA Chief Paul Hoffman disclosed today.

Hoffman gave the Senate Foreign Relations Committee a breakdown by countries of the funds asked for aid from July 1 to June 30, 1950.

He disclosed these funds have been earmarked: Britain $940,000,000; France $875,000,000; Italy $555,000,000; and Western Germany $404,000,000.

eral spending and that in perhaps 60 days the financial picture might be clarified sufficiently to take a look at Mr. Truman's tax plans.

Rep. Reed (R-NY), top Republican on the House Appropriations Committee, viewed George's flat opposition as meaning "there will be no tax bill this year."

He said Congress members will have their hands full slashing the new budget and "they'll be in trouble if they try to raise taxes any more."

Agriculture Department officials, meanwhile, were reported pushing plans to extend the government price support program to multi-billion dollar levels. Already the department has obligated more than $1,500,000 in federal funds to prop up a dozen major farm products.

A year ago only about three crops were under the support program, either by way of crop loans or government purchases of surpluses. Since then farm prices as a whole have dropped about 15 per cent below the postwar peak set last year.

but wanton persecution." That was as close as Acheson came to subscribing to accusations of torture, use of drugs and other tactics with which the Hungarians have been charged in the Mindszenty case.

3—The Hungarian government "must bear full responsibility for its action" in the case. This laid the basis for future, more vigorous action by the United States against Hungary, possibly the appeal to the UN.

4—The Mindszenty case and the cases of other communist-convicted church leaders fit into a deliberate pattern of the suppression of freedom and the extension of "totalitarian controls" over the country during the past two years.

Here's Why:

More Income Taxes May Come Hard

WASHINGTON—If your income is $6,000 or more you may be asked to kick in more income tax.

President Truman told the Congress it might consider higher taxes on the "middle and upper income tax brackets." Later, at a press conference, he said the Treasury thinks that people who make $6,000 to $25,000 are in the "middle" bracket.

This is the "why" on two angles of that subject:

Very few people make $6,000 and over as compared with all the taxable persons in this country. The Congressional joint committee on internal taxation has figured there are only 2,415,000 out of 47,150,000 taxable persons in the country. About ten million returns fewer than that come in because of technicalities like the joint tax return.

Anyhow the difference lies between the 37,000,000 or so who send in returns, and the 2,415,000 whose incomes run $6,000 or more.

The average income of non-farm families is about $3,000. This is figured out by the Department of Commerce. The Department of Labor says the average factory worker gets about $54.49 a week.

It just means, says Congressional committee experts, that there may not be enough people in the middle and upper brackets to turn in a good, big chunk of taxes.

At his press conference President Truman implied that he thought higher income taxes on such people might mean another $2,000,000,000 in revenue for the government.

He had said he'd like to see government income increased by $4,000,000,000. He added that he only saw $2,000,000,000 quickly on hand.

He didn't say where the fast money would come from, but since he had suggested more income could be sought from two major sources—income taxes and corporation taxes—it was figured the income taxes would produce that first $2,000,000,000. It takes more time to collect corporation taxes.

What about the people who really make big chunks of income? They are already taxed pretty heavily, and tax experts say they won't yield much more. Right now the top tax rate is 77 per cent on any $500,000 or more earned by a single person. In that rarefied atmosphere there is a handsome allowance for a wife. On a married man the 77 percent tax rate only starts at $750,000, but there are comparatively few such families.

2. The cost of living experts in the Department of Labor point out why the $6,000 a year people are likely to protest. They probably don't think of themselves in the higher income brackets because of what has happened to prices.

The experts say:

An income of $6,000 a year in 1939 would have bought $10,000 worth of goods at today's prices.

Or turn that around. Because of prices an income of $6,000 today is about equal to an income of $3,600 in 1939.

There's a possibility that the wage earner now getting $6,000 a year (since it is a high salary compared to the wages other Americans get) was above fighting age and worked straight through the war on some civilian job.

The figures on his pay check have gone up. But what he has been able to buy has either remained the same, or slipped a little. So he feels no richer. Hence the expected squawk from the $6,000-year-people.

Mathematically the Labor Department's cost of living index shows that the cost of things an average, middle-income, city family bought in 1939 stood at the index figure of 98.6 in 1939. They now stand at 172.2.

POWER PLANT that uses its Head!

THIS is the husky thrill-producer you find filling the bonnet of any 1949 Buick.

Look it over and you'll observe, among other things, that it is a valve-in-head straight-eight.

In simple language, this means that years ago Buick engineers lifted the valves from the side of the cylinder and put them on top—with some immediate advantages.

Such an engine "breathes" better. Gets a full, even charge on every intake—exhausts spent gases more easily—enjoys extra power, life and ginger.

And in such engines, compression ratios are relatively easy to establish. To step them up, the head is merely brought closer to the piston—no extra problems are presented getting fuel in and exhaust out.

Thus Buick power can—and has—kept pace with progress in fuels. Compression ratios suit gasolines actually available—and there's no waiting for tomorrow's gasolines to get full performance.

There are other things to notice about this engine.

It's a Fireball power plant—uses a special and exclusive type of piston that gets more good out of each fuel charge.

And it speaks with soft, new quiet. Self-setting valve lifters automatically keep valves properly seated, ending tappet noises for good.

With gasolines getting better, the swing to valve-in-head design will undoubtedly grow stronger. But that is what Buick has had all along—a power plant that uses its head to give extra lift and thrill.

That's enough reason to see your Buick dealer now, with or without a car to trade, to get your order in.

The figures on his pay check have gone up. But what he has been able to buy has either remained the same, or slipped a little. So he feels no richer. Hence the expected squawk from the $6,000-year-people.

Mathematically the Labor Department's cost of living index shows that the cost of things an average, middle-income, city family bought in 1939 stood at the index figure of 98.6 in 1939. They now stand at 172.2.

POWER PLANT

that uses its Head!

THIS is the husky thrill-producer you find filling the bonnet of any 1949 Buick.

Look it over and you'll observe, among other things, that it is a valve-in-head straight-eight.

In simple language, this means that years ago Buick engineers lifted the valves from the side of the cylinder and put them on top—with some immediate advantages.

Such an engine "breathes" better. Gets a full, even charge on every intake—exhausts spent gases more easily—enjoys extra power, life and ginger.

And in such engines, compression ratios are relatively easy to establish. To step them up, the head is merely brought closer to the piston—no extra problems are presented getting fuel in and exhaust out.

Thus Buick power can—and has—kept pace with progress in fuels. Compression ratios suit gasolines actually available—and there's no waiting for tomorrow's gasolines to get full performance.

There are other things to notice about this engine.

It's a Fireball power plant—uses a special and exclusive type of piston that gets more good out of each fuel charge.

And it speaks with soft, new quiet. Self-setting valve lifters automatically keep valves properly seated, ending tappet noises for good.

With gasolines getting better, the swing to valve-in-head design will undoubtedly grow stronger. But that is what Buick has had all along—a power plant that uses its head to give extra lift and thrill.

That's enough reason to see your Buick dealer now, with or without a car to trade, to get your order in.

Public discussion of Stalin's so-called "peaceful" aims is a good thing, but in a way any thought of Russia and the future should be based on a knowledge of how the Soviet leaders have acted in recent years.

It may or may not be pertinent that such actions have been taken with the approval in some instances, and the mere acquiescence in others, of our President and his predecessor.

President Truman, in fact, has expressed the view that there is a split in the politbureau and that some Russians want to make a settlement with us to assure peace forever.

It is absurd to talk about making peace with the present rulers of Russia. Every citizen should understand why it is absurd. To be forewarned is to be fore-armed.

On the face of it, the Russian leaders never have been honest with their own people, so how could we expect them to be honest with us? Stalin has the blood of millions of his own citizens on his hands. Literally millions have been slaughtered in purges at one time or another in the vast expanses of Soviet Russia.

And a bare outline of the recent actions of Russia give a hollow sound to any person's voice who claims that the Soviet leaders want to do anything except destroy every non-Communist government on earth.

• — • — •

Here are some facts. Keep them in mind always, when you read news about Russia.

First under Roosevelt and later under Truman, the Soviet leaders with our approval or acquiescence swallowed up Poland, Rumania, Hungary, Esthonia, Latvia, Lithuania, a half of Germany, most of Finland, virtually all of the important part of China, and extraneous other territories.

Year in and year out, with never a pause, the Soviet rulers have had their underlings and stooges in the United States, France Germany, England, Canada and throughout South America and every other semi-free country, to create confusion and to engage in ideological, economic and, in some instances, Industrial sabotage.

There never has been the slightest indication that this war of conquest by internal war on free governments has stopped, or will stop.

For more than nine months, the Russians have made us feed Berlin by airlift costing us untold millions in expenses and the lives of some of our finest men. Without let-up, Radio Moscow, Pravda, and every other Russian organ of opinion has attempted to mislead the teaming millions of Russia and of other lands into turning against us.

It seems basic to me, and to most Congressmen, that the U. S. Government is going to have to get much tougher with Russia if we are to have any kind of freedom left on earth. And it seems elementary that no one, least of all the President, should discuss the idea of conferring with Stalin, or anybody else, until the Russian leaders have shown with deeds that they are going to retract some of the wrongs they have committed against the world and the people therein.

The Russians have every opportuniyt to remove the Berlin blockade, to withdraw from Bulgaria and Esthonia and Latvia and Lithuania and Poland and Finland and China and to take their ...ies out of Washington, Havana, London, Ottawa and other world ...apitals. But they won't. Until they ...o, it is stupid of us to be misled by ...hat they say. What they are doing ...s far more expressive than anything ...hey can say.

UNDER THE DOME

I introduced bills this week authorizing the purchase of new post office sites at the following places in my District which have been recommended by the Post Office Department for new offices: Brunswick, Emmitsburg, Gaithersburg, Hancock, Kensington, Lonaconing, Silver Spring, Thurmont, Westernport and Woodsboro.

The Speaker appointed me to the U. S. Commission for the construction of a Washington-Lincoln Memorial—Gettysburg Boulevard. I have served on this commission before and have been very much interested in such a project.

Bids were opened by the District Engineers for the first phase of the work to complete the Savage River Dam. The actual work should begin in the very near future. I certainly mean to do everything possible to secure further appropriations this year to continue the work. The budget for 1950 carries the amount of $1,700,000 for the Savage River Dam.

I attended a meeting of the Public Works Committee at which the Chief of Engineers, the Assistant administrator of Public Works and the Director of Public Roads Administration discussed the national situation regarding public works. ...also attended a meeting of the Public Service Sub-Committee of the ...trict Committee when legislation ...increase the salaries of the police ...d firemen of the District was considered. I had introduced similar legislation in the 80th Congress which passed the House but failed to pass the Senate. I also appeared before the Board of Veterans Appeals on two appeal cases and I am very hopeful that favorable action will be taken on these cases.

Taxation Provides Italians With Hide And Seek Game

ROME (AP)—In Italy income tax collection is considered just a good, clean game of hide-and-seek between citizens and government. Corporation taxes are pretty largely immune too. Tax evasion is no penal offense, and nobody (at least, nobody you would be likely to meet socially) looks down on you for keeping your money to yourself.

But unless you live on gilt-edged coupon clippings, don't make your reservation for Italy. You'll pay your full income taxes if you are on salary, because they will be withheld from your pay. You will also find yourself the chief support of the nation, paying sales taxes.

The life of a wage earner here is frustrating enough, but the life of a businessman is worse. He has to figure sales taxes in on everything he plans to make or sell, or both. There is a little pleasure killer known as the transaction tax—three per cent every time an article changes ownership. Almost all businessmen, too, have little boys or old men who sit outside their offices with mounds of stamps and wet sponges. Every business document has to have a stamp affixed to it, or many stamps.

The tax structure has not been house-cleaned in Italy since about the early Christian times. New taxes are just piled on old ones. A tax expert here estimated that if any businessman paid all the taxes the law requires he would put out at least 104 per cent of his income. So all businessmen keep anywhere from two to four sets of books, depending on how many people the nature of their business requires them to kid.

But there is a banking secrets law that hides your assets—even in the national bank—from the government. So the government estimates your tax value on such things as whether you have a season ticket to the opera, a car, a house, a factory, and who your tailor is. Naturally, as the government has little or no real proof, you can and do fight every assessment through all the courts the law allows. It allows six courts. You can stay in them about four years, all delays considered. If you finally have to pay, inflation has cut your assessment to only a fraction of its original real value.

With encouragement from the Economic Co-operation Administration the Italian government is thinking of abolishing that banking secrets law, and making it a jail offense to evade taxes. There have been some pretty indignant comments about these proposed invasions of privacy.

By GEORGE M. ADAMS

When Stars Shine

It is only upon the clearest nights, when there are no clouds in the sky, that the stars come out in all their glory and serenity. How soothing to the mind such a night—so clear and still! The very sight is medicine to the soul.

Every one of us was created and put into this world to be reasonably happy. Each one of us is given a personal key to our own selected end, or to our own destiny, as you may choose to state it. It is largely in our own hands as to whether we want to look into an unclouded sky, with the stars shining a welcome to use, or else to fill that sky with clouds, shutting all the stars from our view.

We can see little that is beautiful and inspiring in life, when we harbor bitterness, mean thoughts, and destructive ideas. If we harbor hatred, and go about our work with a sour looking face, with no smile or greeting for those with whom we come in contact, the atmosphere about us is one of clouds and darkness—and no stars will shine for us.

You see it's the clouds that shut out those shining stars, for though you may not see them, because of clouds, they are up there with all their magic glow just the same. You can't control Nature's clouds, but you can your own, by dismissing your sorrows, troubles, and petty irritations thereby getting that comforting feeling that the silent night gives to one in a full heaven of stars!

I never look into a night sky, that is studded with its billions of stars, without a feeling of reverence for the Creator of such a stupendous miracle. Never do I cease to be filled with wonder as my eyes look upward. I am inspired. I feel my littleness. I become humble. Then I think of the small world, comparatively, that is my abode—just a tiny speck in a universe of perhaps billions of other worlds of which man now knows nothing.

Merely looking into the stars, upon a perfect night, is enough to melt all our anxieties, inviting us to enjoy peace, and to radiate among our kind, all the joy, through faith, that we have received from the Creator of these stars.

It Says Here
By BOB HOPE

We flew into Toledo and the cast received a rare treat. They had an afternoon off to do what they pleased.

Les Brown's band went over to see Woody Herman's band, which is playing here in town, and when the two bands got together it was great. They all flew in formation and when they got up to 18,000 feet, they spelled out love letters to Petrillo.

Woody Herman's orchestra plays be-bop and you could see their influence on Les's boys when they played that evening. Their first number was: "Rose of Washington Round."

Hy Averback, actor that he is, went over to see Judith Anderson in "Medea," that great Greek tragedy. At our show in the evening I threw him his cue line and he walked out in a seersucker toga with an acanthus leaf in his lapel.

Doris Day and Irene Ryan did some shopping in their free hours. Doris went to a shoe store and got two lovely pairs of shoes. Irene went to a doctor and bought five beautiful new ailments.

Billy Farrell, our blasting young baritone, spent the afternoon in his hotel room with the window open inging to an old girl friend in Miami.

The Titans—our acrobatic act—ere out trying to dig up new maerial for their act. At 3 p. m. they ere seen sneaking out of the back loor of Adonis John — the used muscle dealer.

As for me, I had my afternoon work cut out for me. Of course it would have been easier if I'd found a laundromat. I don't mind this so much, but it does get me sore when Hy and Billy demand more starch in the collars.

Taxation Provides Italians With Hide And Seek Game

ROME (AP)—In Italy income tax collection is considered just a good, clean game of hide-and-seek between citizens and government. Corporation taxes are pretty largely immune too. Tax evasion is no penal offense, and nobody (at least, nobody you would be likely to meet socially) looks down on you for keeping your money to yourself.

But unless you live on gilt-edged coupon clippings, don't make your reservation for Italy. You'll pay your full income taxes if you are on salary, because they will be withheld from your pay. You will also find yourself the chief support of the nation, paying sales taxes.

The life of a wage earner here is frustrating enough, but the life of a businessman is worse. He has to figure sales taxes in on everything he plans to make or sell, or both. There is a little pleasure killer known as the transaction tax—three per cent every time an article changes ownership. Almost all businessmen, too, have little boys or old men who sit outside their offices with mounds of stamps and wet sponges. Every business document has to have a stamp affixed to it, or many stamps.

The tax structure has not been house-cleaned in Italy since about the early Christian times. New taxes are just piled on old ones. A tax expert here estimated that if any businessman paid all the taxes the law requires he would put out at least 104 per cent of his income. So all businessmen keep anywhere from two to four sets of books, depending on how many people the nature of their business requires them to kid.

But there is a banking secrets law that hides your assets—even in the national bank—from the government. So the government estimates your tax value on such things as whether you have a season ticket to the opera, a car, a house, a factory, and who your tailor is. Naturally, as the government has little or no real proof, you can and do fight every assessment through all the courts the law allows. It allows six courts. You can stay in them about four years, all delays considered. If you finally have to pay, inflation has cut your assessment to only a fraction of its original real value.

With encouragement from the Economic Co-operation Administration the Italian government is thinking of abolishing that banking secrets law, and making it a jail offense to evade taxes. There have been some pretty indignant comments about these proposed invasions of privacy.

When Stars Shine

It is only upon the clearest nights, when there are no clouds in the sky, that the stars come out in all their glory and serenity. How soothing to the mind such a night—so clear and still! The very sight is medicine to the soul.

Every one of us was created and put into this world to be reasonably happy. Each one of us is given a personal key to our own selected end, or to our own destiny, as you may choose to state it. It is largely in our own hands as to whether we want to look into an unclouded sky, with the stars shining a welcome to use, or else to fill that sky with clouds, shutting all the stars from our view.

We can see little that is beautiful and inspiring in life, when we harbor bitterness, mean thoughts, and destructive ideas. If we harbor hatred, and g about our work with a sour looking face, with no smile or greeting for those with whom we come in contact, the atmosphere about us is one of clouds and darkness—and no stars will shine for us.

You see it's the clouds that shut out those shining stars, for though you may not see them, because of clouds, they are up there with all their magic glow just the same. You can't control Nature's clouds, but you can your own, by dismissing your sorrows, troubles, and petty irritations thereby getting that comforting feeling that the silent night gives to one in a full heaven of stars!

I never look into a night sky, that is studded with its billions of stars, without a feeling of reverence for the Creator of such a stupendous miracle. Never do I cease to be filled with wonder as my eyes look upward. I am inspired. I feel my littleness. I become humble. Then I think of the small world, comparatively, that is my abode—just a tiny speck in a universe of perhaps billions of other worlds of which man now knows nothing.

Merely looking into the stars, upon a perfect night, is enough to melt all our anxieties, inviting us to enjoy peace, and to radiate among our kind, all the joy, through faith, that we have received from the Creator of these stars.

Cumberland's Dukes, now holding second place in the All-American Professional Basketball League as a result of Washington's 79-78 victory over the Altoona Flyers on Monday night, will resume action in the six-club circuit tonight when they play the "Generals" tonight at Washington, Pa.

Bob Whip, business manager of the Dukes, last night announced that the Washington team has been reorganized and revamped and will be known as the "Generals" instead of the "Jewels" for the remainder of the season. "Mo" Becker, one-time Duquesne University ace and formerly of the Altoona Flyers, is playing coach of the Washington team and Joseph Manfredi has been retained as business manager.

Defeated Generals Twice

The Dukes and Washington have met twice this season with Coach Louis H. "Red" Klotz's cagers being returned the victors both times. Cumberland won at Washington on December 16 by the score of 71-67. The score of the return game here January 2 was 64-43.

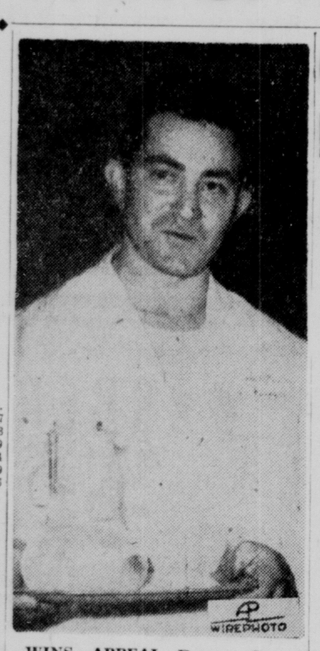

Ten days have elapsed since Cumberland has played an All-American League game. The Dukes' last league tilt was staged here January 30 when the locals took Butler's Cubs into camp, 66-59.

The Dukes play their next league game at home on Sunday with the Washington Generals providing the opposition.

Altoona Loses Protest

Altoona suffered an additional reversal with the Washington club when the Flyers' 53-49 decision over the Generals at Altoona Jan. 26 was cancelled and the game ordered replayed at a later date by the league headquarters when a Washington protest on an ineligible player was allowed.

Prior to the contest Altoona had signed Fred Weimer, just released by Butler's Cubs, and used him against Washington but the 36-hour interval between a player's signing and playing was not observed and Washington protested. The decision by the league's commissioner, C. A. "Chick" Davies, took a win from the Flyers and a loss from the Generals.

WINS APPEAL—Danny Gardella (above), former major league baseball player, now working as an orderly in a hospital in Mt. Vernon, N. Y., won his appeal to the U. S. Court of Appeals which permits him to go ahead with his $300,000 damage suit against organized baseball, which he claims deprived him of a livelihood. Gardella is under suspension for jumping to the Mexican League in 1946.

Steiner's Goal Trips B&O In "Y" Thriller

Amvets Edge Railroad Crew By 40-39 Tally

Jack Steiner's field goal with less than five second to play gave Coach Robert "Ace" Baker's Cumberland Amvets a thrilling 40-39 victory over the B & O Backshop five last night in the headliner of the Central YMCA's Senior Men's Basketball League.

The B & O quint, undefeated previously in the second half race, trailed all the way in the well-played, hard-fought battle until Mil Dean's fielder with less than 15 seconds remaining put them ahead 39-38 for the first time, but the lead was short lived as Steiner, refusing a foul toss, took the ball on an out of bounds play and tallied the clinching goal for the Amvets. Norman Mason topped winners with 17 points while Dean also got 17 for the Railroaders.

In the other loop battle played last night on the "Y" court the Marine Reserves took the B.P.O. Elks into camp by the score of 38 to 15.

Cunningham and Shore paced the victors with 16 and 11 points while Parson scored two of the losers' five field goals. The Lineups:

Mounties Edge Nittany Lions

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Feb. 9 (AP)—An underdog Penn State basketball team threw a scare into West Virginia tonight before succumbing, 49-47.

The Mountaineers had to come from behind in the second half and then freeze the ball for the last minute to notch their 11th win in 16 games. The defeat was the seventh for Penn State which has won only three.

Fred Schaus of Newark, O., six-foot, five-inch forward, led West Virginia with 23 points. He and Eddie Sterling hit for a basket apiece in the last two minutes to snatch the victory. Lineups:

Gardella Gets Okay To Press Damage Suit Against Baseball

Court Reverses Its Decision; Former Giant Wants $300,000

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP) — Danny Gardella, a wartime ball player who jumped to the Mexican League, today was given the green light to proceed with a $300,000 damage suit against organized baseball which he claims has deprived him of means of livelihood.

In a split decision, 2-1, the U. S. Court of Appeals ruled that increased use of radio and television has impressed upon baseball "an interstate character," bringing it within provisions of the anti-trust laws.

Suit Charges Monopoly

Gardella's suit, brought against Commissioner A. B. Chandler, the New York Giants and the presidents of the two major leagues, charges that baseball is a monopoly because of the "reserve clause" which binds a player to one club.

Without the clause, a player could offer his services each year to the highest bidder. Chaos would result, officials of the game declare, if the reserve clause ever is successfully attacked.

Baseball wouldn't be the only sport attacked since most other professional sports — football, basketball, hockey — operate under similar provisions.

Today's decision, written by Senior Judge Learned Hand, reverses a ruling made last July 14 by Judge Henry Goddard in Federal District Court, when he dismissed Gardella's suit before trial. The reversal came as a shock to the leaders of the national game.

Baseball Is Interstate

Judge Goddard's ruling was based upon the opinion — frequently challenged in the past — that baseball is not engaged in trade or commerce under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act. In today's decision Judge Hand wrote:

"When the case goes back for trial — assuming that it does upon our opinion — it will be necessary, as I view it, to determine whether all the interstate activities, those which were thought insufficient before, in conjunction with broadcasting and television, together from a large enough part of the business to impress upon it an interstate character."

Judge Hand did not rule today on the reserve clause, but Judge Jerome N. Frank, who concurred with him in the decision, commented that the clause is "something resembling peonage of the baseball player."

Works In Hospital

Gardella, a short, heavily-muscled player who hit well for the Giants in 1945 but left something to be desired in his fielding, is under a five-year suspension which was slapped on him by Commissioner Chandler after he jumped to the Mexican League in the spring of '46.

He played in Canada last summer and for the past two months has been employed in a hospital at Mt. Vernon, N. Y., on the night shift. Advised of today's decision, he burst out: "Just say I'm glad — we'll push it to the limit."

The central figure in a case which might stand organized baseball on its ears said he was too busy with his duties as an orderly to comment further.

His attorney, Frederic A. Johnson, was more voluble. He said "we'll go right to trial," but pointed out that the defense will have 20 days in which to file an answer to the decision of the Appeals Court.

Piedmont At Keyser Feb. 16; AHS-Fort Hill Date Is Unchanged

Coach John Shelton of Keyser High School announced yesterday that the Piedmont-Keyser game scheduled for Tuesday, February 15 at Keyser has been changed to Wednesday, February 16.

The date was changed so as not to conflict with the Potomac State-Davis and Elkins College game set for February 15.

The Fort Hill-Allegany game set for the Fort Hill court Friday, February 18, will be played as scheduled, Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh of the Sentinels announced last night.

A number of inquiries had been made regarding this game due to the Horace Heidt show being scheduled at Fort Hill High School's auditorium February 17 and 18.

Moran Takes Lead In WMI Scoring Race

Gets 20 Points As Bruce Wins 64-35

WESTERNPORT, Feb. 9 — Big Don Moran poured in 20 points to take a commanding lead in the WMI League scoring race as Bruce High of Westernport walloped Barton High's Braves tonight by the score of 64 to 35.

The husky Westernport center hit the nets for 11 of his team's 15 points in the first quarter and collected five more in the second and two in each the third and final periods.

Moran now has a total of 110 points while the former leader, Ed Landefeld of Allegany, has 98.

Barton's sophomore ace, Arnold Tichnell, the league's fourth best scorer, collected nine markers in a losing cause.

McKenzie, Devore, Moran and Cain shared 57 points for Bruce as the locals won their eighth victory as against five defeats. Bruce has won four of seven in the six-club circuit.

Dutch Woman Sets New Running Mark

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 9 (AP)—Mrs. Fanny Blankers-Koen of Holland, feminine star of the last Olympics, lowered her Australian 200-meter hurdle record for the third time tonight when she won the event at the Hurstville Oval near here in 11.3 seconds.

Her time, a tenth of a second better than the Australian mark she set only last Saturday, was only one-tenth off the world record she established in the London Olympics.

Terps-LSU Bouts Off

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 9 (AP)—The Louisiana State-University of Maryland boxing matches have been postponed to 8 p. m. Friday, athletic rector T. P. Heard of LSU announced today.

The matches originally were scheduled here for tomorrow night.

Ray Bean-Jimmy Miles Bout Is Added By Green

Fifth Match Set On St. Mary's Program

Matchmaker Albert "Bobby" Green of the St. Mary's Boys Club has added a fifth bout to his all-star fistic carnival slated for Monday night at the State Armory with the addition of Ray Bean, Diamond A. C. welterweight and Jimmy Miles, 143-pounder from Washington, D. C.

The Bean-Miles three-rounder is the third top-notch scrap scheduled by Green, the others including Jimmy Folk-Ray Stolone and Leon Daughtry and Homer Boone.

Daughtry is the Washington, D. C. Golden Glover who defeated Randall "Skeets" Starkey in his only appearance here. Boone, a Lewistown, Pa., welterweight has won five consesutive starts in Cumberland including a decision over Starkey.

Folk, popular Royale A. C. featherweight, has been meeting all comers lately and his battle with Stalone, of Lewistown, promises to be a sure drawing card for local mitt fans.

Folk and Stalone put on a slambang affair at the armory September 8 with Folk getting the nod.

Green is also attempting to build up his card by finding an opponent from Lewistown for the Wiley Ford flash, Starkey, but has had no success to date.

In a pair of prelims "Sonny" Lafferty of St. Mary's will fight Jack Thomas, Lewistown, and Frankie Lisanti, St. Mary's, will oppose Bill Salvador, Lewistown, lightweight.

Next Monday's show will start at 8:15 p. m.

Tickets are on sale at Wilson Hardware Co. and McGee's Tavern, Maryland Avenue.

Moorefield Moose Wins 12th Game

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Feb. 9—The Moorefield Moose quint won its 12th game in 17 starts by walloping the Keyser Armed Guard tonight by the score of 59 to 32.

Welton paced the winners with 17 points while Householder and Shaffer shared 22 points for Keyser.

Keyser made a ball game of it for a half leading 7-6 at the quarter and trailing 19-17 at intermission but faded in the final half. Moorefield led 40-26 at the close of the third period.

Moorefield will play the Petersburg Odd Fellows Monday night in a benefit game for the March of Dimes here. In the preliminary contest the Moorefield Alumni girls team lost to Petersburg Alumni sextet, 17-16. The lineups:

Mt. Savage Team Meets

MT. SAVAGE, Feb. 9—The Mt. Savage Baseball Club of the Bi-State League met Tuesday evening in the Firemen's Hall and elected officers.

George Shaffer was named vice-president; George Bishields, president and George Koontz, secretary-treasurer. Another meeting will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. in the Hall with local citizens to discuss reorganization plans.

Texas Open Set To Begin Today

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 9 (AP)—Golf's big guns unlimbered on two courses here today in tune-up rounds for the $10,000 Texas Open and par was taking an early trimming.

A field of some 270, 185 of them professionals, will move out tomorrow in the opening 18-hole round with Jimmie Demaret, the Ojai, Calif., trubador, the hottest favorite to capture first money.

Jimmie was expected to get strongest competition from Johnny Palmer, of Badin, N. C., and Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who captured first money last year with 264 for the 72 holes.

Part of the field, these including the big names, will shoot the first round tomorrow over the 6,379-yard fort Sam Houston course where par is 35-36—71. The others will play over Brackenridge Park's 6,400-yard par 36-35—71. Friday they will change courses. The low 60 scorers and ties of the first two rounds will go into the final 36 holes to be played over the Brackenridge Course.

The University of Maryland will stage its second Invitation Indoor Track meet at College Park on Feb 19.

Tommy Henrich Signs 1949 Yanks Contract

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP)—Tommy Henrich signed his 1949 contract with the New York Yankees today at a salary believed to be at least $10,00 above the $25,000 he was reported to have received in 1948.

Henrich, who bats and throws left-handed, appeared in 146 games last season and batted .308. He collected 181 hits and drove in 100 runs in 1948, the best of his nine seasons in the major leagues.

The Yankee slugger, who comes from Massillon, Ohio, will be 32 years old this month.

Potomac Park Wins 9th Straight Game

Pittsburgh Buys Judnich From Indians

CLEVELAND, Feb. 9 (INS)—The Cleveland Indians today sent Outfielder Walt Judnich to the Pittsburgh Pirates for an undisclosed sum of cash.

The straight cash deal will allow Judnich to rejoin his former St. Louis Browns teammate Bob Muncrief once again. Muncrief, a pitcher, and Judnich were obtained by the Indians from the Browns last season. Earlier this winter, the Tribe shipped Muncrief to Pittsburgh.

Jorgenson Signs

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 9 (INS)—Johnny (Spider) Jorgenson announced today from his home in El Paso that he has signed his 1949 Brooklyn Dodger contract.

The third baseman, who spent most of last season with St. Paul in the American Association, said he is completely recovered from the shoulder injury suffered last summer. Jorgenson didn't mention his salary.

Lee Savold May Have Ring Title Dumped On Lap

Fans Can't Visualize Charles-Louis Fight

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP) — The way the heavyweight situation is developing Lee Savold may be able to sit in his easy chair and have the title dumped on his lap. Through squatters' rights, you might say.

Naturally such an eventuality would hinge upon a decision by Joe Louis, who because unretired after retiring, to retire again without another title defense. That is far from a remote possibility.

The only other fighter who has been mentioned seriously as a contender is Ezzard Charles, who seems to be resolutely carrying out a campaign of self elimination.

Fails To Impress

Charles cleared a big hurdle in his campaign this week when he fought a large gent named Johnny Haynes. Haynes was knocked out, but from what we gather Charles did not add to his prestige in the victory. The fans just couldn't visualize him in the same ring with Louis.

Although Charles must be admired for his willingness to take chances with big guys and possibly get knocked clean out of the title picture, it must be admitted that Savold is playing the more cagey game.

On his record Savold just doesn't rate, but a combination of circumstances has elevated him to a position he couldn't attain in his prime, whenever that was.

One of the circumstances is that, with the exception of Charles, there is nobady else around who could be considered a contender. Maybe Jersey Joe Walcott, who probably still could give the champion the toughest fight, but the two Joes couldn't draw a deep breath at the gate in a third meeting. The odor of the last one still lingers around Yankee Stadium on muddy days.

Joe Blows 'em Down

Louis himself is eliminating guys who at one time or another were mentioned as contenders. He's been browsing about the country blowing over the gents in exhibitions. Maybe not knocking them out, as the men wear feather beds laced to their hands. But he leaves no doubt as to who is boss.

So with Charles shooting craps with his own destiny, and not making his points, and Louis taking care of the rest of the field, Savold is left in the position where all he has to do is sit tight. Which is more than he could do when they derricked him onto a horse for a ride to the hounds in England.

One thing Louis' recent exhibition tour did, it gave thousands of fans over the country a chance to see him in action, if such bouts provide that.

In the nearly 12 years since he won the title he's become something of a legend, a fabulous figure, to the millions who never had seen him, and it is only natural that those given the opportunty to just gaze at him in a routine sparring match would jump at the chance.

Tries To Give Action

From what we gather they have not been disappointed. Louis has tried to give them action for their money, and has shown enough of his old skill to make them think he is still great.

That is, he is so much better than the fighters they have been seeing that, by comparison, he looks wonderful. Only those who have been seeing him for years, and remember what he was like in his prime, realize the toll the years have taken.

Scott Loses Race With The Stork

LAKE VILLAGE, Ark., Feb. 9 (AP)—Clyde Scott, one of the world's fastest runners, lost a race with the stork.

The football and Olympic star from the University of Arkansas, arrived at a Greenville, Miss. hospital two hours after his wife gave birth to a six-pound, 12-ounce son yesterday. He had been in Philadelphia to sign a contract with that city's professional grid team.

Zion Team Wins

Zion reformed defeated Narrows Park 60-47 last night at Campobello in a practice tilt. Both teams belong to the Central YMCA Sunday School Basketball League.

Gene Kerr paced the winners with 20 points while Charley Ellsworth had 19 for the Parkers.

Beall Cagers And Allegany To Meet Here

Potomac State Quint Opens 3-Day Road Trip At Bluefield College

Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks, back in first place in the Potomac Valley Conference, will battle it out with Romney High's Pioneers in an important game tonight at Romney.

Coach Riggleman's aggregation had a tough time turning back Dick McElwee's cagers several weeks ago at Ridgeley by the score of 45-42 and may run into trouble tonight.

The Blackhawks have copped six out of seven games in the conference while Romney's PVC record is three wins and five losses. One of Romney's recent wins is a 29-27 decision over Petersburg which spilled Keyser on Tuesday night by the score of 42-35.

Allegany Host To Beall

Allegany High, jolted on Tuesday night at Central in a game that might have been the turning point in the W.M.I. championship race, will be striving to get back in the win column when it meets Beall High in a county league tilt tonight at 8 o'clock at Campobello.

Beall High seems to have the "hard luck" ball club of 1949. Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's passers have lost four heart-breakers in the past two weeks by from one to four points. The Mountaineers dropped 41-39 and 29-27 battles to Keyser and Piedmont, lost a 34-30 decision to Ridgeley and last but not least was nosed out by Fort Hill Tuesday night in the closing seconds of play 35-34.

Davis Invades Keyser

The high-flying Davis (W. Va.) Wildcats, victorious in 11 of 14 games, come to Keyser tonight to test Coach John Shelton's Keyser High floormen. Davis has scalped Greenbank, Masontown, Parsons, Circleville, Thomas and Franklin in that order but should find Keyser hard to beat on its home floor. The Keyserites have won 10 out of 15 games played to date.

In another PVC contest on tap for tonight Elk Garden is slated to invade Fort Ashby to battle Coach Tom Small's Fort Ashby Eagles.

Catamounts Make Road Trip

Coach Dana Lough's Potomac State School cagers of Keyser, now one game below the .500 mark in games won and lost, hit the road tonight for three West Virginia Conference games in as many days.

The Catamounts meet Bluefield College at Bluefield tonight, tackle Concord College at Concord Friday and windup their tour on Saturday at Beckley College.

The Catamounts have won eight and lost nine but their conference record is only two wins and seven defeats.

Southwest May Supply Rabbits

Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke announced last night that he is making efforts to have the Game and Inland Fish Commission to try to secure rabbits from brokers in Oklahoma or New Mexico in an efort to stock local regions with the wild game for hunters next fall.

B. F. Tarman, Waynesboro, Pa., who has a contract with the Commission to provide 16,000 rabbits for restocking purpose, has stated that he will be unable to provide more than 25 percent due to extremely sever weather conditions prevailing in Missouri and other mid-west areas.

Minke said last night that he had received the first shipment of the cottontails from Tarman, but the 156 bunnies were in such poor shape that he doubted that they would last the winter. Approximately 12 or 13 of the rabbits were dead on arrival, Minke reported and the remainder very lean and small.

Because of the poor condition of the rabbits, mortality rate during confinement for shipping has been as high as 75 percent, Tarman told Director Ernest A. Vaughn of the state commission.

Minke believes that the southwestern part of the United States may be able to provide the answer to the problem as several rabbit brokers have been able to secure required stock from this area.

Diehl's Grocery Team Edges Fort Hill, 40-39

Diehl's Grocery five edged the Fort Hill Independents last night on the SS. Peter and Paul court by the score of 40-39.

Fred Corbin paced the losers with 17 points while Lambert had 12 for Diehl's.

The score alternated during the tight game with the winners trailing 9-8 at the quarter but ahead 19-16 at halftime and 25-21 at the close of the third stanza. The lineups:

Cumberland's Dukes, now holding second place in the All-American Professional Basketball League as a result of Washington's 79-78 victory over the Altoona Flyers on Monday night, will resume action in the six-club circuit tonight when they play the "Generals" tonight at Washington, Pa.

Bob Whip, business manager of the Dukes, last night announced that the Washington team has been reorganized and revamped and will be known as the "Generals" instead of the "Jewels" for the remainder of the season. "Mo" Becker, one-time Duquesne University ace and formerly of the Altoona Flyers, is playing coach of the Washington team and Joseph Manfredi has been retained as business manager.

Defeated Generals Twice

The Dukes and Washington have met twice this season with Coach Louis H. "Red" Klotz's cagers being returned the victors both times. Cumberland won at Washington on December 16 by the score of 71-67. The score of the return game here January 2 was 64-43.

Ten days have elapsed since Cumberland has played an All-American League game. The Dukes' last league tilt was staged here January 30 when the locals took Butler's Cubs into camp, 66-59.

The Dukes play their next league game at home on Sunday with the Washington Generals providing the opposition.

Altoona Loses Protest

Altoona suffered an additional reversal with the Washington club when the Flyers' 53-49 decision over the Generals at Altoona Jan. 26 was cancelled and the game ordered replayed at a later date by the league headquarters when a Washington protest on an ineligible player was allowed.

Prior to the contest Altoona had signed Fred Weimer, just released by Butler's Cubs, and used him against Washington but the 36-hour interval between a player's signing and playing was not observed and Washington protested. The decision by the league's commissioner, C. A. "Chick" Davies, took a win from the Flyers and a loss from the Generals.

WINS APPEAL—Danny Gardella (above), former major league baseball player, now working as an orderly in a hospital in Mt. Vernon, N. Y., won his appeal to the U. S. Court of Appeals which permits him to go ahead with his $300,000 damage suit against organized baseball, which he claims deprived him of a livelihood. Gardella is under suspension for jumping to the Mexican League in 1946.

Steiner's Goal Trips B&O In "Y" Thriller

Amvets Edge Railroad Crew By 40-39 Tally

Jack Steiner's field goal with less than five second to play gave Coach Robert "Ace" Baker's Cumberland Amvets a thrilling 40-39 victory over the B & O Backshop five last night in the headliner of the Central YMCA's Senior Men's Basketball League.

The B & O quint, undefeated previously in the second half race, trailed all the way in the well-played, hard-fought battle until Mil Dean's fielder with less than 15 seconds remaining put them ahead 39-38 for the first time, but the lead was short lived as Steiner, refusing a foul toss, took the ball on an out of bounds play and tallied the clinching goal for the Amvets. Norman Mason topped winners with 17 points while Dean also got 17 for the Railroaders.

In the other loop battle played last night on the "Y" court the Marine Reserves took the B.P.O. Elks into camp by the score of 38 to 15.

Cunningham and Shore paced the victors with 16 and 11 points while Parson scored two of the losers' five field goals. The Lineups:

Gardella Gets Okay To Press Damage Suit Against Baseball

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP) — Danny Gardella, a wartime ball player who jumped to the Mexican League, today was given the green light to proceed with a $300,000 damage suit against organized baseball which he claims has deprived him of means of livelihood.

In a split decision, 2-1, the U. S. Court of Appeals ruled that increased use of radio and television has impressed upon baseball "an interstate character," bringing it within provisions of the anti-trust laws.

Suit Charges Monopoly

Gardella's suit, brought against Commissioner A. B. Chandler, the New York Giants and the presidents of the two major leagues, charges that baseball is a monopoly because of the "reserve clause" which binds a player to one club.

Without the clause, a player could offer his services each year to the highest bidder. Chaos would result, officials of the game declare, if the reserve clause ever is successfully attacked.

Baseball wouldn't be the only sport attacked since most other professional sports — football, basketball, hockey — operate under similar provisions.

Today's decision, written by Senior Judge Learned Hand, reverses a ruling made last July 14 by Judge Henry Goddard in Federal District Court, when he dismissed Gardella's suit before trial. The reversal came as a shock to the leaders of the national game.

Baseball Is Interstate

Judge Goddard's ruling was based upon the opinion — frequently challenged in the past — that baseball is not engaged in trade or commerce under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act. In today's decision Judge Hand wrote:

"When the case goes back for trial — assuming that it does upon our opinion — it will be necessary, as I view it, to determine whether all the interstate activities, those which were thought insufficient before, in conjunction with broadcasting and television, together from a large enough part of the business to impress upon it an interstate character."

Judge Hand did not rule today on the reserve clause, but Judge Jerome N. Frank, who concurred with him in the decision, commented that the clause is "something resembling peonage of the baseball player."

Works In Hospital

Gardella, a short, heavily-muscled player who hit well for the Giants in 1945 but left something to be desired in his fielding, is under a five-year suspension which was slapped on him by Commissioner Chandler after he jumped to the Mexican League in the spring of '46.

He played in Canada last summer and for the past two months has been employed in a hospital at Mt. Vernon, N. Y., on the night shift. Advised of today's decision, he burst out: "Just say I'm glad — we'll push it to the limit."

The central figure in a case which might stand organized baseball on its ears said he was too busy with his duties as an orderly to comment further.

His attorney, Frederic A. Johnson, was more voluble. He said "we'll go right to trial," but pointed out that the defense will have 20 days in which to file an answer to the decision of the Appeals Court.

Piedmont At Keyser Feb. 16; AHS-Fort Hill Date Is Unchanged

Coach John Shelton of Keyser High School announced yesterday that the Piedmont-Keyser game scheduled for Tuesday, February 15 at Keyser has been changed to Wednesday, February 16.

The date was changed so as not to conflict with the Potomac State-Davis and Elkins College game set for February 15.

The Fort Hill-Allegany game set for the Fort Hill court Friday, February 18, will be played as scheduled, Coach John J. Bobby" Cavanaugh of the Sentinels announced last night.

A number of inquiries had been made regarding this game due to the Horace Heidt show being scheduled at Fort Hill High School's auditorium February 17 and 18.

Moran Takes Lead In WMI Scoring Race

Gets 20 Points As Bruce Wins 64-35

WESTERNPORT, Feb. 9 — Big Don Moran poured in 20 points to take a commanding lead in the WMI League scoring race as Bruce High of Westernport walloped Barton High's Braves tonight by the score of 64 to 35.

The husky Westernport center hit the nets for 11 of his team's 15 points in the first quarter and collected five more in the second and two in each the third and final periods.

Moran now has a total of 110 points while the former leader, Ed Landefeld of Allegany, has 98.

Barton's sophomore ace, Arnold Tichnell, the league's fourth best scorer, collected nine markers in a losing cause.

McKenzie, Devore, Moran and Cain shared 57 points for Bruce as the locals won their eighth victory as against five defeats. Bruce has won four of seven in the six-club circuit.

The game was tied at 2-2 and Bruce led thereafter. The quarter scores were 15-9, 31-19 and 52-27. The lineups:

Mt. Savage Team Meets

MT. SAVAGE, Feb. 9—The Mt. Savage Baseball Club of the Bi-State League met Tuesday evening in the Firemen's Hall and elected officers.

George Shaffer was named vice-president; George Bishields, president and George Koontz, secretary-treasurer. Another meeting will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. in the Hall with local citizens to discuss reorganization plans.

Ray Bean-Jimmy Miles Bout Is Added By Green

Fifth Match Set On St. Mary's Program

Matchmaker Albert "Bobby" Green of the St. Mary's Boys Club has added a fifth bout to his all-star fistic carnival slated for Monday night at the State Armory with the addition of Ray Bean, Diamond A. C. welterweight and Jimmy Miles, 143-pounder from Washington, D. C.

The Bean-Miles three-rounder is the third top-notch scrap scheduled by Green, the others including Jimmy Folk-Ray Stolone and Leon Daughtry and Homer Boone.

Daughtry is the Washington, D. C. Golden Glover who defeated Randall "Skeets" Starkey in his only appearance here. Boone, a Lewistown, Pa., welterweight has won five consesutive starts in Cumberland including a decision over Starkey.

Folk, popular Royale A. C. featherweight, has been meeting all comers lately and his battle with Stalone, of Lewistown, promises to be a sure drawing card for local mitt fans.

Folk and Stalone put on a slambang affair at the armory September 8 with Folk getting the nod.

Green is also attempting to build up his card by finding an opponent from Lewistown for the Wiley Ford flash, Starkey, but has had no success to date.

In a pair of prelims "Sonny" Lafferty of St. Mary's will fight Jack Thomas, Lewistown, and Frankie Lisanti, St. Mary's, will oppose Bill Salvador, Lewistown, lightweight.

Next Monday's show will start at 8:15 p. m.

Tickets are on sale at Wilson Hardware Co. and McGee's Tavern, Maryland Avenue.

Texas Open Set To Begin Today

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 9 (AP)—Golf's big guns unlimbered on two courses here today in tune-up rounds for the $10,000 Texas Open and par was taking an early trimming.

A field of some 270, 185 of them professionals, will move out tomorrow in the opening 18-hole round with Jimmie Demaret, the Ojai, Calif., trubador, the hottest favorite to capture first money.

Jimmie was expected to get strongest competition from Johnny Palmer, of Badin, N. C., and Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who captured first money last year with 264 for the 72 holes.

Part of the field, these including the big names, will shoot the first round tomorrow over the 6,379-yard fort Sam Houston course where par is 35-36—71. The others will play over Brackenridge Park's 6,400-yard par 36-35—71. Friday they will change courses. The low 60 scorers and ties of the first two rounds will go into the final 36 holes to be played over the Brackenridge Course.

Tommy Henrich Signs 1949 Yanks Contract

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP)—Tommy Henrich signed his 1949 contract with the New York Yankees today at a salary believed to be at least $10,00 above the $25,000 he was reported to have received in 1948.

Henrich, who bats and throws left-handed, appeared in 146 games last season and batted .308. He collected 181 hits and drove in 100 runs in 1948, the best of his nine seasons in the major leagues.

The Yankee slugger, who comes from Massillon, Ohio, will be 32 years old this month.

The University of Maryland will stage its second Invitation Indoor Track meet at College Park on Feb 19.

Lee Savold May Have Ring Title Dumped On Lap

Fans Can't Visualize Charles-Louis Fight

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP) — The way the heavyweight situation is developing Lee Savold may be able to sit in his easy chair and have the title dumped on his lap. Through squatters' rights, you might say.

Naturally such an eventuality would hinge upon a decision by Joe Louis, who because unretired after retiring, to retire again without another title defense. That is far from a remote possibility.

The only other fighter who has been mentioned seriously as a contender is Ezzard Charles, who seems to be resolutely carrying out a campaign of self elimination.

Fails To Impress

Charles cleared a big hurdle in his campaign this week when he fought a large gent named Johnny Haynes. Haynes was knocked out, but from what we gather Charles did not add to his prestige in the victory. The fans just couldn't visualize him in the same ring with Louis.

Although Charles must be admired for his willingness to take chances with big guys and possibly get knocked clean out of the title picture, it must be admitted that Savold is playing the more cagey game.

On his record Savold just doesn't rate, but a combination of circumstances has elevated him to a position he couldn't attain in his prime, whenever that was.

One of the circumstances is that, with the exception of Charles, there is nobady else around who could be considered a contender. Maybe Jersey Joe Walcott, who probably still could give the champion the toughest fight, but the two Joes couldn't draw a deep breath at the gate in a third meeting. The odor of the last one still lingers around Yankee Stadium on muddy days.

Joe Blows 'em Down

Louis himself is eliminating guys who at one time or another were mentioned as contenders. He's been browsing about the country blowing over the gents in exhibitions. Maybe not knocking them out, as the men wear feather beds laced to their hands. But he leaves no doubt as to who is boss.

So with Charles shooting craps with his own destiny, and not making his points, and Louis taking care of the rest of the field, Savold is left in the position where all he has to do is sit tight. Which is more than he could do when they derricked him onto a horse for a ride to the hounds in England.

One thing Louis' recent exhibition tour did, it gave thousands of fans over the country a chance to see him in action, if such bouts provide that.

In the nearly 12 years since he won the title he's become something of a legend, a fabulous figure, to the millions who never had seen him, and it is only natural that those given the opportunity to just gaze at him in a routine sparring match would jump at the chance.

Tries To Give Action

From what we gather they have not been disappointed. Louis has tried to give them action for their money, and has shown enough of his old skill to make them think he is still great.

That is, he is so much better than the fighters they have been seeing that, by comparison, he looks wonderful. Only those who have been seeing him for years, and remember what he was like in his prime, realize the toll the years have taken.

Potomac Park Wins 9th Straight Game

Pittsburgh Buys Judnich From Indians

CLEVELAND, Feb. 9 (INS)—The Cleveland Indians today sent Outfielder Walt Judnich to the Pittsburgh Pirates for an undisclosed sum of cash.

The straight cash deal will allow Judnich to rejoin his former St. Louis Browns teammate Bob Muncrief once again. Muncrief, a pitcher, and Judnich were obtained by the Indians from the Browns last season. Earlier this winter, the Tribe shipped Muncrief to Pittsburgh.

Jorgenson Signs

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 9 (INS)—Johnny (Spider) Jorgenson announced today from his home in El Paso that he has signed his 1949 Brooklyn Dodger contract.

The third baseman, who spent most of last season with St. Paul in the American Association, said he is completely recovered from the shoulder injury suffered last summer. Jorgenson didn't mention his salary.

Scott Loses Race With The Stork

LAKE VILLAGE, Ark., Feb. 9 (AP)—Clyde Scott, one of the world's fastest runners, lost a race with the stork.

The football and Olympic star from the University of Arkansas, arrived at a Greenville, Miss. hospital two hours after his wife gave birth to a six-pound, 12-ounce son yesterday. He had been in Philadelphia to sign a contract with that city's professional grid team.

Zion Team Wins

Zion reformed defeated Narrows Park 60-47 last night at Campobello in a practice tilt. Both teams belong to the Central YMCA Sunday School Basketball League.

Gene Kerr paced the winners with 20 points while Charley Ellsworth had 19 for the Parkers.

Beall Cagers And Allegany To Meet Here

Potomac State Quint Opens 3-Day Road Trip At Bluefield College

Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks, back in first place in the Potomac Valley Conference, will battle it out with Romney High's Pioneers in an important game tonight at Romney.

Coach Riggleman's aggregation had a tough time turning back Dick McElwee's cagers several weeks ago at Ridgeley by the score of 45-42 and may run into trouble tonight.

The Blackhawks have copped six out of seven games in the conference while Romney's PVC record is three wins and five losses. One of Romney's recent wins is a 29-27 decision over Petersburg which spilled Keyser on Tuesday night by the score of 42-35.

Allegany Host To Beall

Allegany High, jolted on Tuesday night at Central in a game that might have been the turning point in the W.M.I. championship race, will be striving to get back in the win column when it meets Beall High in a county league tilt tonight at 8 o'clock at Campobello.

Beall High seems to have the "hard luck" ball club of 1949. Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's passers have lost four heart-breakers in the past two weeks by from one to four points. The Mountaineers dropped 41-39 and 29-27 battles to Keyser and Piedmont, lost a 34-30 decision to Ridgeley and last but not least was nosed out by Fort Hill Tuesday night in the closing seconds of play 35-34.

Davis Invades Keyser

The high-flying Davis (W. Va.,) Wildcats, victorious in 11 of 14 games, come to Keyser tonight to test Coach John Shelton's Keyser High floormen. Davis has scalped Greenbank, Masontown, Parsons, Circleville, Thomas and Franklin in that order but should find Keyser hard to beat on its home floor. The Keyserites have won 10 out of 15 games played to date.

In another PVC contest on tap for tonight Elk Garden is slated to invade Fort Ashby to battle Coach Tom Small's Fort Ashby Eagles.

Catamounts Make Road Trip

Coach Dana Lough's Potomac State School cagers of Keyser, now one game below the .500 mark in games won and lost, hit the road tonight for three West Virginia Conference games in as many days.

The Catamounts meet Bluefield College at Bluefield tonight, tackle Concord College at Concord Friday and windup their tour on Saturday at Beckley College.

The Catamounts have won eight and lost nine but their conference record is only two wins and seven defeats.

Southwest May Supply Rabbits

Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke announced last night that he is making efforts to have the Game and Inland Fish Commission to try to secure rabbits from brokers in Oklahoma or New Mexico in an efort to stock local regions with the wild game for hunters next fall.

B. F. Tarman, Waynesboro, Pa., who has a contract with the Commission to provide 16,000 rabbits for restocking purpose, has stated that he will be unable to provide more than 25 percent due to extremely sever weather conditions prevailing in Missouri and other mid-west areas.

Minke said last night that he had received the first shipment of the cottontails from Tarman, but the 156 bunnies were in such poor shape that he doubted that they would last the winter. Approximately 12 or 13 of the rabbits were dead on arrival, Minke reported and the remainder very lean and small.

Because of the poor condition of the rabbits, mortality rate during confinement for shipping has been as high as 75 percent, Tarman told Director Ernest A. Vaughn of the state commission.

Minke believes that the southwestern part of the United States may be able to provide the answer to the problem as several rabbit brokers have been able to secure required stock from this area.

Diehl's Grocery Team Edges Fort Hill, 40-39

Diehl's Grocery five edged the Fort Hill Independents last night on the SS. Peter and Paul court by the score of 40-39.

Fred Corbin paced the losers with 17 points while Lambert had 12 for Diehl's.

The score alternated during the tight game with the winners trailing 9-8 at the quarter but ahead 19-16 at halftime and 25-21 at the close of the third stanza. The lineups:

Armed Is Third In Trial Run As Column Is First

Calumet Farm Ace Attempts Comeback

By FRED HAYDEN

HIALEAH, Fla., Feb. 9 (AP)—Calumet Farm's erstwhile champion, Armed, attempted a comeback today and finished a creditable third while trying to beat sharp sprinters at their own game.

The eight-year-old charger, making his first start since running fourth in the Widener here a year ago, was beaten two lengths in the $3,500, six furlong dash which forced the $10,000 added Seminole Handicap into the background.

Column, a $37.60 for two shot from Jule Fink's Marlet Stable, won the dash by a length and a half in 1:11 flat, while the Rarco Stable's favored Tight Squeeze had just that to stave off the fast closing Armed by a half length for the place.

That Armed still is a magic turf name was evidenced when a banner throng that turned out chiefly to see the grand old warrior perform on the same track where he began his brilliant career back in 1944 with a victory.

His game stretch charge thrilled his thousands of admirers and, while the golden gelding couldn't make the grade, he at least indicated that he still is something more than a toy cap pistol as compared to the big gun he used to be.

A crowd of 17,901 saw Armed race with bandages on both rear ankles.

Herbert M. Woolf's topweighted Delegate, recently a belated third to Greentree's Blue Border, avenged that setback by beating the latter in the photo finish of the Seminole Handicap.

The Kansas City-owned victor, under 125 pounds, ran a brilliant seven furlongs. His time of 1.22 3-5 missed Dispose's track record by a mere fifth of a second. He ran the first six furlongs in 1:09 3-5, which is the track mark for that distance.

ROCKETS -- PARDON, HORNETS -- PRESENT NEW FACES

James C. Thompson Bob Chappuis Bob Hoernschemeyer Coach Ray Flaherty

REVITALIZED with money, a new group of owners, a new coach, new players and a new name, the Chicago Rockets (now known as the Hornets) of the All-America Football conference will take the field next fall with new hopes for success. James C. Thompson, Chicago businessman, heads the syndicate which purchased the club. Ray Flaherty, successful pro coach, is the new mentor. Among the new players are two former college stars, Bob Chappuis and Bob Hoernshemeyer, who were picked from the ex-Brooklyn team. (International)

Aims To Please

CHICAGO—(AP)—A young man on vacation in Florida mailed a coconut to his parents in Chicago. He filled out the name-and-address tag and fastened it to the gift with a thumb tack. As an afterthought, he wrote on one corner of the tag: "Postmaster: This may be opened for inspection."

Armed Is Third In Trial Run As Column Is First

Calumet Farm Ace Attempts Comeback

By FRED HAYDEN

HIALEAH, Fla., Feb. 9 (AP)—Calumet Farm's erstwhile champion, Armed, attempted a comeback today and finished a creditable third while trying to beat sharp sprinters at their own game.

The eight-year-old charger, making his first start since running fourth in the Widener here a year ago, was beaten two lengths in the $3,500, six furlong dash which forced the $10,000 added Seminole Handicap into the background.

Column, a $37.60 for two shot from Jule Fink's Marlet Stable, won the dash by a length and a half in 1:11 flat, while the Rarco Stable's favored Tight Squeeze had just that to stave off the fast closing Armed by a half length for the place.

That Armed still is a magic turf name was evidenced when a banner throng that turned out chiefly to see the grand old warrior perform on the same track where he began his brilliant career back in 1944 with a victory.

His game stretch charge thrilled his thousands of admirers and, while the golden gelding couldn't make the grade, he at least indicated that he still is something more than a toy cap pistol as compared to the big gun he used to be.

A crowd of 17,901 saw Armed race with bandages on both rear ankles.

Herbert M. Woolf's topweighted Delegate, recently a belated third to Greentree's Blue Border, avenged that setback by beating the latter in the photo finish of the Seminole Handicap.

The Kansas City-owned victor, under 125 pounds, ran a brilliant seven furlongs. His time of 1.22 3-5 missed Dispose's track record by a mere fifth of a second. He ran the first six furlongs in 1:09 3-5, which is the track mark for that distance.

ROCKETS -- PARDON, HORNETS -- PRESENT NEW FACES

James C. Thompson — Bob Chappuis — Bob Hoernschemeyer — Coach Ray Flaherty

REVITALIZED with money, a new group of owners, a new coach, new players and a new name, the Chicago Rockets (now known as the Hornets) of the All-America Football conference will take the field next fall with new hopes for success. James C. Thompson, Chicago businessman, heads the syndicate which purchased the club. Ray Flaherty, successful pro coach, is the new mentor. Among the new players are two former college stars, Bob Chappuis and Bob Hoernshemeyer, who were picked from the ex-Brooklyn team. (International)

County Farmers Show Interest In Poultry Industry

Meeting Planned Here March 16

Cumberland area farmers are showing considerable interest in the possibilities of poultry production here, Harold W. Smith, manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, reported yesterday.

The Chamber recently suggested that a survey be instituted here to investigate the possibilities of the rapidly growing industry, pointing out that Western Maryland is well adapted to this type of project.

The Chamber, in particular, stressed the possibilities of the broiler industry, which has averaged over 80 million birds in the Del-Mar-Va area since 1942.

In 1946, Smith said, Maryland produced 12 per cent of the commerical broilers grown in the United States.

Is New Industry

Ninety- six per cent of the broiler growers in the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula, he said, have grown broilers for less than 15 years and 80 per cent for 10 years or less.

The state poultry industry, valued at $62 million in 1947, accounted for more than a third of the gross income of Maryland farmers in spite of the fact that there was practically no poultry industry in the state at the turn of the century, officials report.

One of the biggest potential sources of income is the estimated $5 million or more spent each year outside of Maryland for hatching eggs mainly for the broiler industry.

More Eggs Needed

Production of quality market eggs and broiler hatching eggs can both be doubled, experts say, and still fall far short of supplying state demands in both clases.

In spite of the fact that 494 million eggs were laid by Maryland hens in 1947, less than 10 per cent of the market eggs handled by wholesalers in Baltimore and Washington originated in Maryland.

The Chamber's Agriculture committee, through R. F. McHenry, county farm agent, has arranged an all-day session March 16 in Cumberland at which representatives of the University of Maryland will discuss the subject.

The principal speakers will be Dr. Charles R. Davis, who will speak on poultry diseases, and Wade Rice, who will discuss the broiler industry.

County Supervisors Attend Two Meetings

Miss Jane Botsford, Miss Mildred Willison and Miss Winifred Greene, supervisors of elementary education for Allegany County, are attending two educational meetings in New York City.

One, a conference on community resources and their uses, began today and will run through Saturday at Teachers College, Columbia University.

From Tuesday until Thursday, the supervisors will attend the Association of Supervision and Curriculum Development conference.

Walsh Testifies

ceptable method of reshuffling the seats can be devised.

What of the Constitutional convention?

There hasn't been any in Maryland since 1867—when the present constitution was adopted.

Three times since then a convention had been proposed, but was never actually called. The General Assembly initiates the move. It is submitted to the voters, who then may authorize the legislature to set up machinery and provide for the election of delegates.

There are two bills now in the assembly that would provide for a constitutional convention referendum, and it's possible that the representation question will put impetus behind them.

Both Hammond and Walsh told the judiciary group that such a gathering would be valuable for other tasks — such as eliminating and revising antiquated sections in the 1867 document.

Shelved, at all events, is the plan for a minimum of two delegates per county, others in ratio with population determined by the 1950 census, to fill a maximum of 125 seats.

As an alternative, Walsh had proposed that Baltimore be given an extra delegate per district, and one additional delegate for counties over 100,000 population. While "leaving some inequities," he said, this would bring "some relief."

But the recommendation wasn't taken up.

State Conservation

Three hundred and ninety-two miles of a required 4,885 terraces and diversions have been built.

However, the report predicts that soil conservation practices will be adopted at "a much more rapid rate in the future than in the past . . . . under a co-operative program which we believe is outstanding in the country."

Allegany County soil supervisors are Wilbert Paul, chairman; C. S. Harvey, treasurer; H. M. Gordon, Bradye Dolly and Ernest R. Slider. County Farm Agent Ralph F. McHenry is secretary of the group.

NEWSPAPER EDITOR FINED—Standing before the bench, Editor Louis Seltzer of the Cleveland Press pleads his case to Common Pleas Judge Joseph H. Silbert in Cleveland during a hearing of contempt of court citation against him, three members of the Press staff and the wife of one. They admitted faking legal papers to obtain a divorce for Richard Campbell, Press makeup editor, and his wife to show alleged weaknesses in the court's system. Sitting at extreme right are (arrow, from rear) Leonard Hammer, reporter who wrote the story, Campbell, Mrs. Campbell. Seltzer was fined $500 and the three staff members a total of another $500.

manager and will be here to take up permanent residence next week.

Manager Has Experience

Yoas was employed with Southwest Airlines, a California feeder line, for one year and more recently was with the Robinson Airline in New York state.

With Charles S. Pearcy, station manager at Pittsburgh representing All American, a one-year contract was signed yesterday with the Astor Cab Company to provide express, mail and passenger pickup service.

Mark A. Schriver, co-owner of the local firm, said operating schedules will be made after service is instituted next month.

He added passengers will probably be picked up at their homes and at a central downtown location. Express will be handled in a cab company truck if the demand is great, he added.

Service To Be Offered

Although no official approval has been given by the Railway Express main traffic office in New York, a local representative, reported he is confident air express would be offered here.

Air Mail Plans

Shipment by air to all parts of the country will be effective as Railway Express has terminals in Washington and Pittsburgh for connections to other lines.

At the Cumberland Post Office, C. William McDermott, acting postmaster, said an All American representative will meet with him today regarding the establishment or air parcel post.

The U. S. Post Office Department has requested data from Postmaster McDermott concerning the distance to the airport and the volume of mail and parcel post expected here.

The line still has pending before the Maryland Public Service Commission a petition for authority to operate an intrastate service involving Cumberland, Hagerstown, Frederick, Baltimore and Eastern Shore points.

Owyhee County, Idaho, is one of the few spots in the United States where mahogany trees, a tropical growth, grow.

Deaths

MRS. JOSEPH C. SWAIN

Mrs. Viola Regina Swain, 47, wife of Joseph C. Swain, 317 Grand Avenue, died yesterday in Memorial Hospital where she was admitted two days before. She had been in failing health some time.

Born in Cresaptown, Mrs. Swain had resided here 35 years. She was a daughter of Mrs. Susan Hershberger McAbee, Ridgeley, and the late George H. McAbee. Her husband had operated a barber shop on Virginia Avenue a number of years.

Surviving, besides her husband and mother, are two sons, Joseph C. Swain, Jr., Locust Grove, and George H. Swain, this city; three daughters, Mrs. Susan I. Wright, Baltimore, and Miss Myrtle Jacqueline and Margaret Ann Swain, at home; four brothers, Glen McAbee, York, Pa.; Russell McAbee, Frostburg; Franklin McAbee, Ridgeley, and Carl McAbee, Ridgeley, and two sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Bragg, this city, and Mrs. Margaret Dixon, Ridgeley.

A funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at St. John's Lutheran Church with the pastor, Rev. Donald F. Brake, officiating. Burial will be in Hillcrest Burial Park. The body will be taken to the home this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

MRS. MARIA L. KENNEY

Mrs. Maria Loretta Kenney, 83, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Hollen, 221 Baltimore Street, after an illness of four weeks.

Mrs. Kenney was a member of St. Francis Catholic Church, Brunswick, Md., and the parish's Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

In addition to Mrs. Hollen, she leaves another daughter, Mrs. Fred H. Albert, Crystal Park; a son, William B. Kenney, Washington; three grandchildren and a great-grandson.

The body will remain at the Hafer Funeral Home until Friday morning when it will be taken to St. Francis Church for a service at 9:30. Interment will take place in St. Mary's Cemetery, Petersville, Md.

MRS. BENJAMIN V. IMES

Mrs. Malinda Bell Twigg Imes, 81, of 901 Shades Lane, died yesterday in Kaiser Nursing Home, Mt. Lake Park. She had been a patient in Memorial Hospital from October 11 until about 10 days ago.

She was a daughter of the late Nathan Twigg. Her husband, Benjamin V. Imes, a patient in Allegany Hospital, and several nieces and nephews survive.

A funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Hafer Funeral Home with Rev. M. A. Keesecker, pastor of Kingsley Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

NORTHCRAFT SERVICE

A funeral service was held Tuesday at the Stein Funeral Home for Harry Northcraft, 54, formerly of Cumberland, who died Saturday in Perry Point Veterans Hospital. Pallbearers, members of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, were George Zimmerla, Albert Kerns, Truman Fuller, Edward Rhind, John R. Neff and James J. Jones.

The body was then taken to the home of a sister, Mrs. Mary Youngblood Hartsock, Paw Paw, W. Va., for another service yesterday. Burial was in Camp Hill Cemetery, Paw Paw. Military honors were in charge of Harley Rohrer Post No. 128, American Legion, Paw Paw. Members of the Ladies Auxiliary served as flowerbearers.

DIEHL FUNERAL

A funeral service for Alva L. Diehl, 50, Route 1, Ridgeley, W. Va., who died Tuesday in Newton D. Baker Veterans Hospital, Martinsburg, W. Va., will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. in Calvary Methodist Church, Ridgeley. Rev. J. E. McDonald, pastor, will officiate and burial will be in Fort Ashby, W. Va., Cemetery. The body will be taken to the home of a sister, Mrs. Aubra Beeghly, 218 Beall Street, Cumberland.

METTY BURIAL

A funeral service for James L. Metty, 83, who died Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Hoban, 157 Polk Street, was held yesterday at the Stein Funeral Home. Rev. David C. Watson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, officiated and burial was in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Pallbearers were Charles Pinto, Howard Metty, Joseph Hoban, Allen Leonard and Earl Metty.

Zone Board Denies Twigg Permit Appeal

The Board of Zoning Appeals last night denied one occupancy permit appeal and granted two others.

John E. Twigg, 915 Louisiana Avenue, lost his appeal for a permit to locate a proposed office and metal work shop at Oldtown Road and Edgevale Avenue when he failed to appear at the hearing.

Board officials said residential restrictions in his deed to the property would have prevented granting the permit.

Kenneth and Oscar Willard were granted a permit to operate a furniture repair shop at the rear of 7-9 Browning Street. Although the property is in a Residential B zoning district, it was formerly used as a garage and hobby shop.

A permit was granted to Walter Gross for the United Foundation Corporation to use space at 414 North Mechanic Street as an office for construction contractors doing work on pressure conduits for the Cumberland flood control project.

The use was allowed because of adjacent businesses in the Residential C zoning district.

Purple Heart Offers Benefit Production

Cumberland radio and entertainment fans will be given an opportunity to hear one of Horace Heidt's amateur units here next week, when the show will be presented in Fort Hill High School auditorium matinee and evening, February 17 and 18.

Sponsored by Mountain Chapter No. 166, Military Order of the Purple Heart, the proceeds will be used to help finance the national department Purple Heart convention to be held here August 17 to 20.

The convention is expected to attract more than 1,000 delegates from chapters and auxiliary units throughout the entire United States, local members declare.

Abe Loundy, chairman of the ways and means committee, is chairman of the entertainment presentation next week. He said yesterday the troupe includes a number of amateurs who appeared on the Horace Heidt show. The cast comprises Jimmy Grosso, Nadine Jansen, Phyllis Lyle, Pat Theriault, Johnny Mungall, Holyard Patterson, George Pheasant and Don Rice.

Matinee performances will be presented at 3:15 each day with two shows each night, the first at 7:15 p. m. and the second at 9:30 p. m.

Winners of the semi-finals in the auditions for the Horace Heidt "New Stars on Parade" were chosen here last night at the Garden Theater.

They are George Schokey, Meyersdale, Pa., vocalist; Rosalie Sue, Ellerslie, a vocalist; Royce Hendrickson, accordionist; Jack and his Sod-Busters, hillbilly music; Jimmy Hager, tenor, and Leon Green, Lonaconing pianist.

The finalists will be selected tomorrow night. The winners will appear with the Heidt show next Thursday and Friday at Fort Hill High School.

Exemplar Chapter Has China Talk

Zi Beta Exemplar Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, met at the home of Miss Dorothy Lee Campbell, Hill Top Drive, Tuesday night, with Mrs. Byron Bonebreak presiding and presenting a program on "Jewelry of China." Several pieces were exhibited and an informal discussion period followed.

The date for the Founders Banquet was changed from April 30 to April 28. It is to be held at Ali Ghan City Club and all chapters will participate.

Concluding the meeting refreshments were served with the Valentine motif carried out in the decorations.

Members present were Miss Elizabeth Lippold, Miss Alta Earl, Miss Catherine Lippold, Miss Helene Schutz, Mrs. Martin Sharp, Mrs. James Rice, and Mrs. Ambrose McKenzie.

The next meeting will be held February 22 at the home of Miss Catherine Lippold, 432 Greene Street.

Homemakers Chorus To Give Concert

A sacred concert and vesper service will be given by the County Homemakers Chorus May 1. It will be presented in Centre Street Methodist Church, beginning at 4 o'clock.

The life of Christ in hymns will be the theme of the program, which is under the direction of Mrs. Richard W. Trevaskis, Sr. Mrs. Alvin Wilson is pianist and Mrs. Charles Long is president of the chorus.

The annual concert will open the National Home Demonstration Week to be observed May 1 to 7. Rehearsals began this week and any member wishing to take part in the service is to be present for the next meeting March 7 at Central YMCA. The entire program will be ready the latter part of April.

PE Employes To Give Annual Oyster Feed

The Potomac Edison Employes Association is sponsoring its annual oyster feed February 16 for all Potomac Edison employes of the Cumberland district.

It is to be held at Ali Ghan City Club beginning at 12 noon and continuing until 7 p. m. The Valentine motif is being carried out in the decorations.

Leroy Durst is chairman of arrangements. His committee includes Miss Genevieve McCoy and Miss Kathryn Smith.

Girls Central Alumnae Board Plans Meeting

Mrs. Gerard J. Malloy, vice president of the Catholic Girls Central High School Alumnae, entertained the executive board and presided at the meeting at her home, Fayette Street, last night.

The group outlined points for the business meeting of the association to be held February 14 in St. Patrick's Social Center at 8 o'clock. At this meeting final plans will be made for the vocational guidance program which will be the feature for March.

Card Party Tonight

A benefit card party will be held at LaVale Firemen's Hall tonight, co-sponsored by LaVale Post No. 219, American Legion, and the Park Sportsmen's Club.

Bridge, set-back and 500 will be played and play begins at 8:15 p. m. Funds realized from the party will be used to help finance the Park Softball Team and the community's recreation program, according to Sampson Sions, Legion commander.

ceptable method of reshuffling the seats can be devised.

What of the Constitutional convention?

There hasn't been any in Maryland since 1867—when the present constitution was adopted.

Three times since then a convention had been proposed, but was never actually called. The General Assembly initiates the move. It is submitted to the voters, who then may authorize the legislature to set up machinery and provide for the election of delegates.

There are two bills now in the assembly that would provide for a constitutional convention referendum, and it's possible that the representation question will put impetus behind them.

Both Hammond and Walsh told the judiciary group that such a gathering would be valuable for other tasks — such as eliminating and revising antiquated sections in the 1867 document.

Shelved, at all events, is the plan for a minimum of two delegates per county, others in ratio with population determined by the 1950 census, to fill a maximum of 125 seats.

As an alternative, Walsh had proposed that Baltimore be given an extra delegate per district, and one additional delegate for counties over 100,000 population. While "leaving some inequities," he said, this would bring "some relief."

But the recommendation wasn't taken up.

State Conservation

Three hundred and ninety-two miles of a required 4,885 terraces and diversions have been built.

However, the report predicts that soil conservation practices will be adopted at "a much more rapid rate in the future than in the past . . . . under a co-operative program which we believe is outstanding in the country."

Allegany County soil supervisors are Wilbert Paul, chairman; C. S. Harvey, treasurer; H. M. Gordon, Bradye Dolly and Ernest R. Slider. County Farm Agent Ralph F. McHenry is secretary of the group.

NEWSPAPER EDITOR FINED—Standing before the bench, Editor Louis Seltzer of the Cleveland Press pleads his case to Common Pleas Judge Joseph H. Silbert in Cleveland during a hearing of contempt of court citation against him, three members of the Press staff and the wife of one. They admitted faking legal papers to obtain a divorce for Richard Campbell, Press makeup editor, and his wife to show alleged weaknesses in the court's system. Sitting at extreme right are (arrow, from rear) Leonard Hammer, reporter who wrote the story, Campbell, Mrs. Campbell. Seltzer was fined $500 and the three staff members a total of another $500.

manager and will be here to take up permanent residence next week.

Manager Has Experience

Yoas was employed with Southwest Airlines, a California feeder line, for one year and more recently was with the Robinson Airline in New York state.

With Charles S. Pearcy, station manager at Pittsburgh representing All American, a one-year contract was signed yesterday with the Astor Cab Company to provide express, mail and passenger pickup service.

Mark A. Schriver, co-owner of the local firm, said operating schedules will be made after service is instituted next month.

He added passengers will probably be picked up at their homes and at a central downtown location. Express will be handled in a cab company truck if the demand is great, he added.

Service To Be Offered

Although no official approval has been given by the Railway Express main traffic office in New York, a local representative, reported he is confident air express would be offered here.

Air Mail Plans

Shipment by air to all parts of the country will be effective as Railway Express has terminals in Washington and Pittsburgh for connections to other lines.

At the Cumberland Post Office, C. William McDermott, acting postmaster, said an All American representative will meet with him today regarding the establishment or air parcel post.

The U. S. Post Office Department has requested data from Postmaster McDermott concerning the distance to the airport and the volume of mail and parcel past expected here.

The line still has pending before the Maryland Public Service Commission a petition for authority to operate an intrastate service involving Cumberland, Hagerstown, Frederick, Baltimore and Eastern Shore points.

Owyhee County, Idaho, is one of the few spots in the United States where mahogany trees, a tropical growth, grow.

Deaths

MRS. JOSEPH C. SWAIN

Mrs. Viola Regina Swain, 47, wife of Joseph C. Swain, 317 Grand Avenue, died yesterday in Memorial Hospital where she was admitted two days before. She had been in failing health some time.

Born in Cresaptown, Mrs. Swain had resided here 35 years. She was a daughter of Mrs. Susan Hershberger McAbee, Ridgeley, and the late George H. McAbee. Her husband had operated a barber shop on Virginia Avenue a number of years.

Surviving, besides her husband and mother, are two sons, Joseph C. Swain, Jr., Locust Grove, and George H. Swain, this city; three daughters, Mrs. Susan I. Wright, Baltimore, and Miss Myrtle Jacqueline and Margaret Ann Swain, at home; four brothers, Glen McAbee, York, Pa.; Russell McAbee, Frostburg; Franklin McAbee, Ridgeley, and Carl McAbee, Ridgeley, and two sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Bragg, this city, and Mrs. Margaret Dixon, Ridgeley.

A funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at St. John's Lutheran Church with the pastor, Rev. Donald F. Brake, officiating. Burial will be in Hillcrest Burial Park. The body will be taken to the home this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

MRS. MARIA L. KENNEY

Mrs. Maria Loretta Kenney, 83, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Hollen, 221 Baltimore Street, after an illness of four weeks.

Mrs. Kenney was a member of St. Francis Catholic Church, Brunswick, Md., and the parish's Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

In addition to Mrs. Hollen, she leaves another daughter, Mrs. Fred H. Albert, Crystal Park; a son, William B. Kenney, Washington; three grandchildren and a great-grandson.

The body will remain at the Hafer Funeral Home until Friday morning when it will be taken to St. Francis Church for a service at 9:30. Interment will take place in St. Mary's Cemetery, Petersville, Md.

MRS. BENJAMIN V. IMES

Mrs. Malinda Bell Twigg Imes, 81, of 901 Shades Lane, died yesterday in Kaiser Nursing Home, Mt. Lake Park. She had been a patient in Memorial Hospital from October 11 until about 10 days ago.

She was a daughter of the late Nathan Twigg. Her husband, Benjamin V. Imes, a patient in Allegany Hospital, and several nieces and nephews survive.

A funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Hafer Funeral Home with Rev. M. A. Keesecker, pastor of Kingsley Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

NORTHCRAFT SERVICE

A funeral service was held Tuesday at the Stein Funeral Home for Harry Northcraft, 54, formerly of Cumberland, who died Saturday in Perry Point Veterans Hospital. Pallbearers, members of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, were George Zimmerla, Albert Kerns, Truman Fuller, Edward Rhind, John R. Neff and James J. Jones.

The body was then taken to the home of a sister, Mrs. Mary Youngblood Hartsock, Paw Paw, W. Va., for another service yesterday. Burial was in Camp Hill Cemetery, Paw Paw. Military honors were in charge of Harley Rohrer Post No. 128, American Legion, Paw Paw. Members of the Ladies Auxiliary served as flowerbearers.

DIEHL FUNERAL

A funeral service for Alva L. Diehl, 50, Route 1, Ridgeley, W. Va., who died Tuesday in Newton D. Baker Veterans Hospital, Martinsburg, W. Va., will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. in Calvary Methodist Church, Ridgeley. Rev. J. E. McDonald, pastor, will officiate and burial will be in Fort Ashby, W. Va., Cemetery. The body will be taken to the home of a sister, Mrs. Aubra Beeghly, 218 Beall Street, Cumberland.

METTY BURIAL

A funeral service for James L. Metty, 83, who died Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Hoban, 157 Polk Street, was held yesterday at the Stein Funeral Home. Rev. David C. Watson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, officiated and burial was in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Pallbearers were Charles Pinto, Howard Metty, Joseph Hoban, Allen Leonard and Earl Metty.

Zone Board Denies Twigg Permit Appeal

The Board of Zoning Appeals last night denied one occupancy permit appeal and granted two others.

John E. Twigg, 915 Louisiana Avenue, lost his appeal for a permit to locate a proposed office and metal work shop at Oldtown Road and Edgevale Avenue when he failed to appear at the hearing.

Board officials said residential restrictions in his deed to the property would have prevented granting the permit.

Kenneth and Oscar Willard were granted a permit to operate a furniture repair shop at the rear of 7-9 Browning Street. Although the property is in a Residential B zoning district, it was formerly used as a garage and hobby shop.

A permit was granted to Walter Gross for the United Foundation Corporation to use space at 414 North Mechanic Street as an office for construction contractors doing work on pressure conduits for the Cumberland flood control project.

The use was allowed because of adjacent businesses in the Residential C zoning district.

Purple Heart Offers Benefit Production

Cumberland radio and entertainment fans will be given an opportunity to hear one of Horace Heidt's amateur units here next week, when the show will be presented in Fort Hill High School auditorium matinee and evening, February 17 and 18.

Sponsored by Mountain Chapter No. 166, Military Order of the Purple Heart, the proceeds will be used to help finance the national department Purple Heart convention to be held here August 17 to 20.

The convention is expected to attract more than 1,000 delegates from chapters and auxiliary units throughout the entire United States, local members declare.

Abe Loundy, chairman of the ways and means committee, is chairman of the entertainment presentation next week. He said yesterday the troupe includes a number of amateurs who appeared on the Horace Heidt show. The cast comprises Jimmy Grosso, Nadine Jansen, Phyllis Lyle, Pat Theriault, Johnny Mungall, Holyard Patterson, George Pheasant and Don Rice.

Matinee performances will be presented at 3:15 each day with two shows each night, the first at 7:15 p. m. and the second at 9:30 p. m.

Winners of the semi-finals in the auditions for the Horace Heidt "New Stars on Parade" were chosen here last night at the Garden Theater.

They are George Schokey, Meyersdale, Pa., vocalist; Rosalie Sue, Ellerslie, a vocalist; Royce Hendrickson, accordionist; Jack and his Sod-Busters, hillbilly music; Jimmy Hager, tenor, and Leon Green, Lonaconing pianist.

The finalists will be selected tomorrow night. The winners will appear with the Heidt show next Thursday and Friday at Fort Hill High School.

J. K. Morgan Opens Accounting Office

J. Kenneth Morgan, certified public accountant, has opened an office at his home, 428 Fayette Street.

Town Park Light Plan Progresses

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The executive committee of the South Branch Athletic Association met Saturday night in Senator Ralph J. Bean's office to continue plans for the lighting of Town Park.

Irvin Bowman, treasurer, reported $2,000 definitely pledged with another $1,000 to be pledged as soon as the solicitors can contact the donors.

When the $7,500 is raised, half the total necessary for the lights, the association will arrange to finance the other half and install the lights. Committees will be appointed in Pendleton, Grant and Hampshire counties to assist in installing field lights for night athletic contests in the Valley.

The papers of incorporation for the non-profit organization have been submitted for a charter from the state.

Contributions To Boy Scout Fund Are Reported

$485 Donated In Frostburg

FROSTBURG — The Advance Gifts committee of the Boy Scout fund drive which is being conducted here this week announced a total of $485 had been received by noon yesterday.

Frank T. Powers stated that the American Legion will contribute through its budget committee, headed by Hugh Watson, post finance officer.

A committee, headed by Clifton D. Jeffries and Walter Mackey, will begin a canvass of local business and professional people today.

John L. Dunkle, chairman of Mountain District, Boy Scouts of America, said 500 letters have been mailed to former financial supporters of Boy Scouts, urging them to contribute to the 1949 drive.

Dunkle reported that Boy Scout Week is also being observed in other towns of the Mountain District by committees conducting a canvass for quotas assigned to them in similar drives throughout Potomac Council.

The campaign in Midland is in charge of William Wilson and Homer Noel; in Eckhart the canvassers are working under direction of Junior Emerick and Charles Stark; Dan Hershberger and the Grantsville Rotary Club are assuming responsibility for the collection in that section of Garrett County; and in Mt. Savage collections are being made under direction of Raymond Himmelwright and members of the Mt. Savage Lions Club.

Animal Dumping Is Protested

FROSTBURG—Members of District No. 19, Hunters' Club, at a meeting held Tuesday evening at the Shaft school house, protested the local custom of disposing of unwanted dogs and cats along the county roads in the vicinity of Shaft, Midlothian and Vale Summit.

William Davis, an experienced hunter, asserted that offspring of these domestic animals roam the woods and prey on rabbits and young birds, doing much damage for which the fox is blamed. Foxes are troublesome, but stray dogs and cats, which should be killed by their owners, are even worse, Davis said.

Davis who resides on a farm near Shaft, reported that almost daily a sack containing unwanted puppies or kittens is found along the highway near his farm. Full-grown dogs and cats are also disposed of in the same way, he said.

Davis and others also protested against the methods of fox trappers who set their traps and do not return to them for three or four days. He reported that he lost one registered fox hound and is about to lose another, both having lost a foot in a fox trap. Had the traps been visited daily, he claimed, the dogs might have been released before their injuries became serious.

Members of the club who reside in the Midlothian area criticized motorists who dump garbage and trash in woods bordering the Midlothian Road, once a beauty spot of this section.

Several speakers pointed out that rather than drive a few hundred yards further to the city dump, motorists scatter their trash, including items as large as mattresses, along the roadside.

Regional Game Warden Joseph Minke, principal speaker, confined his remarks to rules and regulations of his department and promised to co-operate with the Shaft hunters in all projects they may undertake to improve wildlife and fish in their section.

The meeting was attended by about thirty-five members.

Frostburg Girl Scouts Plan Magazine Drive

FROSTBURG—Wild Rose Troop, Frostburg Girl Scouts, and the local Brownie Troop, with their leaders and committee members are conducting a magazine drive here to raise funds for the current expenses of the two groups, particularly for promotional work.

The drive is being supervised by a committee consisting of Mesdames Albert Cook, Elizabeth Williams, Gordon Taylor, Wilma Lindberg, Charles Conrad, John Ash, Evan Sigler, Adam Baer, William S. Jenkins, David Bender, William Goebel, Thomas Elias and Miss Mary Meek.

Trucks for the pick-up work have been donated by Charles Conrad, William Goebel and John Jones.

Residents having old magazines they wish to contribute are asked to notify member of the committee and arrangements will be made to make the collection.

Cpl. F. S. Cross To Be Reburied

WESTERNPORT—The body of Cpl. Francis S. "Moonie" Cross, 26, son of Mrs. Beulah R. Cross, Philadelphia, Pa., and Bernard Cross, Sr., Westernport, who was fatally injured April 4, 1945, in a traffic accident in the Philippines, will arrive in Westernport Saturday and will be taken to the Fredlock Funeral Home.

Cpl. Cross entered the service September 5, 1941, and received his basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. He also trained at Fort Lewis, Tacoma, Wash., Ilwakia, Wash., and Trenton, N. J., before going overseas. He arrived in Tasmania, Australia, in March, 1942, where he was stationed for a year before serving two years in New Guinea. He was sent to the Philippines in the fall of 1944.

Cpl. Cross was born in Emoryville, W. Va., and attended Emoryville schools. He was employed as a coal miner before entering the Army. He was a member of the Emoryville Methodist Church and the United Mine Workers.

Besides his parents, Cpl. Cross is survived by two brothers, Bernard Cross, Jr., Westernport, and Ray Cross, Philadelphia, and one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Spiker, Philadelphia.

W.V.U. Dean Of Agriculture Makes Conservation Talk To Lions Club

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—R. C. Orton, dean of the College of Agriculture, West Virginia University, addressed the Moorefield Lions Club Monday night at the meeting at the Airport Inn on "Water and the Water Tables."

Dean Orton pointed out that the United States is wasting an abundant natural resource and that if corrective measuers are not taken soon the soils would be similar that of Greece and China. Orton said Greece and China were practically dead countries because of the loss of water.

"For life to exists " said Dean Orton,"we must have sunshine, air, water and mineral elements." He stated that very little can be done about sunshine or air but suggested some steps to protect the water supply.

Orbon also spoke briefly on the State Planning Board for West Virginia, of which he is a member.

In the business meeting of the club the president, J. E. Matson, stated that few people knew the Lions paid half the rent of the Moorefield Public Library, that the club sponsored and paid $125 per year for the Boy Scout Troop, and sponsored and contributed $100 to the Town Recreation Park at the Bulwarks. The club also purchases some 15 pairs of glasses each year for indigent or needy children, sponsors the annual Halloween parade and the annual Christmas tree.

It was announced that the Lions Club Old Crock's basketball team would play the Moorefield 'Fire Eaters' team at the high school gymnasium Monday night, February 14, with the proceeds for the March of Dimes Campaign.

The Lions board of directors requested a "walk' sign on the traffic light at the intersection of Winchester and Main streets. Mayor P. W. Clarke reported that the sign had been ordered and would replace the present traffic signal. The present signal will be moved to the corner of Main and Jefferson.

A .W. Gamble, Charleton Saville, Charlie Kerns and James E. Ansel were the new members admitted to the club during the recent membership drive.

Women's Club Hears Orton

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Dr. C. R. Orton, West Virginia University, spoke briefly to the members of the Woman's Club Monday evening at Hotel McNeill on the subject of the State Planning Board. Dr. Orton, chairman of the board, told of various pamphlets that might be secured to assist towns like Moorefield in planning for the future.

Mrs. C. M. Bennett, chairman of the club's education department, was in charge of the program and spoke briefly on personal responsibility to government.

During the business meeting the president, Mrs. Courtney Pratt, called for discussion as to whether the club should reissue the cook book or compile a new one. Mrs. S. L. Dodd, Mrs. W. J. Teets and Mrs. John Harman were appointed to attend to the matter.

Mrs. John St. Clair read an amendment to the constitution and by-laws, to be acted on at the next meeting, to increase the club dues to $2.

The members of the club took part in a current events quiz which was won by Miss Elizabeth Wilson, who will be awarded a prize to the value of $5 by Time.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. J. M. Harrison, Mrs. R. J. Bean, Mrs. Clyde Shanholtzer and Mrs. Ashby Scea.

Hardy County Fees Total $865.20

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Receipts of $865.20 for the month of January were announced by Clerk R. M. Gamble which included $686 hunting and fishing licenses. Fees recording totaled $155.95, fees executor's cases $3, fees administrator's cases $8, fees guardian cases $2, fees copies $1.75, and other licenses 50 cents.

A total of 303 hunting and fishing licenses for residents totaled $606, one season fishing license for non-resident $5 and 5 non-resident state wide hunting and fishing license, $75.

Animal Dumping Is Protested

FROSTBURG—Members of District No. 19, Hunters' Club, at a meeting held Tuesday evening at the Shaft school house, protested the local custom of disposing of unwanted dogs and cats along the county roads in the vicinity of Shaft, Midlothian and Vale Summit.

William Davis, an experienced hunter, asserted that offspring of these domestic animals roam the woods and prey on rabbits and young birds, doing much damage for which the fox is blamed. Foxes are troublesome, but stray dogs and cats, which should be killed by their owners, are even worse, Davis said.

Davis who resides on a farm near Shaft, reported that almost daily a sack containing unwanted puppies or kittens is found along the highway near his farm. Full-grown dogs and cats are also disposed of in the same way, he said.

Davis and others also protested against the methods of fox trappers who set their traps and do not return to them for three or four days. He reported that he lost one registered fox hound and is about to lose another, both having lost a foot in a fox trap. Had the traps been visited daily, he claimed, the dogs might have been released before their injuries became serious.

Members of the club who reside in the Midlothian area criticized motorists who dump garbage and trash in woods bordering the Midlothian Road, once a beauty spot of this section.

Several speakers pointed out that rather than drive a few hundred yards further to the city dump, motorists scatter their trash, including items as large as mattresses, along the roadside.

Regional Game Warden Joseph Minke, principal speaker, confined his remarks to rules and regulations of his department and promised to co-operate with the Shaft hunters in all projects they may undertake to improve wildlife and fish in their section.

The meeting was attended by about thirty-five members.

Solicitors have been appointed for house-to-house canvassing in each section of town. The drive will end February 28.

W.V.U. Dean Of Agriculture Makes Conservation Talk To Lions Club

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—R. C. Orton, dean of the College of Agriculture, West Virginia University, addressed the Moorefield Lions Culb Monday night at the meeting at the Airport Inn on "Water and the Water Tables."

Dean Orton pointed out that the United States is wasting an abundant natural resource and that if corrective measuers are not taken soon the soils would be similar that of Greece and China. Orton said Greece and China were practically dead countries because of the loss of water.

"For life to exists " said Dean Orton,"we must have sunshine, air, water and mineral elements." He stated that very little can be done about sunshine or air but suggested some steps to protect the water supply.

Orbon also spoke briefly on the State Planning Board for West Virginia, of which he is a member.

In the business meeting of the club the president, J. E. Matson, stated that few people knew the Lions paid half the rent of the Moorefield Public Library, that the club sponsored and paid $125 per year for the Boy Scout Troop, and sponsored and contributed $100 to the Town Recreation Park at the Bulwarks. The club also purchases some 15 pairs of glasses each year for indigent or needy children, sponsors the annual Halloween parade and the annual Christmas tree.

It was announced that the Lions Club Old Crock's basketball team would play the Moorefield 'Fire Eaters' team at the high school gymnasium Monday night, February 14, with the proceeds for the March of Dimes Campaign.

The Lions board of directors requested a "walk' sign on the traffic light at the intersection of Winchester and Main streets. Mayor P. W. Clarke reported that the sign had been ordered and would replace the present traffic signal. The present signal will be moved to the corner of Main and Jefferson.

A .W. Gamble, Charleton Saville, Charlie Kerns and James E. Ansel were the new members admitted to the club during the recent membership drive.

Farm Women Discuss Care Of The Sick

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Mrs. S. L. Dodd taught the lesson on Home Care of the Sick at the meeting of the Old Fields Farm Women last week at the home of Mrs. C. C. Wise. Mrs. Joe Lively was co-hostess.

Mrs. Ida Feller had charge of devotions.

The club was presented with a gavel by W. L. Wilson, for the Old Fields Farm Women.

In the business session, $3.50 was donated to the March of Dimes and $5 to the sheriff of Tucker County for Richard Helmick, who was lost in the Davis mountains. Mrs. Carl Allen announced that two books, one for last year and one for this, had been put in the library in memory of Mrs. E. O. Harwood.

It was decided to hold a White Elephant Sale later in the spring and Mrs. P. E. Thrush, Mrs. C. C. Wise, Mrs. C. B. Allen, Mrs. J. B. Golliday, Mrs. Ellis Hyre, Mrs. L. R. Grover and Miss Faye Mathias were appointed the committee in charge.

The garden school was postponed until March 3 and a garden tour planned for June 2.

Hardy County Briefs

Wardensville High School has set Saturday evening, February 19, as the date for a jamboree at the high school gym. Food and other articles will be on sale. Music will be furnished by the band for whose benefit this event is being held.

Pupils of the Mathias Graded School haye exceeded their last year's record in contributing to the March of Dimes. The sum of $67.60 was collected.

Women's Club Hears Orton

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Dr. C. R. Orton, West Virginia University, spoke briefly to the members of the Woman's Club Monday evening at Hotel McNeill on the subject of the State Planning Board. Dr. Orton, chairman of the board, told of various pamphlets that might be secured to assist towns like Moorefield in planning for the future.

Mrs. C. M. Bennett, chairman of the club's education department, was in charge of the program and spoke briefly on personal responsibility to government.

During the business meeting the president, Mrs. Courtney Pratt, called for discussion as to whether the club should reissue the cook book or compile a new one. Mrs. S. L. Dodd, Mrs. W. J. Teets and Mrs. John Harman were appointed to attend to the matter.

Mrs. John St. Clair read an amendment to the constitution and by-laws, to be acted on at the next meeting, to increase the club dues to $2.

The members of the club took part in a current events quiz which was won by Miss Elizabeth Wilson, who will be awarded a prize to the value of $5 by Time.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. J. M. Harrison, Mrs. R. J. Bean, Mrs. Clyde Shanholtzer and Mrs. Ashby Scea.

Moose To Renovate, Remodel Quarters

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The Moorefield Loyal Order of Moose will begin remodeling and renovating the Moose Home within the next 60 days. The proposed improvements will cost approximately $10,000.

Work will start as soon as the premises are vacated by the South Branch Truck and Implement Company, now constructing a new building at the north edge of Moorefield.

The new Moose home will be on the street level.

The lodge donated gold basketballs to be presented to the winners of the regional basketball tournament to be held in Moorefield High School gymnasium early in March.

The lodge also donated $15 to the current March of Dimes campaign.

Piney Plains P-TA Meets Friday Night

LITTLE ORLEANS—The Parent-Teacher Association of Piney Plains School will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Rev. Howard Whittaker, pastor of the United Brethren Church at Flintstone, will be guest speaker. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wallow will present several vocal and instrumental numbers.

Mrs. A. A. Shaffer, president of the association, will preside at the business meeting. Classrooms will be open for visitors at 7:30 and each home room teacher will be in her room. The public is invited to the meeting.

Town Park Light Plan Progresses

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The executive committee of the South Branch Athletic Association met Saturday night in Senator Ralph J. Bean's office to continue plans for the lighting of Town Park.

Irvin Bowman, treasurer, reported $2,000 definitely pledged with another $1,000 to be pledged as soon as the solicitors can contact the donors.

When the $7,500 is raised, half the total necessary for the lights, the association will arrange to finance the other half and install the lights. Committees will be appointed in Pendleton, Grant and Hampshire counties to assist in installing field lights for night athletic contests in the Valley.

The papers of incorporation for the non-profit organization have been submitted for a charter from the state.

Hardy County Fees Total $865.20

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Receipts of $865.20 for the month of January were announced by Clerk R. M. Gamble which included $686 hunting and fishing licenses. Fees recording totaled $155.95, fees executor's cases $3, fees administrator's cases $8, fees guardian cases $2, fees copies $1.75, and other licenses 50 cents.

A total of 303 hunting and fishing licenses for residents totaled $606, one season fishing license for non-resident $5 and 5 non-resident state wide hunting and fishing license, $75.

4-H Club To Meet

LITTLE ORLEANS — The 4-H Club will meet in the school house at 2:30 p. m. Monday.

Brooke Bodkin, senior forest supervisor, will explain the state forest program and care of lumber to the members.

Contributions To Boy Scout Fund Are Reported

$485 Donated In Frostburg

FROSTBURG — The Advance Gifts committee of the Boy Scout fund drive which is being conducted here this week announced a total of $485 had been received by noon yesterday.

Frank T. Powers stated that the American Legion will contribute through its budget committee, headed by Hugh Watson, post finance officer.

A committee, headed by Clifton D. Jeffries and Walter Mackey, will begin a canvass of local business and professional people today.

John L. Dunkle, chairman of Mountain District, Boy Scouts of America, said 500 letters have been mailed to former financial supporters of Boy Scouts, urging them to contribute to the 1949 drive.

Dunkle reported that Boy Scout Week is also being observed in other towns of the Mountain District by committees conducting a canvass for quotas assigned to them in similar drives throughout Potomac Council.

The campaign in Midland is in charge of William Wilson and Homer Noel; in Eckhart the canvassers are working under direction of Junior Emerick and Charles Stark; Dan Hershberger and the Grantsville Rotary Club are assuming responsibility for the collection in that section of Garrett County; and in Mt. Savage collections are being made under direction of Raymond Himmelwright and members of the Mt. Savage Lions Club.

The Avilton Rifle Club will hold a Valentine Dance in St. Anne's Hall, Avilton, Md., Wednesday, February 16.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 9 — (INS)— Jennifer Jones gets a goodie at Warner Brothers in "Victoria Grandolet," Henry Bellamann's best seller of a few years ago. It was originally bought by Jack Warner for Bette Davis. Then, because of the southern atmosphere, it was thought too much like "Jezebel," which Bette made several years ago.

Louella Parsons

There are some angles which have to be changed in the story which is highly dramatic, and almost as somber as "King's Row," Bellamann's first successful novel, which was also made by Warners.

Michael Curtiz will direct and there is nobody better on that heavy "drammer" than Mike.

• — • — •

There has been so much talk about "The Glass Menagerie" and where it will go, that it is nice that it is finally settled. The contracts are all drawn up with Jack Warner for Charles Feldman to make it as an independent picture on the Warner lot.

Jane Wyman plays the daughter role, with Jack Carson as the gentleman caller. The mother, which Laurette Taylor created on the stage, and which brought her to fame in the later years of her life, has not yet been cast.

Irving Rapper is mentioned as the director.

• — • — •

I have just heard that Republic was able to sign Dolores Del Rio to play opposite John Carroll in "The Avengers." The whole thing will be filmed on location in Buenos Aires beginning next month. John Auer is already making arrangements.

Carroll will play a swashbuckling hero along the Errol Flynn lines, and the picture will be made both in English and Spanish.

Dolores, who is popular in the Latin American countries, will do much to create good feeling.

• — • — •

I was happy to talk to Gloria Swanson today. She came here to make a test for Charlie Brackett and Billy Wilder for "Sunset Boulevard," but she hasn't decided yet whether or not she wants to do the picture, she's doing so well on television.

She told me all about her children, Joseph, who is now an electronics engineer and so brilliant, and Michele, who is in school. Her eldest daughter, Gloria Somborne Anderson, named her ten months old baby, Gloria, which delighted Gloria, the grandmother.

Gloria is just as thin as she was years ago and seems to me to have hardly aged at all.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Brian Donlevy celebrated his birthday with his daughter, Judy, Cy Wills and Betty Todhunter at the Seacomber's. Marjorie Donlevy (Mrs. Brian), who was unhappy in Hollywood, is now in London.

Zoe Ann Olsen, the attractive Olympic swimmer, whose engagement to Jackie Jensen, All-American football player, I exclusively announced during the holidays, is coming to Hollywood February 28. She will train for the Jimmy McHugh swim meet.

The Donald O'Connors all by their little lonesome celebrating their fifth wedding anniversary at the Sportsman's Lodge.

Thomas Gomez has been paged for the only straight role in the new Irving Berlin-Moss Hart musical, "Miss Liberty." He is also being paged for three or four movie roles. Being a good actor pays.

My thanks to Bob Alton, Kay Thompson's dance director, and to Bob Eckton for their new song, Lolly Hasn't Mentioned Me In Weeks." I promise to play it—but not to sing it.

Diana Napier, widow of the famous singer, Richard Tauber, has just completed his life story. In the book Miss Napier tells of how Marlene Dietrich tried to give financial aid to Tauber when he was broke during the war. I can vouch for that, because I was in New York when Marlene was desperately trying to aid Tauber, and didn't want anything to be said about it so that he wouldn't be upset.

The new song Elsa Lanchester will introduce at the Turnabout Theater is a takeoff on the Aly Khan-Rita Hayworth romance only it's in reverse. It's about an Indian princess who comes to Hollywood and marries a good-looking actor. She's calling it "The Maharanee of Swat."

That's all today.

Bond Posted In Drunk Driving Case

KEYSER, W. Va.—E. K. Smith, New Creek, waived a preliminary hearing Tuesday before Justice of the Peace A. A. Hood on a charge of drunken driving.

Smith posted $500 bond for action of the April Grand Jury. Smith was arrested Monday night by Trooper Frank Bowley of the State Police, who stated the alleged offense is Smith's second.

At a hearing before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle yesterday Charles Davey, F Street, was sentenced to serve 22 days in jail.

He was arrested by City Police eight days ago, according to Justice Bazzle, who explained the time was subtracted from the usual 30-day sentence.

Two Keyser parents, charged with failing to send their children to school, were fined $7.50 each at hearings before Justice Bazzle yesterday.

They are Daisy Swick, Radical Hill, and W. B. Jones, South Main Street.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Joseph O. Mellott who died February 10th, 1942.
Deep in our hearts lies a picture
Of a loved one laid to rest.
In memory's frame we shall keep it,
Because he was one of the best.

More and more each day we miss him;
Friends may think the wound is healed;
But they little know the sorrow
Lies within our hearts concealed.
His wife and children.

In memory of our dear son and brother, Pfc. Charles (Pete) Jones, who lost his life in Germany 4 years ago, Feb. 10, 1945.
A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we love is stilled;
A place is vacant in our hearts
Which never can be filled

But someday we shall clasp your hand,
Your happy smile we'll see,
And hear your voice and see your smile
For all eternity.
Sadly missed by his Mother,
Sister, and Brothers.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Joseph O. Mellott who died February 10th, 1942.
Deep in our hearts lies a picture
Of a loved one laid to rest.
In memory's frame we shall keep it,
Because he was one of the best.

More and more each day we miss him;
Friends may think the wound is healed;
But they little know the sorrow
Lies within our hearts concealed.
His wife and children.

In memory of our dear son and brother, Pfc. Charles (Pete) Jones, who lost his life in Germany 4 years ago, Feb. 10, 1945.
A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we love is stilled;
A place is vacant in our hearts
Which never can be filled

But someday we shall clasp your hand,
Your happy smile we'll see,
And hear your voice and see your smile
For all eternity.
Sadly missed by his Mother,
Sister, and Brothers.

Stock Market Closes With Gains Of Over A Point

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP) — The stock market shrugged off violent fluctuations in commodities today and closed with gains of fractions to more than a point.

Demand for stocks was never aggressive. Turnover shrank to 880,000 shares from 960,000 yesterday, and the number of issues traded contracted to 973 from 1,021. Of today's total, 477 advanced and 247 declined.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .2 of one point to 63.1.

Those higher included Skelly Oil, Superior Oil of California, U. S. Steel, National Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Boeing, Consolidated Natural Gas, American Smelting, Homestake Mining, Dome Mines, General Electric, Dow Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Philip Morris, American Woolen, Nickel Plate, Standard Oil (NJ), Gulf Oil, and United Air Lines.

Among a handful of losers were Packard, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Kennecott Copper, Radio Corp., and American Tobacco.

The bond market fought hard for a price rise, but the best it could get was an even break.

Turnover was $3,040,000, lightest of the week. Yesterday $3,150,000 changed hands.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Magnetic Personality

Bill Johnston, a member of the distinguished Johnston family of promoters, who is accused of reviving wrestling at Madison Square Garden, issued a pronouncement the other day that may strike grief into the hearts of thousands of television viewers along the eastern seaboard. Then again it may not.

John Crosby

Mr. Johnston declared: "I think that television has helped wrestling and the majority of wrestling shows should be televised. But, having seen Gorgeous George in many of his matches, after careful consideration, I have come to the conclusion that the only way a man of Gorgeous George's tremendous magnetic personality can be appreciated by the fans is to see him in person. Therefore the wrestling bouts at Madison Square Garden February 22 will not be televised."

After a bit more careful consideration, weighing his words more zealously than the language quite deserves, Mr. Johnston added that he would be doing an injustice to Gorgeous George to bring him into thousands of homes "where his true personality would not be felt."

• — • — •

After a little careful consideration of my own—you'd be surprised how many angles there are—I'm forced to conclude Mr. Johnston has told only half the story. Frankly, Mr. Johnston, I've never been exposed to Gee Gee's tremendous magnetic personality in the flesh. When I reached the west coast in January, I was immediately informed I couldn't conceivably depart without seeing Gee Gee on television. So I saw him. On television.

Consequently, I'm not equipped to say whether the full, rich fragrance of Gee Gee's personality is seriously diminished by television. All I know is that an awful lot of it comes across electronically. Enough for me, at any rate. I'm a man of rather delicate sensibilities and even five years of Army life hasn't prepared me for any more of Gorgeous George than I can see on a seven-inch screen.

What little I saw of that tremendous magnetic personality I certainly appreciated, if that's the word for it, but how much would you say I missed? How much of his personality is dissipated by tranmission? Eighty per cent? The very thought is enough to scare me out of the vicinity of Madison Square Garden on the night of February 22. Suppose I ran into Gee Gee personally? I'd be struck blind.

You don't mind if I call him Gee Gee, do you, Mr. Johnston? Seems more appropriate than Gorgeous George. Besides it's shorter.

I'm prepared to go along with Mr. Johnston on the second part of his statement, that it would be an injustice to Gee Gee to bring only a fraction of his personality into thousands of homes. The question as to whom the greater injustice was being done—the people in the homes or Gee Gee—I'll leave to the higher courts. It would obviously be an enormous injustice all the way around. Let's let it go at that.

Television, as Mr. Johnston points out, has undoubtedly done a great deal for wrestling. But what, I'd like to ask, has wrestling done for television? In Los Angeles, I was told, Gee Gee was the first and until recently just about the only live television star. The sight of this elegant and preposterous figure mincing about a prize ring filled a great many movie executives with complacence concerning television which, under the circumstances, was entirely justified.

The same sight repeated night after night inspired thousands of television set owners into turning off their sets, possibly forever. In fact, Gee Gee may be personally responsible for retarding the growth of television on the west coast for a full decade.

Stock Market Closes With Gains Of Over A Point

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP) — The stock market shrugged off violent fluctuations in commodities today and closed with gains of fractions to more than a point.

Demand for stocks was never aggressive. Turnover shrank to 880,000 shares from 960,000 yesterday, and the number of issues traded contracted to 973 from 1,021. Of today's total, 477 advanced and 247 declined.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .2 of one point to 63.1.

Those higher included Skelly Oil, Superior Oil of California, U. S. Steel, National Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Boeing, Consolidated Natural Gas, American Smelting, Homestake Mining, Dome Mines, General Electric, Dow Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Philip Morris, American Woolen, Nickel Plate, Standard Oil (NJ), Gulf Oil, and United Air Lines.

Among a handful of losers were Packard, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Kennecott Copper, Radio Corp., and American Tobacco.

The bond market fought hard for a price rise, but the best it could get was an even break.

Turnover was $3,040,000, lightest of the week. Yesterday $3,150,000 changed hands.

Radio In Review

By JOHN CROSBY

The Magnetic Personality

Bill Johnston, a member of the distinguished Johnston family of promoters, who is accused of reviving wrestling at Madison Square Garden, issued a pronouncement the other day that may strike grief into the hearts of thousands of television viewers along the eastern seaboard. Then again it may not.

John Crosby

Mr. Johnston declared: "I think that television has helped wrestling and the majority of wrestling shows should be televised. But, having seen Gorgeous George in many of his matches, after careful consideration, I have come to the conclusion that the only way a man of Gorgeous George's tremendous magnetic personality can be appreciated by the fans is to see him in person. Therefore the wrestling bouts at Madison Square Garden February 22 will not be televised."

After a bit more careful consideration, weighing his words more zealously than the language quite deserves, Mr. Johnston added that he would be doing an injustice to Gorgeous George to bring him into thousands of homes "where his true personality would not be felt."

• — • — •

After a little careful consideration of my own—you'd be surprised how many angles there are—I'm forced to conclude Mr. Johnston has told only half the story. Frankly, Mr. Johnston, I've never been exposed to Gee Gee's tremendous magnetic personality in the flesh. When I reached the west coast in January, I was immediately informed I couldn't conceivably depart without seeing Gee Gee on television. So I saw him. On television.

Consequently, I'm not equipped to say whether the full, rich fragrance of Gee Gee's personality is seriously diminished by television. All I know is that an awful lot of it comes across electronically. Enough for me, at any rate. I'm a man of rather delicate sensibilities and even five years of Army life hasn't prepared me for any more of Gorgeous George than I can see on a seven-inch screen.

What little I saw of that tremendous magnetic personality I certainly appreciated, if that's the word for it, but how much would you say I missed? How much of his personality is dissipated by tranmission? Eighty per cent? The very thought is enough to scare me out of the vicinity of Madison Square Garden on the night of February 22. Suppose I ran into Gee Gee personally? I'd be struck blind.

You don't mind if I call him Gee Gee, do you, Mr. Johnston? Seems more appropriate than Gorgeous George. Besides it's shorter.

I'm prepared to go along with Mr. Johnston on the second part of his statement, that it would be an injustice to Gee Gee to bring only a fraction of his personality into thousands of homes. The question as to whom the greater injustice was being done—the people in the homes or Gee Gee—I'll leave to the higher courts. It would obviously be an enormous injustice all the way around. Let's let it go at that.

Television, as Mr. Johnston points out, has undoubtedly done a great deal for wrestling. But what, I'd like to ask, has wrestling done for television? In Los Angeles, I was told, Gee Gee was the first and until recently just about the only live television star. The sight of this elegant and preposterous figure mincing about a prize ring filled a great many movie executives with complacence concerning television which, under the circumstances, was entirely justified.

The same sight repeated night after night inspired thousands of television set owners into turning off their sets, possibly forever. In fact, Gee Gee may be personally responsible for retarding the growth of television on the west coast for a full decade.

Charter Bill Is Reported Out By Delegation

Measure Carries 61 Amendments

Cumberland's new charter bill was reported out by the Allegany County delegation yesterday with 61 amendments, and the home rule provision stricken from the measure, while other legislation of local interest also occupied the House of Delegates.

The charter bill must still pass final reading and go to the Senate for action, according to Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., chairman of the county delegation. Whitworth and William H. Geppert, another local attorney-delegate commented that the home rule clause, which would have permitted the city government to amend the charter, is "clearly unconstitutional."

In the meantime, four delegates, Ankeney (D-Washington), James (D-Harford), Reeves (R-Montgomery), and John T. Fey, Republican of this county, submitted a "Home Rule" bill for Maryland cities and towns. Endorsed by the League of Municipalities, the measure would prohibit the Legislature from enacting any but general local laws.

Municipal administrations would enact their own laws for actual governmental operations, the bill provides.

Creates Pension Board

Among the 61 proposed amendments to the measure were the following:

1. Create a pension board to supervise benefits to ex-city employes.
2. Require the proposed city manager, tax collector and finance officer to be bonded.
3. Boost the property tax limit, aside from debt service charges, to 90 cents.
4. Confirm $20 raises in the base pay of police and firemen.
5. Require department heads to have lived in Cumberland for at least three years.
6. Provide that the Mayor and Council may undertake only parking lots and garages as self-liquidating projects.
7. Call for a referendum on a proposed city market.
8. Raise to $25,000 the limit on property which the city may buy or sell without a special vote.

Whitworth said a bill to increase the salary of the sheriff of Allegany County from $3,000 to $4,000 per year was given a favorable report by the delegation.

A bill to require the County Commissioners to increase appropriations to the several volunteer fire companies in the county $100 each passed the house yesterday.

No Opposition

Whitworth said the bill setting up a special taxing area for Cresaptown to provide a water system for the community was introduced and referred to the local delegation. Hearing on the measure was held yesterday morning, the chairman said, and there was no opposition. Those who appeared all favored the bill, he said.

At 10 a. m. today a hearing is scheduled on the Subversive Activity Bill, and Whitworth said it has been indicated there may be one or two people from Allegany County appear against the measure.

The county delegation also introduced a bill to authorize the Allegany County Commissioners to expend $5,000 annually for certain charities, at least $1,000 would be given to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, and the remainder, if any, would go to Community Chest, Cancer Society and other like charitable associations.

Rolling Billboard Advertises Cumberland

Cumberland's Industrial Promotion Committee, in its campaign to publicize the city as a good location for new industrial plants, has adopted a unique plan of rolling billboards, which they hope will call attention to the industrial possibilities here. The idea of painting the sign on huge trailers which visit many eastern cities was presented by Earl Chaney a member of the committee. Howard M. Smith, committee chairman, said the space on the truck was donated by Chaney and other transfer companies will be encouraged to follow a similar plan and program. The rolling billboards are just one phase of the city's campaign. Other plans are being completed and it is hoped inquiries into Cumberland's industrial advantages will result.

Sen. Mundt Plans Three Lincoln Day Addresses

Will Speak Here Tonight At 6:30

The visit of United States Senator Karl E. Mundt (R-South Dakota) to Cumberland tonight will mark the first of a series of three Lincoln Day addresses on his agenda.

Senator Mundt will arrive by train from Washington late this afternoon with Rep. J. Glenn Beall of Maryland's Sixth District.

He will be principal speaker at the Lincoln Day dinner to be held at 6:30 p. m. in the recreation hall of Centre Street Methodist Church, sponsored by the Republican State Central Committee for Allegany County.

Rep. Beall, who arranged for Senator Mundt's visit here, will introduce him to the capacity audience of 300 expected to attend. Paul M. Fletcher, chairman of the county committee, will preside.

Another guest speaker will be State Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany.)

Senator Mundt's talk will deal with foreign affairs and the Communist threat within the government.

Prior to his election to the Senate last November, he served six years on the House Un-American Activities Committee and was acting chairman last year.

Commanders of all veterans' organizations in the county have been invited to attend.

His talk is expected to be of especial interest to the American Legion, which sponsored a state amendment, passed in the November election, to prevent persons charged with subversive activities from holding government posts.

Senator Mundt will leave Cumberland late tonight by train for Chicago, where he will address the Cook County Republican Club tomorrow night. Saturday night he will give a Lincoln Day address in Springfield, Mo., then returning to Washington by plane.

DINNER SPEAKER—One of the guest speakers at the Lincoln Day dinner program scheduled tonight at Centre Street Methodist Church recreation hall will be State Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany.)

Walsh Testifies Against House Membership Plan

Says Constitutional Convention Proper

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 9 (AP)—Lawmakers pondering the problem pretty well agreed today that county representative in the House of Delegates is inequitable.

Whereupon a bill was introduced in the Senate that would keep it that way temporarily—freezing the House membership at 123.

The inconsistency, however, is only apparent.

Behind it is the idea, forcefully expressed in the Senate Judiciary committee, that a constitutional convention would be the proper place to consider a revision of representation.

The committee held a hearing today on a plan—put forth by the Legislative Council—to reshuffle the house membership on the basis of the 1950 U. S. Census.

That plan was turned down by the committee, one of the reasons being the members' belief that it didn't have the ghost of a chance for passage.

Beyond that, the two influential witnesses before the committee voiced opposition. They were William C. Walsh of Cumberland, former state attorney general, and the present holder of that office, Hall Hammond.

Walsh said since the re-appointment of House seats would be based on the 1950 census, voters under the rejected plan would ballot on something the results of which they couldn't clearly know.

Senator Della (B-Balto-6th), chairman of the committee, indicated he thought the same. But constitutional conventions are rarities in Maryland political history and in the meantime there's the question of preventing the house from becoming unwieldy.

Under the present system, several counties would pick up numerous members with the next census, and Walsh—who headed a governor's committee on the representation subject two years ago—noted that limiting the overall House membership is desirable.

So, after the committee virtually killed the plan before it, its chairman put in the freezer bill designed chiefly to mark time until an ac-

Informal Accord Reached On Air Service Details

Need For Range Finder Cited

Informal agreement was reached at a conference last night of the Municipal Airport Commission with an official of All-American Airways on details of the airline's service to Cumberland, which is scheduled to start March 7.

The group also decided to aid All-American in securing range finder equipment for use at the local airport, at the suggestion of Harold Bazley, Pittsburgh, vice president in charge of operations.

T. Donald Shires, commission secretary, was instructed to contact the Civil Aeronautics Administration in the matter.

Work To Begin

With the consent of Mayor Thomas S. Post, the commission agreed to immediately start remodeling work at the port administration building to provide office space for All American.

George M. Hitchcock, who prepared plans for the work, said it could be finished in about 30 days.

Cost is estimated in the neighborhood of $3,000. Bazley said All American is willing to pay $1,500 since their office space will occupy half the remodeled structure.

On the basis of $3,000 cost for remodeling, the airline's rental fee would work out to $500 annually or $41.66 monthly for the three-year term covered by their temporary certificate from the Civil Aeronautics Board.

However, Bazley indicated the line is willing to pay the entire $1,500 in advance.

Meanwhile, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan was asked to draw up the agreement in its final form for ratification by the Mayor and Council and the airline.

For landing rights the firm will pay the city two per cent of its sales here with a minimum of $100 monthly.

Similar agreements have already been reached at other points along the Washington-Pittsburgh route with the exception of the two terminal cities, Bazley said.

Adequate Facilities Cited

With regard to providing range finder equipment here, Bazley commented that "we need to interest the CAA in providing adequate navigational facilities."

He added that such an installation might be obtained for about $7,000, with the cost to be borne by the government. It would be monitored by CAA personnel.

The installation, a radio beam identifying the airport, would benefit all flights in this area, Bazley said, pointing out that several other airlines pass over Cumberland in daily operations.

That might prove a factor in securing the equipment from CAA, he added.

An "excellent" range finder has been located for several years at the Martinsburg port, where the need for such equipment is far less than Cumberland's, Bazley said.

In connection with All American's planned flight schedule here Bazley said during summer months additional flights might be arranged to serve Eastern Shore vacation resorts, with connections out of Baltimore.

Fares between Cumberland and Baltimore-Washington will amount to about $7, Bazley said. Preliminary flight schedules will probably be adjusted slightly to cut down flying time between the terminal points after the operation gets underway, he added.

All American's three-year agreement with the city will include a 60-day cancellation clause for both parties.

Utility Cost Estimated

John M. DelaGrange, president of Mountain Air Service, which operates the local field on lease from the city, estimated it would cost his firm a minimum of $420 yearly to provide water, electricity and heat for All American's section of the administration building. He will be reimbursed by the city.

Bazley said present field lighting facilities are adequate as far as All American is concerned.

"We are a community airline," he said. "We will be glad to receive suggestions toward improved service at any time."

Chairman Edmund E. Burke read a letter from Capt. William H. Johnson, commanding officer of the Cumberland Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol, in connection with a Link instrument trainer now stored at the airport.

The Link trainer cannot be operated because the storage space is not heated, Capt. Johnson said. Burke suggested that the equipment might be transferred to the Pennsylvania Avenue School.

Meanwhile, preliminary arrangements already made by All American include installation of VHF (very high frequency) radio equipment in the administration building.

Jere V. Chain, Washington, superintendent of stations, announced that Robert T. Yoas, 23, Williamsport, Pa., has been named station

Ceremonies Will Mark Reopening Of Bridge Here

Post, Morrison Will Officiate

Officials of the City of Cumberland and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad will participate this morning in ceremonies marking the reopening of the B. and O. Washington Street Bridge.

The formal opening, scheduled at 10:30 a. m. will mark the completion of an extensive remodeling project which cost over $12,000.

Mayor Thomas S. Post and R. A. J. Morrison, division superintendent, will each cut ribbons at opposite ends of the structure to mark the formal reopening of the bridge.

Members of the City Council and Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, will represent the city at the ceremonies.

Other railroad officials scheduled to participate are Wilson Morrow, Baltimore, maintenance of way engineer for the eastern region, and E. J. Clopton, this city, division engineer.

The work, begun December 1 and scheduled for completion within three months, was completed last night as workmen of the Cumberland Contracting Company applied the last blacktopping to the deck and approaches.

The principal change made in the structure was the removal of the center girder, which was replaced with longitudinal steel beams and covered with a laminated deck to provide a 26-foot wide space for traffic.

During the changes, the bridge was raised seven inches. In order to compensate for the increased height, a vertical curve was provided for the east approach. Officials explained the change in approaches will make for better riding conditions at city speed limits.

Klopton said the entire cost of the remodeling, including approaches, was borne by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Other work included repairs to the pedestrian sidewalks and the construction of gutters to deflect water away from the railroad tracks beneath.

Repointing of the massive masonry supports will also add to the life of the structure which was built about 1885.

Railroad officials said the laminated deck, built of treated lumber laid end on end, should last at least 20 years.

Lack Of Funds Keeps Wife Of Robinett In Philippines

Much as she would like to fight for herself and her children, Jesuita Torres y Cordero, who heard from an Associated Press reporter that her husband, Blair Robinett, was trying to annul their marriage, can't come to this country.

She hasn't the money. Her only support as far as her mother-in-law, Mrs. John W. Robinett, 207 Offutt Street, knows, was the allotment she received while her husband, a former Cumberland recruiter, was in the Army.

The passage back to her mother's home near Manila cost $1,500 and her father-in-law had to sign a note for $400 of that amount when she left last June, according to Mrs. Robinett.

When it became apparent last September that her husband might not fulfill his promise to return to the Philippines, she wrote her mother-in-law that she had enrolled in a school to train as a seamstress. When the allotment ceased, she wrote, she could no longer afford the tuition payments. Robinett received his discharge January 17.

"I know she wants to come back," Robinett's sister, Virginia said, "because she didn't want to leave. If she were to come back, we would work our fingers to the bone for her. That's how much we think of her."

Mrs. Robinett said last night that if there were anyway within reason that the family could help their daughter-in-law return, they would do it. But they are unable to aid her either.

Robinett announced last week he would drop annulment proceedings begun in Monongalia County Circuit Court, Morgantown, W. Va., during the last of January and seek a divorce in Cumberland.

However, it's not certain Morgantown is going to drop Robinett.

The annulment of the marriage, performed while Robinett was fighting the guerrillas in the Philippines, has been set aside in Morgantown. Authorities are planning a probe of transcripts at the two hearings to determine if the former soldier committed perjury.

Yesterday Judge Charles G. Baker received a wire from Filemon Cajator, San Fernando, attorney and counsel for "Jesuita Torres y Cordero" advising him that copies of the marriage certificate, birth certificates of the children and photographs of the children and the Filipino girl were being forwarded by airmail.

Judge Baker said he also received a letter from a Filipino congratulating him on the manner in which he has handled the case, and also congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Robinett for interceding in behalf of their daughter-in-law.

Resident Is Held In Robbery Try

A local man was arrested shortly after he allegedly attempted to rob a South End store last night, City Police said.

The prisoner, Carl W. Wolford, about 30, 909 Glenwood Street, was arrested in a South End bar about half an hour after a man answering his description told a grocery store proprietor's wife to "open the cash register," according to Assistant Chief of Police B. Frank Gaffney.

At about 9:35 p. m., Gaffney related, he received a call from Mrs. Quentin Rice, 23 Laing Avenue, who told him an unidentified man had ordered her to open the cash register and then fled when she walked toward the telephone to call police.

Arrested at the Subway Tavern on Virginia Avenue by Officers Joseph H. Stitcher, John W. Snyder and C. W. Thompson, Wolford was taken to the store, where, officers said, Mrs. Rice identified him as the man who accosted her earlier.

Wolford, on being questioned at Police Headquarters, told police he went into the store and ordered a cup of coffee. When Mrs. Rice, who was alone in the store, informed him the store did not sell coffee Wolford said, "All right, then open the cash register," according to police.

When Mrs. Rice started toward the telephone, Wolford said, he left.

Gaffney indicated Wolford will be questioned in the State's Attorney's office later. He was booked as held for investigation.

Heart Tag Day Will Be Held Here Saturday

Fund Campaign Gets Underway In County

Members of three local veterans auxiliary units, including the American Legion, Amvets and Veterans of Foreign Wars, together with a number of volunteers will solicit funds Saturday for the Rheumatic Fever Heart Week campaign, according to Daniel D'Amicol, campaign chairman.

Saturday has been designated as Heart "Tag" Day, at which time miniature red hearts will be given to all persons contributing toward the fund to establish and operate a local heart clinic.

The home of J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets, Baltimore Street, will be headquarters for the volunteer workers.

On Saturday night, the Amvets Auxiliary will sponsor a dance at the Amvets, for the benefit of the Heart campaign, according to Miss Freda Skelley, Amvets Auxiliary president. Last week, a similar dance was sponsored for the March of Dimes effort and $100 was raised.

On February 17, the auxiliary of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, VFW, will sponsor a benefit card party at the post home, Union Street. Mrs. Rachael Iames, chairman of the Heart campaign activity for the auxiliary, said Mrs. Rosalie Everstine has charge of tickets and Mrs. Marie Challinor and Mrs. Lillian Zimmerman will be co-chairmen. All funds realized will go to the Heart campaign.

A number of radio programs and other events are planned throughout the duration of the campaign, which is to continue until February 28, according to D'Amicol.

Miss Skelley, Mrs. Iames and Mrs. Harry Vogel, of the Legion Auxiliary, will have charge of Saturday's Heart Day solicitation.

ODT Carload Rule Suspended

Suspension of one of the early Office of Defense Transportation orders concerning the heavy loading of freight cars was announced to members of the Tri-State Traffic Club at their dinner meeting last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Leo H. Ley, Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, said the order, known as "18-A", required that cars be loaded to visible load limits or marked capacities.

Director Johnson of the ODT has suspended the order from Monday, February 14, until Saturday, April 16, Ley said. He emphasized is was merely being suspended during the period when freight car loading are normally below peak levels, not revoked.

Repeal of the war-time tax on transportation is being urged by air, bus and rail lines, Ley said.

Thomas Berry, local lawyer, formerly with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was guest speaker. He said the FBI was probably the most efficient single organization in the government and one in which the taxpayers gets more back form the money invested in it than any other.

Arrangements for the meeting were in charge of F. Lee Fresh, Clarence E. Gehr and John L. Carnochan.

Heavy Rain Is Forecast For Tonight

Seemingly tired of acrobatics, the thermometer calmed down yesterday and hovered between 30 and 55 degrees. The storm which threatened all morning went away in the middle of the afternoon and left the sky clear—which, oddly enough, is exactly what the weatherman said it would do. At 9 p. m. the temperature was 40 degrees and slipping slowly downward. More clouds, lower temperature and probable rain are predicted for today.

Police Search For Missing Local Boy

The youth, Richard Roland, 476 Baltimore Avenue, was reported missing yesterday by his mother. At the time he left home, she said, he was wearing a brown leather jacket and Army trousers.

The boy is five feet, four inches tall and has blue eyes and dark brown hair.

Ridgeley Drive Breaks Record

A total of $315.70 as Ridgeley's donation to this year's March of Dimes campaign has been turned over to the Mineral County, W. Va., chairman, according to William C. Knieriem.

Knieriem headed the campaign in Ridgeley, which was sponsored for the first time by Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion.

Funds raised in the concerted drive topped those of all previous years, desipte the late start of campaign activities, Knieriem said. He explained that earlier drives were not sponsored locally.

Ten Ridgeley organizations donated a total of $95.60.

McAlpine Gets Guard Promotion

John M. McAlpine, 40, 504 Cumberland Street, plans and training officer for the First Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment, Maryland National Guard, has been promoted to the rank of major, Lt. Col. Randolph Millholland, commanding officer, announced last night.

Maj. McAlpine has been serving in his present capacity with the rank of captain for two years.

Inducted into the Army at Camp Lee, Va., in 1942, McAlpine was commissioned a second lieutenant upon graduation from Officers Candidate School at Fort Benning, Ga., in June, 1943.

He went overseas to the European Theater with the 80th Infantry Division in August, 1944, and served with American Military Government in Germany from the end of the war to January, 1946, when he was promoted to the rank of captain.

Maj. McAlpine wears three battle stars, the Ardennes, Rhineland and Central Europe, the Bronze Star and the Combat Infantryman Badge.

After leaving the Army, McAlpine joined the local Guard unit when it was reactivated in December, 1946.

Bankers Have Forum On State Income Tax

An open forum on state income tax under the direction of Edward P. Welsh from the State Income Division was held at the monthly meeting of the Western Maryland Conference of the National Auditors and Bank Comptrollers last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Harry Landis, cashier of the First National Bank, president, presided over the meeting. Welsh was introduced by Thomas L. Keech, vice president of the Liberty Trust Bank, who had charge of the program.

The next meeting will be held March 9 at 6:15 p. m. at the Shrine Club with the Frostburg National Bank in charge of the program.

Preview Of Air Service Planned

Plans for a civic program to be held Sunday, February 27, in preparation for the inauguration of air service here by All American Airways March 7, were announced yesterday by James R. Kendall, assistant manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, which is in charge of arrangements.

Some 75 persons will be invited, he said, to a banquet planned at 1 p. m. at the Elks Club under the auspices of the City of Cumberland.

Invitations will be extended to the Mayor and City Council and other city officials, the Cumberland Municipal Airport Commission, mayors of communities of the Cumberland area and traffic managers of the chief industrial plants of the area and officials of the air line.

Following the banquet, the guests will be taken by Potomac Edison buses to the airport where two All American DC-3 airliners converted for pickup service, will be available for flights in the area.

All American officials yesterday said the 24 passenger planes will begin a tour of cities to be served by the flights, beginning at Connellsville February 26.

Conlon And Eves Will Assist Vets

Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin yesterday announced the appointment of Thomas F. Conlon, Sr., assistant service officer of the Maryland Veterans Commission, and Roy W. Eves, superintendent of the B. and O. Bolt and Forge Shop, as volunteer Veterans' Reemployment Rights Committeemen with the Bureau of Veterans' Reemployment Rights under the Selective Service Act of 1948.

Both Conlon and Eves have served for a number of years on the committee charged with assisting returning veterans in securing reinstatement in their pre-service positions, upon request advising employers of their responsibilities and informing interested groups of the provisions of the law.

They will continue to serve World War II veterans who are seeking job rights granted under the 1940 Selectice Service Act.

TWUA Officers To Be Installed

An informal installation of officers of Celanese Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, will be held Wednesday, February 16, at 7:30 p. m. at a regular membership meeting in the union hall.

The 1949 officers are Playford Aldridge, president; Howard Bush, vice president; John G. Thomas, secretary-treasurer and business manager; James Martin, recording secretary.

Charles Nicodemus, David Rennie and James Roby, auditors; William E. Meagher, George Zeigler, John Estes, Carl Hinkle and Lindley Dye, executive board; Charles E. Jones, Thomas Condon, Ernest Wolford, John G. Kreitzburg and Roy Craze, board of trustees, and Walter Mahaney, warden.

Aldridge said the formal installation is being deferred until early in March so that representatives of the National TWUA office may be present.

The installation, he added, will be a part of Local 1874's celebration of the 10th anniversary of the TWUA, CIO, May 8-14 which will be celebrated in TWUA locals throughout the nation.

Fans Anticipate Air Mail Cachet

Many long forgotten first day covers filed with the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce for inclusion in the first air mail flight from this city will be included in the official flight which will mark the beginning of air service here early in March.

Harold W. Smith, manager, said the covers, some of them dating back to 1935, have been accumulating in the Chamber's files in preparation for the event.

Philatelists began to forward covers to the Chamber shortly after the Mexico Farms Airport began operations. The beginning of construction of the Cumberland Municipal Airport in 1942 brought another flood of covers to be held in preparation for the official opening of regular air service.

First day covers bearing the official cachet marking events such as the beginning of air service are much prized by stamp collectors.

Smith said the covers will be turned over to the Cumberland Postoffice for inclusion in the official flight.

Stork Arrivals

Memorial Hospital announced the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. Linwood L. Robinette, 716 Bedford Street, a son.

Allegany Hospital announced the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. William Hollenbach, 206 Central Avenue, a son Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sawyer, Jennings, La., announce the birth of a daughter February 5. Mrs. Sawyer is the former Miss Maxine Boone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Boone, 15 Pennsylvania Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth P. Griffey, Miami, Fla., announce the birth of a daughter Tuesday. Mrs. Griffey is the former Miss Beatrice Broadwater, this city.

Held For Questioning

Emory Newell, 320 North Waverly Terrace, was lodged in City Jail last night after being arrested by Officers Joseph H. Stitcher and Paul E. Penrod. He was booked as held for the State's Attorney.

AFL Officials Will Attend Conference

Three officials of the Allegany Trades Council will go to Annapolis today to attend a meeting of the executive board of the Maryland, D. C. Federation of Labor Council.

They are C. E. Stutzman, president of the Trades Council and a member of the board from this county; Charles E. Bramble, president of Local 453, Teamsters Union, and J. T. Defibaugh, Trades Council secretary.

Among legislation to be discussed at the meeting are Senate Bill No. 2, which provides for the State Department of Labor to promote voluntary arbitration, mediation and conciliation in labor disputes. The AFL here has opposed the bill, saying it might be "even worse than the Taft-Hartley Law."

The Unemployment Compensation Law, which the AFL is backing, would increase payments and eliminate the "actively seeking work" provision in the present law.

1948 Fire Losses Top $86,000 Mark

The insured fire loss in Cumberland during 1948 was $86,247.97, officials of the Cumberland Fire Department have been advised by the State Insurance Commission.

The fire loss was more than double 1947's $36,687.13 in spite of the fact that fire calls dropped considerably last year ,but were way below 1922's $216,000.

During the year, firemen answered 526 calls from the some 11,000 dwellings and business firms within the city limits. Three major fires accounted for most of the damage. Per capita loss average about $2.

Three Cows Electrocuted In Freak Accident At Dairy

A freak electrical mishap cost Paul E. Greise, Mason Road dairy farmer, three prize milk cows worth over $1,000, but nine other animals escaped injury.

The three cows, standing in stalls Nos. 4, 7 and 11, were found dead when Greise and his helpers went to the recently remodeled dairy barn early in the morning to milk. The dairyman said he first thought the animals had been poisoned, but later examination showed they had been electrocuted.

Greise said the place was thoroughly checked and a short was found in a 220 volt electrical circuit into the barn, used to power the milking machine.

The metal cable, containing the line had become charged from a bare wire and the current followed the cable to and through the switch box, through the motor and the metal frame to which the motor is attached, to a pump, and through that to the metal stanchions where the cows were held.

Greise and others who witnessed the unusual mishap are still at a loss to understand why all 12 cows on this row of stalls were not killed, and only three at irregular intervals were electrocuted. All were housed in the same conditions, and each was held in the same type of metal stanchion. The stanchions are all joined together with a metal support and electrically welded.

The animals, a part of a herd of 50 cattle Greise owns, were valuable, and included first place prize winners at local fairs.

State Conservation Group Reports On Maryland Land

A 24-page report discussing Maryland's soil problems and showing what had been done to conserve state land since the passage of the Maryland Soil Conservation Districts Law in 1937 has been published by the Maryland State Soil Conservation Committee at College Park.

The multi-illustrated booklet shows soil ruined by erosion and poor soil practices. It then gives examples of projects taken up by the committee to alleviate the situation.

Pictured are methods of contour cultivation, strip cropping, pasture improvement, drainage, wild life areas and farm ponds and woodlawn management.

About one-half of Maryland's total land area is in farms, according to the committee's report. One-sixth of the state's acreage is unsuitable for cultivation while two-thirds of the land could be turned into profitable cropland.

A great deal has been done since the passage of the conservation act, but there is much yet to be done. About one-eighth of the amount of contour cultivation necessary has been completed and only 63,935 acres of land are being strip-cropped of 675,000 needing treatment.

Charter Bill Is Reported Out By Delegation

Measure Carries 61 Amendments

Cumberland's new charter bill was reported out by the Allegany County delegation yesterday with 61 amendments, and the home rule provision stricken from the measure, while other legislation of local interest also occupied the House of Delegates.

The charter bill must still pass final reading and go to the Senate for action, according to Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., chairman of the county delegation. Whitworth and William H. Geppert, another local attorney-delegate commented that the home rule clause, which would have permitted the city government to amend the charter, is "clearly unconstitutional."

In the meantime, four delegates, Ankeney (D-Washington), James (D-Harford), Reeves (R-Montgomery), and John T. Fey, Republican of this county, submitted a "Home Rule" bill for Maryland cities and towns. Endorsed by the League of Municipalities, the measure would prohibit the Legislature from enacting any but general local laws.

Municipal administrations would enact their own laws for actual governmental operations, the bill provides.

Creates Pension Board

Among the 61 proposed amendments to the measure were the following:

1. Create a pension board to supervise benefits to ex-city employes.
2. Require the proposed city manager, tax collector and finance officer to be bonded.
3. Boost the property tax limit, aside from debt service charges, to 90 cents.
4. Confirm $20 raises in the base pay of police and firemen.
5. Require department heads to have lived in Cumberland for at least three years.
6. Provide that the Mayor and Council may undertake only parking lots and garages as self-liquidating projects.
7. Call for a referendum on a proposed city market.
8. Raise to $25,000 the limit on property which the city may buy or sell without a special vote.

Whitworth said a bill to increase the salary of the sheriff of Allegany County from $3,000 to $4,000 per year was given a favorable report by the delegation.

A bill to require the County Commissioners to increase appropriations to the several volunteer fire companies in the county $100 each passed the house yesterday.

No Opposition

Whitworth said the bill setting up a special taxing area for Cresaptown to provide a water system for the community was introduced and referred to the local delegation. Hearing on the measure was held yesterday morning, the chairman said, and there was no opposition. Those who appeared all favored the bill, he said.

At 10 a. m. today a hearing is scheduled on the Subversive Activity Bill, and Whitworth said it has been indicated there may be one or two people from Allegany County appear against the measure.

The county delegation also introduced a bill to authorize the Allegany County Commissioners to expend $5,000 annually for certain charities, at least $1,000 would be given to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, and the remainder, if any, would go to Community Chest, Cancer Society and other like charitable associations.

TWUA Officers To Be Installed

An informal installation of officers of Celanese Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, will be held Wednesday, February 16, at 7:30 p. m. at a regular membership meeting in the union hall.

The 1949 officers are Playford Aldridge, president; Howard Bush, vice president; John G. Thomas, secretary-treasurer and business manager; James Martin, recording secretary.

Charles Nicodemus, David Rennie and James Roby, auditors; William E. Meagher, George Zeigler, John Estes, Carl Hinkle and Lindley Dye, executive board; Charles E. Jones, Thomas Condon, Ernest Wolford, John G. Kreitzburg and Roy Craze, board of trustees, and Walter Mahaney, warden.

Aldridge said the formal installation is being deferred until early in March so that representatives of the National TWUA office may be present.

The installation, he added, will be a part of Local 1874's celebration of the 10th anniversary of the TWUA, CIO, May 8-14 which will be celebrated in TWUA locals throughout the nation.

Fans Anticipate Air Mail Cachet

Many long forgotten first day covers filed with the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce for inclusion in the first air mail flight from this city will be included in the official flight which will mark the beginning of air service here early in March.

Harold W. Smith, manager, said the covers, some of them dating back to 1935, have been accumulating in the Chamber's files in preparation for the event.

Philatelists began to forward covers to the Chamber shortly after the Mexico Farms Airport began operations. The beginning of construction of the Cumberland Municipal Airport in 1942 brought another flood of covers to be held in preparation for the official opening of regular air service.

First day covers bearing the official cachet marking events such as the beginning of air service are much prized by stamp collectors.

Smith said the covers will be turned over to the Cumberland Postoffice for inclusion in the official flight.

Rolling Billboard Advertises Cumberland

Cumberland's Industrial Promotion Committee, in its campaign to publicize the city as a good location for new industrial plants, has adopted a unique plan of rolling billboards, which they hope will call attention to the industrial possibilities here. The idea of painting the sign on huge trailers which visit many eastern cities was presented by Earl Chaney a member of the committee. Howard M. Smith, committee chairman, said the space on the truck was donated by Chaney and other transfer companies will be encouraged to follow a similar plan and program. The rolling billboards are just one phase of the city's campaign. Other plans are being completed and it is hoped inquiries into Cumberland's industrial advantages will result.

Ceremonies Will Mark Reopening Of Bridge Here

Post, Morrison Will Officiate

Officials of the City of Cumberland and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad will participate this morning in ceremonies marking the reopening of the B. and O. Washington Street Bridge.

The formal opening, scheduled at 10:30 a. m. will mark the completion of an extensive remodeling project which cost over $12,000.

Mayor Thomas S. Post and R. A. J. Morrison, division superintendent, will each cut ribbons at opposite ends of the structure to mark the formal reopening of the bridge.

Members of the City Council and Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, will represent the city at the ceremonies.

Other railroad officials scheduled to participate are Wilson Morrow, Baltimore, maintenance of way engineer for the eastern region, and E. J. Clopton, this city, division engineer.

The work, begun December 1 and scheduled for completion within three months, was completed last night as workmen of the Cumberland Contracting Company applied the last blacktopping to the deck and approaches.

The principal change made in the structure was the removal of the center girder, which was replaced with longitudinal steel beams and covered with a laminated deck to provide a 26-foot wide space for traffic.

During the changes, the bridge was raised seven inches. In order to compensate for the increased height, a vertical curve was provided for the east approach. Officials explained the change in approaches will make for better riding conditions at city speed limits.

Klopton said the entire cost of the remodeling, including approaches, was borne by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Other work included repairs to the pedestrian sidewalks and the construction of gutters to deflect water away from the railroad tracks beneath.

Repointing of the massive masonry supports will also add to the life of the structure which was built about 1885.

Railroad officials said the laminated deck, built of treated lumber laid end on end, should last at least 20 years.

Conlon And Eves Will Assist Vets

Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin yesterday announced the appointment of Thomas F. Conlon, Sr., assistant service officer of the Maryland Veterans Commission, and Roy W. Eves, superintendent of the B. and O. Bolt and Forge Shop, as volunteer Veterans' Reemployment Rights Committeemen with the Bureau of Veterans' Reemployment Rights under the Selective Service Act of 1948.

Both Conlon and Eves have served for a number of years on the committee charged with assisting returning veterans in securing reinstatement in their pre-service positions, upon request advising employers of their responsibilities and informing interested groups of the provisions of the law.

They will continue to serve World War II veterans who are seeking job rights granted under the 1940 Selective Service Act.

Lack Of Funds Keeps Wife Of Robinett In Philippines

Much as she would like to fight for herself and her children, Jesuija Torres y Cordero, who heard from an Associated Press reporter that her husband, Blair Robinett, was trying to annul their marriage, can't come to this country.

She hasn't the money. Her only support as far as her mother-in-law, Mrs. John W. Robinett, 207 Offutt Street, knows, was the allotment she received while her husband, a former Cumberland recruiter, was in the Army.

The passage back to her mother's home near Manila cost $1,500 and her father-in-law had to sign a note for $400 of that amount when she left last June, according to Mrs. Robinett.

When it became apparent last September that her husband might not fulfill his promise to return to the Philippines, she wrote her mother-in-law that she had enrolled in a school to train as a seamstress. When the allotment ceased, she wrote, she could no longer afford the tuition payments. Robinett received his discharge January 17.

"I know she wants to come back," Robinett's sister, Virginia said, "because she didn't want to leave. If she were to come back, we would work our fingers to the bone for her. That's how much we think of her."

Mrs. Robinett said last night that if there were anyway within reason that the family could help their daughter-in-law return, they would do it. But they are unable to aid her either.

Robinett announced last week he would drop annulment proceedings begun in Monongalia County Circuit Court, Morgantown, W. Va., during the last of January and seek a divorce in Cumberland.

However, it's not certain Morgantown is going to drop Robinett.

The annulment of the marriage, performed while Robinett was fighting the guerrillas in the Philippines, has been set aside in Morgantown. Authorities are planning a probe of transcripts at the two hearings to determine if the former soldier committed perjury.

Yesterday Judge Charles G. Baker received a wire from Filemon Cajator, San Fernando, attorney and counsel for "Jesuita Torres y Cordero" advising him that copies of the marriage certificate, birth certificates of the children and photographs of the children and the Filipino girl were being forwarded by airmail.

Judge Baker said he also received a letter from a Filipino congratulating him on the manner in which he has handled the case, and also congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Robinett for interceding in behalf of their daughter-in-law.

The Weather

Seemingly tired of acrobatics, the thermometer calmed down yesterday and hovered between 30 and 55 degrees. The storm which threatened all morning went away in the middle of the afternoon and left the sky clear—which, oddly enough, is exactly what the weatherman said it would do. At 9 p. m. the temperature was 40 degrees and slipping slowly downward. More clouds, lower temperature and probable rain are predicted for today.

Resident Is Held In Robbery Try

A local man was arrested shortly after he allegedly attempted to rob a South End store last night, City Police said.

The prisoner, Carl W. Wolford, about 30, 909 Glenwood Street, was arrested in a South End bar about half an hour after a man answering his description told a grocery store proprietor's wife to "open the cash register," according to Assistant Chief of Police B. Frank Gaffney.

At about 9:35 p. m., Gaffney related, he received a call from Mrs. Quentin Rice, 23 Laing Avenue, who told him an unidentified man had ordered her to open the cash register and then fled when she walked toward the telephone to call police.

Arrested at the Subway Tavern on Virginia Avenue by Officers Joseph H. Stitcher, John W. Snyder and C. W. Thompson, Wolford was taken to the store, where, officers said, Mrs. Rice identified him as the man who accosted her earlier.

Wolford, on being questioned at Police Headquarters, told police he went into the store and ordered a cup of coffee. When Mrs. Rice, who was alone in the store, informed him the store did not sell coffee Wolford said, "All right, then open the cash register," according to police.

When Mrs. Rice started toward the telephone, Wolford said, he left.

Gaffney indicated Wolford will be questioned in the State's Attorney's office later. He was booked as held for investigation.

Ridgeley Drive Breaks Record

A total of $315.70 as Ridgeley's donation to this year's March of Dimes campaign has been turned over to the Mineral County, W. Va., chairman, according to William C. Knieriem.

Knieriem headed the campaign in Ridgeley, which was sponsored for the first time by Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion.

Funds raised in the concerted drive topped those of all previous years, desipte the late start of campaign activities, Knieriem said. He explained that earlier drives were not sponsored locally.

Ten Ridgeley organizations donated a total of $95.60.

Donations in contribution envelopes amounted to $96.40, while March of Dimes containers placed in business establishments yielded $28.24.

Ridgeley Elementary School pupils contributed $66.49, while Ridgeley High School students donated $28.97.

Police Search For Missing Local Boy

City Police have been asked to search for a 14-year-old Baltimore Avenue boy who has been missing from his home since January 22.

The youth, Richard Roland, 476 Baltimore Avenue, was reported missing yesterday by his mother. At the time he left home, she said, he was wearing a brown leather jacket and Army trousers.

The boy is five feet, four inches tall and has blue eyes and dark brown hair.

Stork Arrivals

Memorial Hospital announced the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. Linwood L. Robinette, 716 Bedford Street, a son.

Allegany Hospital announced the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. William Hollenbach, 206 Central Avenue, a son Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sawyer, Jennings, La., announce the birth of a daughter February 5. Mrs. Sawyer is the former Miss Maxine Boone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Boone, 15 Pennsylvania Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth P. Griffey, Miami, Fla., announce the birth of a daughter Tuesday. Mrs. Griffey is the former Miss Beatrice Broadwater, this city.

Held For Questioning

Emory Newell, 320 North Waverly Terrace, was lodged in City Jail last night after being arrested by Officers Joseph H. Stitcher and Paul E. Penrod. He was booked as held for the State's Attorney.

Heart Tag Day Will Be Held Here Saturday

Fund Campaign Gets Underway In County

Members of three local veterans auxiliary units, including the American Legion, Amvets and Veterans of Foreign Wars, together with a number of volunteers will solicit funds Saturday for the Rheumatic Fever Heart Week campaign, according to Daniel D'Amicol, campaign chairman.

Saturday has been designated as Heart "Tag" Day, at which time miniature red hearts will be given to all persons contributing toward the fund to establish and operate a local heart clinic.

The home of J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets, Baltimore Street, will be headquarters for the volunteer workers.

On Saturday night, the Amvets Auxiliary will sponsor a dance at the Amvets, for the benefit of the Heart campaign, according to Miss Freda Skelley, Amvets Auxiliary president. Last week, a similar dance was sponsored for the March of Dimes effort and $100 was raised.

On February 17, the auxiliary of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, VFW, will sponsor a benefit card party at the post home, Union Street. Mrs. Rachael Iames, chairman of the Heart campaign activity for the auxiliary, said Mrs. Rosalie Everstine has charge of tickets and Mrs. Marie Challinor and Mrs. Lillian Zimmerman will be co-chairmen. All funds realized will go to the Heart campaign.

A number of radio programs and other events are planned throughout the duration of the campaign, which is to continue until February 28, according to D'Amicol.

Miss Skelley, Mrs. Iames and Mrs. Harry Vogel, of the Legion Auxiliary, will have charge of Saturday's Heart Day solicitation.

McAlpine Gets Guard Promotion

John M. McAlpine, 40, 504 Cumberland Street, plans and training officer for the First Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment, Maryland National Guard, has been promoted to the rank of major, Lt. Col. Randolph Millholland, commanding officer, announced last night.

Maj. McAlpine has been serving in his present capacity with the rank of captain for two years.

Inducted into the Army at Camp Lee, Va., in 1942, McAlpine was commissioned a second lieutenant upon graduation from Officers Candidate School at Fort Benning, Ga., in June, 1943.

He went overseas to the European Theater with the 80th Infantry Division in August, 1944, and served with American Military Government in Germany from the end of the war to January, 1946, when he was promoted to the rank of captain.

Maj. McAlpine wears three battle stars, the Ardennes, Rhineland and Central Europe, the Bronze Star and the Combat Infantryman Badge.

After leaving the Army, McAlpine joined the local Guard unit when it was reactivated in December, 1946.

AFL Officials Will Attend Conference

Three officials of the Allegany Trades Council will go to Annapolis today to attend a meeting of the executive board of the Maryland, D. C. Federation of Labor Council.

They are C. E. Stutzman, president of the Trades Council and a member of the board from this county; Charles E. Bramble, president of Local 453, Teamsters Union, and J. T. Defibaugh, Trades Council secretary.

Among legislation to be discussed at the meeting are Senate Bill No. 2, which provides for the State Department of Labor to promote voluntary arbitration, mediation and conciliation in labor disputes. The AFL here has opposed the bill, saying it might be "even worse than the Taft-Hartley Law."

The Unemployment Compensation Law, which the AFL is backing, would increase payments and eliminate the "actively seeking work" provision in the present law.

Three Cows Electrocuted In Freak Accident At Dairy

A freak electrical mishap cost Paul E. Greise, Mason Road dairy farmer, three prize milk cows worth over $1,000, but nine other animals escaped injury.

The three cows, standing in stalls Nos. 4, 7 and 11, were found dead when Greise and his helpers went to the recently remodeled dairy barn early in the morning to milk. The dairyman said he first thought the animals had been poisoned, but later examination showed they had been electrocuted.

Greise said the place was thoroughly checked and a short was found in a 220 volt electrical circuit into the barn, used to power the milking machine.

The metal cable, containing the line had become charged from a bare wire and the current followed the cable to and through the switch box, through the motor and the metal frame to which the motor is attached, to a pump, and through that to the metal stanchions where the cows were held.

Greise and others who witnessed the unusual mishap are still at a loss to understand why all 12 cows on this row of stalls were not killed, and only three at irregular intervals were electrocuted. All were housed in the same conditions, and each was held in the same type of metal stanchion. The stanchions are all joined together with a metal support and electrically welded.

The animals, a part of a herd of 50 cattle Greise owns, were valuable, and included first place prize winners at local fairs.

Sen. Mundt Plans Three Lincoln Day Addresses

Will Speak Here Tonight At 6:30

The visit of United States Senator Karl E. Mundt (R-South Dakota) to Cumberland tonight will mark the first of a series of three Lincoln Day addresses on his agenda.

Senator Mundt will arrive by train from Washington late this afternoon with Rep. J. Glenn Beall of Maryland's Sixth District.

He will be principal speaker at the Lincoln Day dinner to be held at 6:30 p. m. in the recreation hall of Centre Street Methodist Church, sponsored by the Republican State Central Committee for Allegany County.

Rep. Beall, who arranged for Senator Mundt's visit here, will introduce him to the capacity audience of 300 expected to attend. Paul M. Fletcher, chairman of the county committee, will preside.

Another guest speaker will be State Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany.)

Senator Mundt's talk will deal with foreign affairs and the Communist threat within the government.

Prior to his election to the Senate last November, he served six years on the House Un-American Activities Committee and was acting chairman last year.

Commanders of all veterans' organizations in the county have been invited to attend.

His talk is expected to be of especial interest to the American Legion, which sponsored a state amendment, passed in the November election, to prevent persons charged with subversive activities from holding government posts.

Senator Mundt will leave Cumberland late tonight by train for Chicago, where he will address the Cook County Republican Club tomorrow night. Saturday night he will give a Lincoln Day address in Springfield, Mo., then returning to Washington by plane.

ODT Carload Rule Suspended

Suspension of one of the early Office of Defense Transportation orders concerning the heavy loading of freight cars was announced to members of the Tri-State Traffic Club at their dinner meeting last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Leo H. Ley, Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, said the order, known as "18-A", required that cars be loaded to visible load limits or marked capacities.

Director Johnson of the ODT has suspended the order from Monday, February 14, until Saturday, April 16, Ley said. He emphasized is was merely being suspended during the period when freight car loading are normally below peak levels, not revoked.

Repeal of the war-time tax on transportation is being urged by air, bus and rail lines, Ley said.

Thomas Berry, local lawyer, formerly with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was guest speaker. He said the FBI was probably the most efficient single organization in the government and one in which the taxpayers gets more back form the money invested in it than any other.

Arrangements for the meeting were in charge of F. Lee Fresh, Clarence E. Gehr and John L. Carnochan.

Bankers Have Forum On State Income Tax

An open forum on state income tax under the direction of Edward P. Welsh from the State Income Division was held at the monthly meeting of the Western Maryland Conference of the National Auditors and Bank Comptrollers last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Harry Landis, cashier of the First National Bank, president, presided over the meeting. Welsh was introduced by Thomas L. Keech, vice president of the Liberty Trust Bank, who had charge of the program.

The next meeting will be held March 9 at 6:15 p. m. at the Shrine Club with the Frostburg National Bank in charge of the program.

1948 Fire Losses Top $86,000 Mark

The insured fire loss in Cumberland during 1948 was $86,247.97, officials of the Cumberland Fire Department have been advised by the State Insurance Commission.

The fire loss was more than double 1947's $36,687.13 in spite of the fact that fire calls dropped considerably last year ,but were way below 1922's $216,000.

During the year, firemen answered 526 calls from the some 11,000 dwellings and business firms within the city limits. Three major fires accounted for most of the damage. Per capita loss average about $2.

DINNER SPEAKER—One of the guest speakers at the Lincoln Day dinner program scheduled tonight at Centre Street Methodist Church recreation hall will be State Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany.)

Walsh Testifies Against House Membership Plan

Says Constitutional Convention Proper

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 9 (AP)—Lawmakers pondering the problem pretty well agreed today that county representative in the House of Delegates is inequitable.

Whereupon a bill was introduced in the Senate that would keep it that way temporarily—freezing the House membership at 123.

The inconsistency, however, is only apparent.

Behind it is the idea, forcefully expressed in the Senate Judiciary committee, that a constitutional convention would be the proper place to consider a revision of representation.

The committee held a hearing today on a plan—put forth by the Legislative Council—to reshuffle the house membership on the basis of the 1950 U. S. Census.

That plan was turned down by the committee, one of the reasons being the members' belief that it didn't have the ghost of a chance for passage.

Beyond that, the two influential witnesses before the committee voiced opposition. They were William C. Walsh of Cumberland, former state attorney general, and the present holder of that office, Hall Hammond.

Walsh said since the re-appointment of House seats would be based on the 1950 census, voters under the rejected plan would ballot on something the results of which they couldn't clearly know.

And the effect of that proposal would be to take seats away from medium-sized counties in favor of large ones while the small subdivisions would generally retain their present level.

Hammond agreed with that, observing that the Legislative Council measure was pinned to a "variable."

Both suggested a constitutional convention would be the way to settle things.

Senator Della (B-Balto-6th), chairman of the committee, indicated he thought the same. But constitutional conventions are rarities in Maryland political history and in the meantime there's the question of preventing the house from becoming unwieldy.

Under the present system, several counties would pick up numerous members with the next census, and Walsh—who headed a governor's committee on the representation subject two years ago—noted that limiting the overall House membership is desirable.

So, after the committee virtually killed the plan before it, its chairman put in the freezer bill designed chiefly to mark time until an ac-

Preview Of Air Service Planned

Plans for a civic program to be held Sunday, February 27, in preparation for the inauguration of air service here by All American Airways March 7, were announced yesterday by James R. Kendall, assistant manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, which is in charge of arrangements.

Some 75 persons will be invited, he said, to a banquet planned at 1 p. m. at the Elks Club under the auspices of the City of Cumberland.

Invitations will be extended to the Mayor and City Council and other city officials, the Cumberland Municipal Airport Commission, mayors of communities of the Cumberland area and traffic managers of the chief industrial plants of the area and officials of the air line.

Following the banquet, the guests will be taken by Potomac Edison buses to the airport where two All American DC-3 airliners converted for pickup service, will be available for flights in the area.

All American officials yesterday said the 24 passenger planes will begin a tour of cities to be served by the flights, beginning at Connellsville February 26.

State Conservation Group Reports On Maryland Land

A 24-page report discussing Maryland's soil problems and showing what had been done to conserve state land since the passage of the Maryland Soil Conservation Districts Law in 1937 has been published by the Maryland State Soil Conservation Committee at College Park.

The multi-illustrated booklet shows soil ruined by erosion and poor soil practices. It then gives examples of projects taken up by the committee to alleviate the situation.

Pictured are methods of contour cultivation, strip cropping, pasture improvement, drainage, wild life areas and farm ponds and woodlawn management.

About one-half of Maryland's total land area is in farms, according to the committee's report. One-sixth of the state's acreage is unsuitable for cultivation while two-thirds of the land could be turned into profitable cropland.

A great deal has been done since the passage of the conservation act, but there is much yet to be done. About one-eighth of the amount of contour cultivation necessary has been completed and only 63,935 acres of land are being strip-cropped of 675,000 needing treatment.

Informal Accord Reached On Air Service Details

Need For Range Finder Cited

Informal agreement was reached at a conference last night of the Municipal Airport Commission with an official of All-American Airways on details of the airline's service to Cumberland, which is scheduled to start March 7.

The group also decided to aid All-American in securing range finder equipment for use at the local airport, at the suggestion of Harold Bazley, Pittsburgh, vice president in charge of operations.

T. Donald Shires, commission secretary, was instructed to contact the Civil Aeronautics Administration in the matter.

Work To Begin

With the consent of Mayor Thomas S. Post, the commission agreed to immediately start remodeling work at the port administration building to provide office space for All American.

George M. Hitchcock, who prepared plans for the work, said it could be finished in about 30 days.

Cost is estimated in the neighborhood of $3,000. Bazley said All American is willing to pay $1,500 since their office space will occupy half the remodeled structure.

On the basis of $3,000 cost for remodeling, the airline's rental fee would work out to $500 annually or $41.66 monthly for the three-year term covered by their temporary certificate from the Civil Aeronautics Board.

However, Bazley indicated the line is willing to pay the entire $1,500 in advance.

Meanwhile, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan was asked to draw up the agreement in its final form for ratification by the Mayor and Council and the airline.

For landing rights the firm will pay the city two per cent of its sales here with a minimum of $100 monthly.

Similar agreements have already been reached at other points along the Washington-Pittsburgh route with the exception of the two terminal cities, Bazley said.

Adequate Facilities Cited

With regard to providing range finder equipment here, Bazley commented that "we need to interest the CAA in providing adequate navigational facilities."

He added that such an installation might be obtained for about $7,000, with the cost to be borne by the government. It would be monitored by CAA personnel.

The installation, a radio beam identifying the airport, would benefit all flights in this area, Bazley said, pointing out that several other airlines pass over Cumberland in daily operations.

That might prove a factor in securing the equipment from CAA, he added.

An "excellent" range finder has been located for several years at the Martinsburg port, where the need for such equipment is far less than Cumberland's, Bazley said.

In connection with All American's planned flight schedule here Bazley said during summer months additional flights might be arranged to serve Eastern Shore vacation resorts, with connections out of Baltimore.

Fares between Cumberland and Baltimore-Washington will amount to about $7, Bazley said. Preliminary flight schedules will probably be adjusted slightly to cut down flying time between the terminal points after the operation gets underway, he added.

All American's three-year agreement with the city will include a 60-day cancellation clause for both parties.

Utility Cost Estimated

John M. DelaGrange, president of Mountain Air Service, which operates the local field on lease from the city, estimated it would cost his firm a minimum of $420 yearly to provide water, electricity and heat for All American's section of the administration building. He will be reimbursed by the city.

Bazley said present field lighting facilities are adequate as far as All American is concerned.

"We are a community airline," he said. "We will be glad to receive suggestions toward improved service at any time."

Chairman Edmund E. Burke read a letter from Capt. William H. Johnson, commanding officer of the Cumberland Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol, in connection with a Link instrument trainer now stored at the airport.

The Link trainer cannot be operated because the storage space is not heated, Capt. Johnson said. Burke suggested that the equipment might be transferred to the Pennsylvania Avenue School.

Meanwhile, preliminary arrangements already made by All American include installation of VHF (very high frequency) radio equipment in the administration building.

Jere V. Chain, Washington, superintendent of stations, announced that Robert T. Yoas, 23, Williamsport, Pa., has been named station
